THE LATEST

Li Hung Chang's death was caused by the desperate effort of Russia to obtain his signature to the secret Manchurian treaty without the approval of the ministers of the other Powers. Li insisted on first getting the approval of the ministers, and on the Russian minister refusing to permit him to make public the treaty, Li refused to sign the treaty and flew into a rage, which caused the fatal hemorrhage. Meantime Japan had obtained an inkling of the proceedings and succeeded in getting the Empress Dowager to direct Li not to sign. He was already unconscious when this order was received.

Eleven of the twenty-six convicts who escaped from the stockade of the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kas., have been accounted for. Two of them were killed in a fight with a pursuing posse; two were wounded and captured and seven were captured unhurt. The other fugitives are on their way to Indian Territory and Oklahoma and warnings have been sent in all directions.

All reports of the official count thus far received, bear out the first claims of a Democratic landslide in Kentucky. Knott goes Democrat by 532, Morgan by 665, Taylor by 228, Webster by 563, McLean by 205 and McCracken by the largest majority ever given a set of candidates in that county.

Joe Johnson, of Pike county, the oldest convict in the Frankfort penitentiary, has been released on parole and Thomas Brown, a fifteen-year-old murderer from Laurel county, the youngest prisoner in the penitentiary, has just entered the prison to serve a life sentence.

The Courier-Journal publishes this morning another of its series of letters from the Southern Kentucky oil fields written for it by an oil expert. These letters are giving a better idea of progress of development in the Kentucky oil fields than anything yet printed.

Former Gov. Bradley has been summoned to Washington for conference with the President regarding Kentucky appointments and will leave to-morrow. He has been unwelcome at the White House since the days of the Harrison Administration.

Even Pike county has gone Democratic. Mail correspondence from Pikeville, the county seat, received last night, places the majorities of the entire Democratic ticket, including the nominee for Representative, at from 40 to 150.

During the count of returns by the Election Commissioners of Campbell county at Alexandria, Ky., yesterday, a dispute occurred, which nearly caused the meeting to break up in a row. A motion to adjourn until to-day, however, quieted matters.

The Jefferson County Board of Election Commissioners yesterday morning began to canvass the returns of last Tuesday's election. Neither party is represented by counsel. The commissioners expect to finish their work to-night.

The Schley Court of Inquiry has transferred its effects from the gunners' workshop in the Washington navy yard to the McLean building. The members will probably begin their conferences on the case Monday.

The annual report of the Commissioner of Navigation shows that in the past year but 8.2 per cent. of our exports were carried in American bottoms, the smallest percentage in our history.

GOADED

To Death By Russia Was Li Hung Chang.

INSISTED ON SECRET TREATY.

LI REFUSED AND FLEW INTO A VIOLENT PASSION

WHICH CAUSED HEMORRHAGE.

Venerable Statesman Insisted That Other Ministers Should First Approve the Treaty.

MANCHURIA IS STILL INTACT.

Pekin, Nov. 8.—A violent dispute with M. Paul Lessar, Russian Minister to China, over the Manchurian treaty, appears to have been the immediate cause of the death of Li Hung Chang.

The diplomatic events preceding this tragic climax have enabled Japan for a moment to frustrate the designs of Russia. A fortnight ago the Japanese legation secured a reliable outline of the terms of the treaty and, thereupon, demanded that the Chinese plenipotentiaries officially lay before them the text, basing this demand upon the allegation that Japan's interests were involved in any change of the status of Manchuria.

The Chinese plenipotentiaries refused to comply with the demand. Thereupon the Japanese Government from Tokio communicated with the Southern Viceroys and induced them to use their influence with the Empress Dowager against the treaty. In the meantime the Empress Dowager instructed Li Hung Chang to communicate the treaty, after certain modifications, to the Ministers of the Powers and, if they did not object, to sign the same.

* * *

Russia Objected To Publicity.

Li Hung Chang visited M. Lessar and explained to him the instructions. The Russian Minister strongly objected to revealing the text of the treaty to the Ministers of the other Powers and a stormy interview ensued. Li Hung Chang went home in a violent passion and had a hemorrhage, which the doctors attribute to the overexertion of a weakened system.

While these things were happening in Pekin, the Southern Viceroys sent to the Empress Dowager a memorial against the treaty. On receiving it, she telegraphed to Li Hung Chang countermanding the order to sign. This instruction came after Li Hung Chang had became unconscious. When M. Lissar endeavored to have Li Hung Chang's seal affixed to the treaty, Chou Fu, Provincial Treasurer, had arrived from Pao-ting Fu and had taken charge of the seals as temporary successor of Earl Li.

Yuan Becomes Viceroy of Chi Li.

A special edict has arrived here appointing Yuan Shi Kai (Governor of Shan-Tung province) to be Governor of the province of Chi Li, and appointing Wang Wen Shao, who is Vice President of the Foreign Office and a member of the Cabinet, to succeed Li Hung Chang as plenipotentiary. They are both ordered to come to Pekin forthwith.

Another edict creates Li Hung Chang a Marquis and bestows on him the new name of Li Wen Chung, by which he will be known in history.

* * *

Only American Flag Half Masted.

The flag of the United States legation was the only one halfmasted in Pekin to-day. The mourners and the family of Li Hung Chang will burn paper offerings to-morrow, in accordance with customs, for the use of his spirit in the other world. The street is hung with mourning emblems. All the attendants at the yamen are richly attired and many of them gaudily dressed. To-day musicians beat drums about the house.

Li Hung Chang's estate will remain intact for the use of his eldest son, who will provide for the other members of the family.

* * *

Eyes On Shantung Province.

Yuan Shi Kai's successor in the governorship of the province of Shantung is an unknown man, who has been holding an unimportant, though lucrative, position as grain commissioner in one of the inland towns of the province. He will be watched with the deepest solicitude, as the peace of China will largely depend upon his course.

Wang Wen Shao, who is seventy-four years of age, and deaf, was never rated as a statesman or a diplomat. His appointment is probably temporary.

Telegraphic communication with Prince Ching was obtained to-day. He is hastening to meet the court. After consultation he will return with Wang Wen Shao, who is accompanying the court, which is now five days' journey from Kai-fong Fu.

Emperor Asserting Himself.

Emperor Kwang Su, report says, is asserting himself and leading the imperial cortege on horseback. Native papers declare that he proposes to inaugurate a revival of the military spirit, assuming the honorary position of Commander-in-Chief and wearing a uniform. They also assert that he will compel the nobles to follow his example, to take military positions and to study military science.

A private letter from a European now in Tai-yuen Fu says that two British officers, with a party of Indian soldiers, encountered the imperial procession, were suspected of unfriendly motives and were detained as prisoners by the Emperor's bodyguard for a few days. Apparently this was an exploring party, commanded by Maj. Manifold and Capt. Hunter, which has been operating in that region for some time.

AND THERE STOOD PIKE COUNTY WITH A DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY.

Republican Stronghold Faces About and Defeats Every Republican Nominee—Sends L. H. Lawson to Legislature.

It was not the official count yesterday that brought the political surprise, but a modest little piece of manuscript received by the Courier-Journal which read as follows:

Pikeville, Nov. 6.—L. H. Lawson, Democrat, is elected to the Legislature and the entire Democratic ticket in Pike county is elected by majorities ranging from 40 to 150.

If Tuesday's election had resulted differently this bit of special correspondence alone would have been as a rift in the clouds. Now that it comes when the Democratic sky in Kentucky has no clouds, it will not be as much thought of. Nevertheless, it deserves the prominent position here given.

Pike county is far back in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky, far from railroads and far from telegraph stations, but it has come way front this week and is standing up to receive the plaudits of Kentucky's Bluegrass, Beargrass, Pennyrile and Purchase Democracy.

Pike is a big county. It is, in size, to Kentucky, practically what Texas is to the United States, but it has always had one fault—a large majority of its citizens would vote the Republican ticket. Two years ago the county went for Taylor by 430 majority. Last year Yerkes carried it by 318. Now, in this good Democratic year of 1901, it goes Democratic by between forty and 150 votes. Roosters won't be afraid to crow in Pike hereafter.

It is the first time in years—many years—that the county has been represented in the General Assembly by a Democrat.

AGED AND INFIRM MASONS TO HAVE A HOME AT SHELBYVILLE

Kentucky Grand Lodge Makes Preparations To Open First Institution of Its Kind In December.

Shelbyville, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Judge H. R. French, of Mt. Sterling; Judge John A. Ramsey, of Owingsville; James W. Staton, of Brooksville, and E. B. Bard, of this city, the members of the committee appointed by the Kentucky Grand Lodge of Masons to take charge of and install the new Home for Aged and Infirm Masons of this State, which has been located here, have been in Shelbyville for several days preparing the rules and regulations to govern the institution and other work incident to getting things in shape for its opening. They concluded their labors to-night and elected Mr. H. B. Shafer, one of the most popular Masons in this section, superintendent of the home. There were several applicants for the place, which is very desirable. The committee purchased Mr. Shafer's dairy outfit and will conduct it in connection with the institution.

The site of the home, which was recently purchased for $12,000, is located just one mile east of Shelbyville. This institution will be an innovation in Masonic circles, the Kentucky Grand Lodge being the first Masonic body in this country to establish a home for its aged and indigent members. The committee has received several applications for entrance. The institution will be opened December 1.

The following Executive Committee, composed of prominent local Masons, was appointed to supervise the affairs of the home: E. B. Beard, Mayor L. C. Willis, D. N. Sharp, Judge W. H. Tipton and John K. Todd. A Visiting Committee was also named.

KENTUCKY PRISONER IN DESPERATE STRAITS.

Is Forced To Sell His Socks To Obtain Money To Buy Paper To Write To His Father.

Cincinnati, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—John Tabben, seventeen years of age, from Economy, Ky., who has been under arrest at Central Station here for the past week, awaiting trial in the Police Court on a charge of stealing three bottles of catsup from the T. A. Snider Preserving Company, was compelled to resort to heroic methods to communicate with his father. Being without money, he sold his socks for five cents to a fellow prisoner to pay for stationery to write home. He tearfully told his story to Judge Lueders to-day and the Judge postponed the case to November 30 and let him go on his own recognizance to give him an opportunity to reform.

NEGRO BOY'S CRIME.

Charged With Assaulting a Six-Year-Old Girl In Oklahoma.

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 8.—Sheriff Bryant, of Baldwin county, to-day brought to the Mobile jail for safe keeping Wesley Jones, a thirteen-year-old negro boy, charged with criminally assaulting the six-year-old daughter of the Rev. Rencher, a minister, who resides at Stockton, Baldwin county. Fears of lynching caused the negro to be brought here.

City of Covington Sued.

Covington, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The case of Fanny Davis against the city of Covington for the recovery of $10,000 damages for personal injuries, alleged to have been received by a fall last May over an obstruction on the sidewalk in Russell avenue, south of Seventeenth street, was begun in the Circuit Court at Covington to-day.

AUTO CAUSES DAMAGE SUIT.

Covington Man Claims the Vehicle Frightened His Horse.

Covington, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Suit for $10,000 damages was filed in the Circuit Court to-day by W. T. McCullough against Clifford Shinkle. The petition alleges that on August 29, 1901, while McCullough was driving a horse and buggy along the Lexington pike, the defendant was operating an automobile along the same road in an opposite direction at a dangerous rate of speed. The horse driven by McCullough became frightened and ran away, throwing him out of the buggy and injuring him about the body and right eye.

IN M'LEAN COUNTY.

The Republicans Defeated By Large Majorities.

Calhoon, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The County Board of Election Commissioners completed the official count of McLean county this afternoon. The result is as follows:

State Senator, G. W. Hickman, Democrat, 1,433; Dr. C. M. Heavrin, Republican, 1,228. Representative, J. A. Peak, Democrat, 1,399; G. W. Adams, Republican, 1,248. County Judge, J. A. D. Rigg, Democrat, 1,402; J. A. Thompson, Republican, 1,255. Assessor, D. E. Edwards, Democrat, 1,472; Bernice Corum, Republican, 1,174.

DEMOCRAT APPOINTED.

Joseph Rehling Chosen Watermarks Commissioner of Newport.

Newport, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Mayor Nelson, of Newport, to-day appointed Joseph Rehling, one of the city's most prominent Democrats, Waterworks Commissioner, and the Board of Aldermen gave the appointment its ratification without delay. The result of the recent election forced Mayor Nelson to make the long deferred appointment. Had he waited until the newly elected Aldermen were seated his appointment would have lacked concurrence, owing to the fact that the body would have been dominated by a Republican majority.

REPORTED ABSTRACT OF MANCHURIAN TREATY.

London, Nov. 9.—The Hankow correspondent of the Times supplies what he alleges is a correct translation of the authentic text of the Manchurian convention proposed by Russia.

The convention stipulates for the gradual withdrawal of the Russian forces within three years, "provided no other rebellion occurs and the Powers do not interfere."

The number and stations of the Chinese garrisons must be settled in concert with the Russian military authorities, and Russian assent must be obtained for any railway construction in Southern Manchuria.

"No mention is made in the text sent by the grand council to the Southern viceroys of mining, commercial or other exclusive privileges," says the correspondent, "and the viceroys believe the convention contains other clauses which the grand council is not willing to disclose."

SHOT DOWN.

Two Leavenworth Convicts Who Escaped

KILLED IN A RUNNING FIGHT.

NINE OTHERS CAPTURED AND TWO ARE WOUNDED.

ON THE TRAIL OF FUGITIVES.

Remainder of the Band Supposed To Be Making Their Way To Oklahoma and Indian Territory.

ADJOINING COUNTRY AROUSED.

Leavenworth, Kan., Nov. 8.—All the police, deputy sheriffs and farmers in the country adjacent to Leavenworth were on the lookout to-day for the twenty-six Federal convicts who escaped from the stockade yesterday. As a result two convicts have been killed, two wounded and seven captured unhurt. The casualties took place in a fight near Nortonville, Kan., and resulted in the death or capture of five men.

The dead are:

JAMES HOFFMAN, aged twenty, white.

J. J. POFFENHOL, aged twenty-five, white, a soldier convict.

William Drake, white, aged nineteen, and John Green, white, aged twenty-one years, are wounded and captured. Fred Moore, aged sixteen, a negro, is recaptured unhurt.

Discovered In a Barn.

The five men were discovered in the barn of Fay Weishaar, a quarter of a mile from Nortonville, Kan., about 3 o'clock this afternoon. Weishaar went into the barn and was ordered out at the point of guns. He rushed to Nortonville and gathered a wagon load of men, who, with revolvers, shotguns and a few Winchesters, hastened to the scene. The convicts saw the men coming and rushed from the barn. They had two shotguns and revolvers. The posse pursued them and a running fight resulted. The convicts were at a disadvantage and their shots had no effect, while at every volley from the posse one of the convicts fell. After two of them fell, two of the others gave themselves up, one being wounded and the other unhurt. The fifth was fully 200 yards away when a man with a Winchester, drew a bead on him and fired. He was evidently hard hit, but tried to go on, and a volley was fired at him and he fell wounded.

None of the citiens was hurt.

More Fugitives Captured.

Two more fugitives, Donald Norie and R. L. Davenport, were captured to-day in a field, two miles north of Jarbalo. They were hiding in a ravine and, being unarmed, they surrendered without resistance.

The Sheriff of Douglass county has captured two convicts at Lawrence, Kan. The convicts captured at Lawrence were Ole Babo, a half-breed Indian, and Joseph H. Deekin, a soldier serving a term for desertion and assault to kill. Frank Thompson, the negro desperado who led the outbreak, is supposed to be near Lawrence heavily armed. He will probably not be taken alive.

Two escaped convicts were caught in Topeka to-night. At midnight only fifteen of the fugitives were free.

* * *

All Young Men.

Reports come from numerous points to-day of the arrest of men supposed to be fugitive convicts, but none of the suspects has been identified. The oldest of the fugitives is twenty-eight years of age.

Quinn Fort, who was killed yesterday was nineteen years old. One of the convicts still at large is a military prisoner and the remainder were serving terms for robbery or assault. One is an Indian and two are negroes. Nearly all came from Oklahoma and Indian Territory, and they are supposed to be making for that country. They are hardy men, used to firearms and horses. Some have obtained both, but others are afoot and defenseless. Warden McClaughey says he will capture every one of the men. In the districts around the city every road and river crossing that the fugitives might be expected to use is guarded by armed men, the farmers having turned out to earn the $60 reward that will be paid for the return of each convict. Those of the men that are armed are likely to be shot on sight.

Mutiny Result of Plot.

It develops that the mutiny was planned several months ago, but that the men had never found a favorable opportunity to carry it into effect until yesterday. The general plan was not new, but proved effective because of the limited number of guards. As the better behaved prisoners were engaged on the outside, the conspiracy was hatched among the men on the inside gangs. The convicts chose the most favorable moment of the day, while many of the guards, acting as foremen of the construction of the new cellhouse, were unarmed.

A Scene of Activity.

Since last night the old prison has presented an air of activity that it has not known for year. As soon as the alarm was given guards were formed in marching order and mounted men, armed to the teeth, were drawn up in front of the main entrance. Most of the guards were old plainsmen, and the diversion of hunting down criminals stirred their blood as nothing else could have done. The escaped convicts were counted the most desperate criminals in the Southwest, and the guards started out on their hunt in full realization of this fact.

Secured Good Start.

The scene of mutiny, however, being some distance from the prison proper, the convicts had secured a good start, and, aided by the rough, wooded country, they had, before darkness fell, placed a good gap between themselves and their pursuers. The guards at best could make but a desultory attempt at pursuit, and were compelled to await daylight to take up the search.

The alarm was sent in all directions, the officials of Kansas City, Atchison, St. Joseph, Topeka and Leavenworth being asked to keep the police on the lookout, and all night in each of these cities armed police and detectives patrolled the outskirts.

* * *

Numerous Thefts Reported.

During the night reports came in from all directions of thefts of horses and vehicles, clothing and food, by the convicts, and as the report that the convicts were at large spread, citizens in the outlying districts became terror-stricken and barred their houses.

TURKEY CONCEDES ALL FRANCE WANTS.

French Squadron Will Soon Be Withdrawn From Mitylene.

Paris, Nov. 8.—The Temps prints a dispatch from Constantinople which says that the Sultan, in accepting the French demands, firstly authorizes the working of the French schools, hitherto unrecognized; second, he recognizes officially the existence of the religious and hospitable institutions already founded, and accords them customs immunity and exemption from certain taxes, and thirdly, he authorizes the reconstruction of the schools and hospitable institutions destroyed at the time of the Armenian troubles, of which a detailed list is attached to the French note. Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish Foreign Minister, has announced that the recognition of the Chaldean patriarch, demanded by France, already has been accorded.

France has scored a complete triumph in the Turkish dispute. The Foreign Office this morning received advices announcing that the Sultan has yielded to the entire demands formulated by the French Government and only the question of form regarding the execution of the engagement remains to be settled.

This may be done within the next twenty-four hours, or it is expected at the latest in two or three days. Then Admiral Caillard will relinquish his occupation of the Island of Mitylene.

An official note was issued at 1 p. m. to-day to the effect that the Porte had decided to yield to all the demands of France, and that as soon as the Sultan has issued an Irade ratifying the decision, the French squadron will leave Mitylene.

President Loubet presided to-day at the Cabinet council. The Foreign Minister, M. Delcasse, announced that the Porte had just advised him that it had decided to give satisfaction in the case of the various French demands, to which M. Delcasse replied that so soon as the Sultan's order regarding the Porte's decision was communicated to him Admiral Caillard's squadron would leave the Island of Mitylene.

THREE ARIZONA BANDITS BEATEN AT THEIR OWN GAME

They Attempt To Hold Up a Gambling House On the Border and One of Them Is Killed and Another Is Wounded.

Phoenix, Ariz., Nov. 8.—One bandit was killed and one was wounded in an attempt by three masked robbers to hold up the gambling house of Deel & Co., at Naco, an Arizona border town. The dead bandit has been identified as Will Cravens, of Dog Springs, N. M.

A group of gamesters and loungers obeyed when the desperadoes entered the saloon and demanded "hands up." Cravens approached the roulette table and proceeded to fill a bag with the bank roll, amounting to several thousand dollars. E. Ellis whipped out a revolver before the movement was detected by the robbers and Cravens fell dead when he shot. The other bandits were demoralized and fled in disorder. One of them was wounded by another bullet from Ellis' revolver. They reached their horses, which were hitched in the brush, and rode for the mountains, closely followed by a posse which had been hastily organized.

MESSENGER FROM CAPTIVE MISSIONARY SEARCHED BY BULGARIAN OFFICIALS

Believed to Be An Attempt to Discourage Further Communication Between Bandits and United States Consul.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 8.—The Government last night caused the arrest of a man who was visiting United States Consul General Dickinson and searched him, presumably thinking he was an emissary of the brigands, and expecting to seize a communication from or to Miss Ellen M. Stone, the American missionary. The man was subsequently released. This action of the authorities was, seemingly, a deliberate attempt to frighten delegates who might visit Mr. Dickinson, and thus prevent negotiations from taking place in Bulgarian territory. The attitude of the authorities hampers Mr. Dickinson, as the brigands refuse to treat in Turkey.

Mr. Dickinson, in his reply to Miss Stone's letter, urged the brigands to still further reduce their demands and accept the amount subscribed, in view of the determination of the Government not to contribute toward the ransom and the impossibility of collecting further subscriptions. It is believed the brigands will agree to this, as they are now beginning to feel hard pressed and want money for current expenses, such as bribery of officials, peasants and others. The letter insists that the surrender of the prisoner must precede or be simultaneous with the payment, but leaves the question of the place open.

A messenger last night brought a letter from Miss Stone, written in English. All the previous communications from Miss Stone have been in Bulgarian. The letter says she is still well, and gives valuable information about her captors and other circumstances which Miss Stone was debarred from sending in Bulgarian.

MRS. MOORE DEAD.

WEALTHIEST WOMAN IN WOODFORD COUNTY EXPIRES IN MIDWAY.

Was the Daughter of the Late Henry C. Offut, of Shelby County—Interment In Shelbyville.

Midway, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary A. Moore died at her country home near Midway yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the seventy-sixth year of her age. Mrs. Moore was the daughter of the late Henry C. Offutt, of Shelby county, and was born in Fayette county May 30, 1826, on what is now the Meadowthorpe farm, belonging to her niece, Mrs. James E. Pepper. The land was at Mrs. Moore's birth owned by her grandfather, the distinguished John Bell, under a patent from Virginia. During Mrs. Moore's infancy her father removed with his family to Shelby county, and at the time of his death was one of the most prominent and beloved men of that county.

In her eighteenth year Mrs. Moore married William Waters, who died in 1851. Several children were born of this marriage, but died in infancy. In 1859 she married William A. Moore, of this county, who died in 1884. This marriage was without issue, and the large fortune felt by Mr. Moore, added to her own patrimony, made Mrs. Moore the wealthiest woman in Woodford county. A woman of fine business sense and overflowing with charity, she was enabled to aid a large number of people without materially diminishing her estate, which consists of large tracts of land adjoining Midway.

No death has occurred in years that has cast such a gloom over this community. She was universally beloved, a devout member of the Presbyterian church, her love and benevolence reached all classes.

The funeral, which took place at 2:50 o'clock this afternoon, was conducted by the Rev. J. C. McMullen and was attended by a vast concourse of people. The body will be conveyed by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad in the morning to Shelbyville, Ky., where the interment will take place at 11 o'clock in Grove Hill cemetery. Mrs. Moore leaves two brothers and three sisters, A. W. Offutt, of Midway; Ben F. Offutt, of Louisville; Mrs. S. B. Moxley, of Shelby county; Mrs. Mattie Heddens, of St. Joseph, Mo., and Miss Florence Offutt, of Midway. Robert L. Offutt, of Louisville was a nephew, and Mrs. W. B. Haldeman and Henry Y. Offutt, of Louisville, were cousins of Mrs. Moore.

Many friends from this place will accompany the body to Shelbyville.

CARNEGIE GIVES MILLION DOLLARS IN BONDS TO OLD EMPLOYES.

Pittsburg, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Twenty-one employes of the Carnegie Company have received within the past week $1,000,000 in bonds of the Carnegie Company, bearing 5 per cent. interest. As the latest beneficiaries of Andrew Carnegie's old plan for rewarding faithful workers of his company receive from $1,500 to $3,000 a year in salaries, and the bonuses they have received are intended to not them, at 5 per cent., an additional amount equal to their wages, it can be seen that the gifts range in value from $30,000 to $60,000.

More than 50 per cent. of Andrew Carnegie's partners in the Carnegie Company obtained their present large holdings in the company through gifts of stock, which became theirs as soon as the earnings of the stock had paid for it. When the Carnegie Steel Company, limited, was reorganized under the laws of New Jersey into the Carnegie Company, 2 per cent. of every partner's holdings was set aside as a fund from which stock donations were to be given to deserving employes.

Camille Mercader, chief draughtsman of the company, said to be a Hungarian Count, got $75,000 worth of bonds. He has been with the Carnegie Company sixteen years and received his gift three months ago.

Bradley Summoned To Washington For Counsel.

THE FIRST TIME IN YEARS.

UNWELCOME SINCE THE DAYS OF HARRISON.

SCHLEY TO VISIT NASHVILLE.

May Also Arrange To Stop Off In Knoxville On the Occasion of Memphis Visit.

HIGH TARIFF WALL TO STAND.

Washington, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Bradley is expected in Washington early next week in compliance with the request of President Roosevelt. This will be the first time Mr. Bradley has visited the White House for the purpose of a political conference since the Administration of President Harrison. His refusal to allow Senator Hanna to dictate the date of an extra session of the Kentucky Legislature for the purpose of electing Dr. Hunter caused a rupture between the former Governor and the late Administration which was never healed. For five years former Gov. Bradley's name has been used as a virtual bete noir at the White House. All a candidate for office had to do was to say he was opposed to Bradley and the race was half won. One of the first men Mr. Roosevelt inquired about when he attained the presidency and began to consider State political matters was Mr. Bradley. How much influence the former Governor is going to have at the White House is a question now agitating the Kentucky Republican factions.

Schley Will Visit Nashville.

Rear Admiral Schley will visit Nashville, Tenn., while making his Memphis trip in January. He made this promise to-day to a delegation from that city representing the Knights Templar Commandery and the Retail Merchants' Association. The delegation was composed of C. F. Frizzell, Maj. Stahlman, Theodore Cooley and E. W. Foster, who arrived this morning. During the day the delegation met the Admiral in their apartments in the Shoreham Hotel and a formal invitation was extended to him to visit the city. Each member of the delegation expressed to the Admiral the desire of Nashville for his presence and assured him of the kindly feeling entertained for him there. Rear Admiral Schley responded happily and expressed his pleasure over the invitation, saying he would accept, but was unable to name a definite date. He will not be able to go before Christmas. On his return East Rear Admiral Schley may stop at Knoxville. It is likely that Capt. Barker and Attorney General Rayner, of Maryland, Schley's counsel, will accompany him. They have been invited with their families to visit Memphis with the Hero of Santiago and may avail themselves of the opportunity. The Nashville committee was most cordially received by Rear Admiral Schley and the members are highly gratified over the success of its mission to Washington.

Won Over By the Trusts.

The representatives of Robber Barons are at present energetically engaged in impressing upon the mind of the President the great mistake he would commit by giving in his message to Congress any encouragement whatever to the proposition of Representative Babcock to reduce the custom-house duties. These gentlemen, of course, have no objection to the reduction of internal revenue taxes and think that is the best way to reduce the revenue.

It is said to-night from a usually reliable source that the President has agreed in the main to the views of the protection representatives, and that in his message he will not advocate the opening up by Congress of the tariff question. In order, however, to make himself solid with the other fellows the President will mildly suggest advantageous reciprocity with other countries and indulge in a little buncombe talk against the trusts. It is dollars to doughnuts that the next Congress will not do anything with the trusts or the tariff, for by the trusts and the high tariff the Republican party lives, moves and has its being.

How the Money Rolls In.

In the last four months the Government has collected from the people $204,288,524.32 and expended $176,124,771.62. The surplus in the four months amounts to $28,163,752.70, or over eighty-five millions annually, and still the Republicans claim that the taxes should not be reduced. In the meantime the treasury is loaded from cellar to roof with money, and the cry is still it comes. The receipts to-day were $1,737,071.90, and it kept a number of clerks busy stacking it away.

* * *

As former Senator Gorman is well and favorably known here, there is naturally great rejoicing in Washington to-day among Democrats over the result in Maryland. It is now conclusively settled that the Democrats will organize both houses of the Legislature and have a majority of fifteen on joint ballot. The Maryland Republicans are squealing like stuck pigs over the result and crying fraud. This they would have done had the Democrats carried every county in the State. They always do. As an illustration, here is John W. Langley, a Kentucky Republican holding down the chief clerkship in the Census Office, out in an interview in the Star to-day which is richness itself.

Mr. Langley attributes Republican defeat in Kentucky to the dishonesty of the Democratic party, and compares it with Tammany Hall. He thinks some day the Republicans will get Kentucky back, but admits that it "may take a long time." He desires it distinctly understood, however, that the "result should not be construed as in any sense indicating that the Republicans of Kentucky do not indorse the record of Senator Deboe."

Isn't that funny?

* * *

Admission As To Assassination.

Next Mr. Langley was asked if he believed that the assassination of Gov. Goebel had anything to do with the result, and he makes this admission:

"I have met a few men recently who are thoroughly honest in the opinion that some Republicans were indirectly, at least, responsible for Goebel's assassination, and perhaps some of these men are now voting the Democratic ticket for that reason."

Mr. Langley concludes his wail by admitting that the result in Kentucky and Maryland was "discouraging," but takes consolation over the loss of the two United States Senators from the fact that "a Republican Representative in the Legislature was elected from my legislative district, which is now represented by a Democrat."

Sapp Safe Till Congress Meets.

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Roosevelt has decided not to make any more appointments of importance until Congress meets. All recess appointees must be reappointed upon the assembling of Congress and the President thinks that all the larger appointments should be held up until he can send the names directly to the Senate.

WILL START TO-MORROW.

Ex-Gov. Bradley Will Insist On An Appointment For Collier.

When to-morrow morning comes former Gov. William O. Bradley will leave Louisville for Washington in response to the summons from President Roosevelt to consult him concerning the appointment of a Collector to succeed Mr. Sapp. A trip to Washington to see the President will be an innovation for Mr. Bradley, for during Mr. McKinley's term of office the name of "Bradley," of Kentucky, did not get much at the White House.

Mr. Bradley's friends say this was because a presidential bee buzzed long and loud in the Governor's bonnet just at the time when Mr. McKinley wanted the nomination. At any rate it has been a long time since Mr. Bradley was allowed to make any suggestions to the President, and now his first words will be in behalf of his life-long friend and fellow-townsman, D. R. Collier.

When it became known yesterday that Mr. Bradley was going to Washington to see the President, one of his friends called him up by telephone and told him that he had bought him a silk hat to wear on the occasion.

Mr. Bradley scorned the idea of "dressing up" in any such style and said he would wear his old white hat even if he did make a bad impression.

It is said that Mr. Bradley will never agree to the appointment of Samuel H. Stone as Collector unless Mr. Collier is made Surveyor of the Port. Consequently it is believed that if Mr. Stone is appointed to succeed Mr. Sapp, Mr. C. M. Barnett will be removed as Surveyor, unless the President ignores Mr. Bradley's wishes.

It is believed by numerous Republicans that Mr. Barnett will go with Mr. Sapp. Messrs. Barnett, Sapp and Deboe made the triumvirate who have been opposing the Bradley-Yerkes-Combs-Roberts element of the party. Therefore, Republicans take it for granted that, now that the other faction is in the saddle, Mr. Barnett's resignation may be expected.

C. C. Wedding, a young Republican lawyer, is an applicant for Deputy Collector and Mr. Stone and his friends are already working for him, believing that Mr. Stone is certain to be Mr. Sapp's successor.

Mr. Wedding is of a prominent Republican family. His father, Judge R. R. Wedding, of Ohio county, has been a factor in party affairs in the western part of Kentucky for thirty years. Col. J. S. R. Wedding, his uncle, is one of the foremost attorneys in the southwestern part of the State and served under Gov. Bradley as a member of the State Board of Equalization. He was also National Elector on the Republican ticket in 1900.

A MENACE TO HEALTH.

Atlanta's Union Depot Alleged To Be In a Bad Condition.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 8.—The members of the Board of Control of the Union depot have been summoned to appear in Police Court to-morrow to answer the charge of maintaining a nuisance, preferred by the Atlanta Board of Health. It is charged specifically in the summons that "the flooring of the car shed (the Union depot) is rotten, damp, greasy and moldy, and is a bed of dangerous and contagious microbes and disease germs."

The Board of Control is composed of Charles A. Wichersham, president and general manager of the Atlanta and West Point railway; John W. Egan, president of the Central of Georgia railway; Thomas K. Scott, president of the Georgia railway; J. S. B. Thompson, general agent of the Southern railway; Edmund Berkley, general agent of the Seaboard, and Charles E. Harman, general passenger agent of the Western and Atlantic.

MR. VREELAND'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mr. C. E. Vreeland took place from the home in Bloomfield yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. During the funeral all the business houses were closed. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Taliaferro, of the Bloomfield Methodist church.

The pallbearers were Messrs. Samuel McKay, E. C. McMahon, Will Murphy, Tom Hurst, Addison Humphrey and Dr. John Wakefield. Several of his old friends from Louisville attended the funeral.

WHEELER' NEW FIREARM.

General May Establish Plant In Philadelphia For Its Manufacture.

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—A company, of which Gen. Joseph Wheeler is director, is contemplating the establishment of a plant in this city for the manufacture of a new firearm. The General is here and purposes making Philadelphia his home. The chief merits claimed for the new weapon are freedom from recoiling and in the automatic action in loading and firing.

The United States Board of Ordnance and Fortification, it is said, has had tests made and given appropriations in order to conduct the tests and to apply the device to artillery.

OUR FLAG

Carried But Eight Per Cent. of Exports.

SMALLEST IN OUR HISTORY.

AMERICANS OWN SHIPS, BUT BUY IN CHEAPEST MARKET.

BUILDERS HOPE FOR SUBSIDY.

Vessels Which Are Under Way Have Graft From Congress In Prospect.

WHY FOREIGN FLAG IS CHEAPER.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The report of Mr. Chamberlain, the United States Commissioner of Navigation, says that the past fiscal year has been the third successive year of notable prosperity and growth in American shipping, exceeding the two previous years. The extent and nature of work under way or projected in ship yards promises an even greater growth for the current fiscal year.

American tonnage now has attained practically the former maximum of 1861. The figures of 1901, compared with 1861, show an increase in coasting trade vessels from 2,704,544 tons to 4,582,683 tons (two-thirds of this increase being on the Great Lakes), a decrease in foreign trade vessels from 2,496,894 tons to 879,595 tons, and a decrease in whaling and fishing vessels from 338,375 tons to 61,940 tons.

Our Showing.

Of our total tonnage 3,623,201 tons are wooden vessels, and only 1,901,017 tons are iron or steel. In 1900 alone Great Britain launched 1,440,000 tons of steel vessels.

Porto Rico appears in the returns with twenty-five vessels of 5,297 tons and Hawaii with sixty-four vessels of 37,149 tons. In the Philippines 2,340 vessels of 102,581 tons (of which 149 vessels of 43,598 tons are steam vessels) are under American protection. Until Congress has so enacted, the report says, Philippine vessels are not vessels of the United States.

Although registered American vessels increased 62,435 tons during the year, American vessels carried only 8.2 per cent. of our exports and imports, the smallest percentage in our history.

Too Small For Comparison.

Our fleet of ocean steamers in foreign trade, the report says, is too small to be compared with that of foreign nations. The fleets of each of the four large British and German steamship corporations exceed the American fleet in tonnage, mileage and business.

The tonnage built and documented in the United States during the past fiscal year comprised 1,580 vessels of 483,569 gross tons.

The vessels under construction or under contract during the current fiscal year will much exceed similar tonnage built in any previous year. The bureau is advised of eighty-nine such merchant vessels, 355,545 gross tons, to be valued at about $36,000,000. Besides these seventy-one naval vessels of 281,148 tons displacement are building. In this work forty-four plants, with a capital of about $68,000,000, employing about 46,000 men, are engaged.

Counting On Subsidy.

The building of ten transatlantic steamers presumably rests on anticipated legislation by Congress. Six for the Atlantic transport line are building from same plans used in building steamers in England for the same company. The American cost of a steamer of the Minnehaha type will be $1,846,800, the British cost $1,419,200. The American cost of the smaller transatlantic cargo steamers will be $729,000, for which the British price ranges from $534,000 to $486,000.

The difference in wages on American and foreign vessels is considered in detail. In illustration, the payroll (excluding master) of 380 men on the steamship St. Louis is $11,300; of 427 men on the British Oceanic is $4,900, and of 500 men on the German Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse $7,715. The German is the fastest steamship, the American is the smallest.

Pacific Trade Doubled.

The report contains a detailed statement of the foreign voyages of American vessels last year, showing that the American flag was much oftener in the North Atlantic during President Jefferson's embargo (1808), or during the cruises of the Alabama, than at present. Foreign shipping in our Pacific trade has doubled in three years.

* * *

Americans Sail Under Foreign Flag.

The purchase of the Leyland line is spoken of in the report as evidence that American capital is willing to invest in ocean steamships, that there is an advantage to American exporters in American control of ocean steamships, even if not under the American flag, and that in the coming development of our ocean transportation facilities the union of trunk railroad lines and steamship corporations will be an important factor. Including the Leyland purchase American capital owns fully 970,000 tons of steamers under foreign flags, which in actual carrying power exceed all American vessels now engaged in foreign trade. The War and Navy Department also own 126,847 gross tons of foreign built transports and colliers.

By various special acts fifty-six foreign built vessels, of 132,187 gross tons, have been admitted to registry. American money of late years has purchased 931,000 tons of foreign built steel steamers, while since 1893 there have been built in the United States 1,036,000 tons of steel steam vessels of all kinds.

The principal foreign and American ocean mail contracts are printed in full and it is shown that at the present prices of steamships British ocean mail contracts are more advantageous for steamship lines than American contracts under the act of 1891.

CONFESSES

That He Has Been a Professional Burglar

FOR TWENTY-FOUR YEARS.

POST-OFFICE ROBBER ARRESTED IN EVANSVILLE.

FAMILIAR WITH PRISONS.

Mystery Surrounds the Death In the South of a Young Man of Princeton, Ind.

FORMER CASHIER INDICTED.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A man giving his name as "Bill' Keller was arrested here to-day. He carried a complete kit of burglar's tools and a large number of postage stamps of various denominations. He admitted that he was a professional burglar and had been at the work since 1877, when he did his first job in Michigan and served a term in the penitentiary of that State for the crime. Since then he claims to have committed hundreds of burglaries and to have served sentences in several State penitentiaries.

Keller's last job was at Buckskin, Ind., when he and a companion robbed the post-office and a general store. They secured about fifty dollars' worth of postage stamps, and a considerable sum of money, jewels and clothing. They went to Grayville, Ill., where they disposed of much of their ill-gotten gains. Keller's companion attempted to sell a portion of the stolen postage stamps and was arrested Thursday afternoon. Keller then escaped, came to Evansville and was arrested as a suspicious character. He says that during the past two months he and his companion have burglarized several post-offices in small towns.

He made a clean breast of the whole affair because he wanted the mercy of the court when he is called to trial. He will probably plead guilty when arraigned in the United States Court. He has told how most of the Buckskin property can be recovered. He had some of the money at the time of his arrest.

DIED IN THE SOUTH.

Princeton, Ind., Man Expired While On Hunting Trip.

Princeton, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Mystery seems to surround the death of Will Mauck, a prominent young man of this city, who left a few weeks ago on a hunting trip through Arkansas with a party of St. Louis friends.

Last night Frank Mauck, a brother of the young man, received information to the effect that his brother had died in Memphis, Tenn., on October 25, and had been buried. The intelligence was sent by M. M. Trimble, a member of the St. Louis party.

It was learned that Mauck had started down the Mississippi river in a gasoline launch, and becoming indisposed was advised to go back to Memphis, which he did. Not hearing from his brother for some time Frank Mauck wired Trimble to know what the matter was. In return Trimble wired that he supposed he was at home, as he had not heard from him since he had been taken ill. Repeated inquiries failed to locate the missing man until yesterday, when the message came that he had been dead and buried two weeks.

Frank and Al Mauck, brothers of the dead man, left at once for Memphis to investigate their brother's death.

Mauck was well known as a sportsman and usually spent the winter with friends hunting big game in the South. He was a brother to Al Mauck, a former pitcher in the National baseball league. Mauck's death was received here with profound regret.

EXPLOSION IN INDIANAPOLIS.

Two Men Fatally Injured and Street Torn Up.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—Two of the city's fire cisterns connected with a hundred foot tunnel in Arsenal avenue was wrecked by a gas explosion to-day and two members of the city repair gang, William Walker, of 201 South Keystone avenue, and Emanuel Hall, colored, of 2038 Indianapolis avenue, were fatally injured. The middle of the street for a distance of about 150 feet was torn up, and dust and earth, bricks, rubbish and pieces of street were thrown into the air about 100 feet. The explosion was heard half a mile away and the force was felt in a radius of several blocks.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—George W. Fryhoffer, who was cashier of the Bank of Ellettsville, which made an assignment several months ago, has been indicted for embezzlement. The charge is that he collected notes for the American Reduction Fertilizer Company from about twenty farmers and did not send the money to the company. Fryhoffer is said to be in Chicago and was a business manager for Edmond Palmer, who owned a chain of banks.

SAND BAR

Causing Citizens of Memphis Much Anxiety.

NECESSITY FOR ITS REMOVAL

TO BE URGED UPON MISSISSIPPI RIVER COMMISSION.

VICTIMS OF BLACKMAILING.

Rich Nashville Men Are the Prey of Unscrpulous Women Declares a Detective.

MANY CASES ARE REPORTED.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Word has been received in this city of the departure of the members of the Mississippi River Commission from St. Louis yesterday on their regular trip down the river. When the commission reaches Memphis, probably in the latter part of next week, it will be met by a number of committees of citizens representing the various industrial bodies, who will urge upon the members the necessity of recommendations to the next Congress for improvements that are needed in the local harbor.

The object of the gravest concern in Memphis is the sand bar that has been gradually forming in front of the city for the past few years, and it is not improbable that the committees will request the commission to recommend an appropriation for the changing of the current of Wolf river near its mouth in order that the bar may be swept away. Recommendations concerning Hopefield Point, just across the river from this city, will also be asked of the commission.

HARVEST OF BLACKMAILING.

Nashville Men of Means Are the Victims.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Capt. C. W. Davis, superintendent of the Davis National Detective Agency, is of the opinion that a harvest of blackmailing is going on in Nashville. Capt. Davis stated to-day that no less than a half dozen cases had been reported to him recently, and he does not know how much more of the work is going on.

The class of people carrying on operations of this kind, Capt. Davis said, are women of loose character, and their plan is to charge some man of high standing and good character with debauching them, and to make a demand for certain amounts of money, with the threat that if it is not forthcoming publicity will be given to the matter.

Men of means are selected, and Capt. Davis stated that of the six cases reported to him four of the men were worth not less than $100,000 each. Rather than have the notoriety of any public proceedings with the blackmailers, some of the men have paid them various sums of money.

READY TO MEET ACCUSERS.

Tennessee Man Charged With Causing Two Murders Surrenders To Officials.

Sevierville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—Bob Catlett has given himself up to the Sheriff of Sevier county to answer the charge of being an accomplice in the murder of William Whaley and wife in 1897. Ples Wynn and Catlett Tipton were hanged in July, 1899, as the principals in the crime, and it was charged that Bob Catlett had paid them a sum of money to get Whaley and wife out of the way. Catlett was tried and released on one charge. He is one of the wealthiest men in Sevier county, and on this account extraordinary interest is attached to his surrender. He is now under $10,000 bond. He states that he has been in South Carolina.

TO BE SHIPPED TO ENGLAND.

270 Head of Tennessee Cattle Bound For England.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—There will be 270 head of cattle shipped from this section to-morrow. It will require thirteen cars to transport this consignment. Eight of them will be loaded at Hendersonville and five at Tulip Grove. The cattle were purchased from Horatio Berry by Jonas & Sim Weil, of Lexington, Ky., for a Liverpool firm, and will be shipped direct to that market on through bills of lading issued by the local agents at the point of shipment.

The cattle weigh between 1,300 and 1,400 pounds a head and are worth over $60 apiece.

ALABAMA GIRL KILLS HERSELF.

Her Betrothed Lover Fails To Appear and She Becomes Desperate.

Decatur, Ala., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Crazed over the supposed perfidy of her betrothed lover, Miss Helen Hutton put an end to her life with a pistol ball this afternoon. Miss Hutton was to have been married last Sunday to a young business man of Birmingham, Ala., but he failed to appear, and her letters and telegrams elicited no response. The deed that ended the unhappy young woman's life was committed in the back yard at her home in East Decatur. She was found about fifteen minutes later. Miss Hutton was but eighteen years old.

Street Railway Employes' Union Disbands.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The Street Railway Employes' Union, which was formed here some weeks ago and which resulted in a lockout by the street car company, has disbanded and surrendered its charter. Most of the men have been trying to get back on the road, but the receivers have declined to reinstate them on the ground that they left the service of their own volition and without cause.

Low Price of Cotton.

Lynnville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Not one-third of the cotton crop raised in this section has been put on the market on account of the extremely low prices which have prevailed for the past few weeks. The rise in prices the first of this week caused some activity in the market, and a few farmers have sold. However, the majority are holding for better prices.

Clarksville Wants Free Turnpikes.

Clarksville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—A movement is on foot among the business men of this city looking to the freeing of all the turnpikes in this county. A mass meeting will be held at an early date to take some steps in the matter. As it now is this city is losing trade because of the toll gates that surround the place.

DR. MARY WALKER MAY LOSE HER PENSION FOR DENOUNCING EXECUTION OF CZOLGOSZ

Proof Has Been Accumulated By Commissioner Evans To Be Submitted When Congress Meets.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The Pension Bureau is investigating utterances attributed to Dr. Mary Walker, the former army nurse, who has worn masculine attire in recent years and who is alleged to have called the execution of Czolgosz, the late President McKinley's assassin, a murder, and the late President himself a murderer on account of his policy in the Philippines. A special examiner of the pension office is at Oswego, N. Y., investigating the matter and his report will be kept on file at the bureau here in readiness for submission to Congress in case that body should call for it. Commissioner Evans explained to-day that he had no authority to revoke the woman's pension, but that Congress could do so if it desired.

PREFERS BEING GROCER'S CLERK TO A CAPTAINCY OF POLICE

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8.—A. A. Ames, Mayor of Minneapolis, to-day tendered Cole Younger, the notorious bandit now out of the Minnesota State prison on parole after serving twenty-five years of a life sentence, a position as Captain on the local police force. Cole took the matter up with friends in St. Paul, where he is now engaged as clerk in a grocery store, and on their advice refused the offer. He said he wished to avoid all notoriety.

A ROW

Develops During Count of the Bollots

IN THE COUNTY OF CAMPBELL

SHERIFF CLAIMS REPUBLICANS TRY TO DELAY MATTERS.

ADJOURNMENT ENDS TROUBLE.

Charges of Fraud Made In Contest For Mayor of Russellville—Big Democratic Majority In McCracken.

OFFICIAL CANVASS OF RETURNS.

Newport, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The Election Commissioners for Campbell county met to-day at Alexandria, and the meeting came near winding up in a general row, but a motion to adjourn and meet in Newport to-morrow quieted matters.

The commissioners, John Holloran, John Anderson and Sheriff Miller, met to canvass last Tuesday's returns, and all went well until they came to precinct B of the Second ward, when it was discovered that the election officers in that precinct had not counted the ballots in the school board box, claiming that the keys they had would not open it, so they sent the ballots out in the box. When this matter came up the Democrats claimed that there was also a regular county ticket ballot that had been put in the box by mistake. The Democrats were anxious that it should be counted. The contested ballots were then taken up. The vote showed that there was only a difference of three votes between William Krinn and Dr. Helmbold for alderman. All eyes were turned on this count, and the first three disputed ballots gave Helmbold three votes, which made the count a tie. The next ballot gave Krinn a vote, but it was thrown out. Another ballot gave Krinn a vote, which left him with one majority.

Sheriff's Accusation.

Sheriff Miller then broke the locks off the School Board box, and wanted to count the ballots. The Republicans claimed he had no right to break the box open. A heated argument followed, during which the Sheriff accused the Republicans of simply objecting to the count, knowing that there was a Democratic ballot in the box which would give Helmbold a vote.

The official count for all candidates, with the exception of those for School Board, which are one precinct short, is as follows:

County Judge, M. J. Brown, Dem., 4,493; W. J. Hissem, Rep., 5,025; August Wangolander, Socialist, 517. County Clerk, Joseph M. Betz, Dem., 5,193; George Lindsey, Rep., 4,445; H. W. Lusterman, Socialist, 456. County Attorney, Eugene Wallingford, Dem., 4,541; C. W. Youngblut, Rep., 5,067. Sheriff, Frank Thatcher, Dem., 4,337; Dan Riedel, Rep., 5,426; Charles Towner, Socialist, 437. County Jailer, W. H. Cox, Dem., 4,299; Matt Wagner, Rep., 5,098; Julius Ronsheim, Socialist, 362. Ryan, Dem., 2,149; William A. Burkamp, Rep., 2,719; Adam Nagel, Socialist, 981.

BROKE THE RECORD.

Largest Democratic Majority Ever Rolled Up In McCracken.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Full returns from the city and county show the county Democratic by a larger majority than expected. The majorities are the largest ever given any set of candidates in this county.

L. D. Potter, for Sheriff, lead the ticket with a majority of 1,271.

The majorities of the county Democratic candidates are as follows: Max D. Ferguson, State Senator, 2,653; W. C. Clark, Representative, 927; R. T. Lightfoot, Judge, 908; Charles Graham, Clerk, 912; F. E. Graves, Attorney, 1,084; L. D. Potter, Sheriff, 1,271; L. L. Jones, Jailer, 1,199; J. T. Hughes, Assessor, 906; A. M. Ragsdale, Superintendent of Schools, 886; E. B. Wren, Surveyor, no opposition, 2,724; G. B. Phelps, Coroner, 1,115.

The city officers will be installed the first Monday in December and the county officers January 1.

BALLOTS WERE BURNED.

Browder Claims To Have Been Elected Mayor of Russellville.

Russellville, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A sensation was sprung here to-day in connection with the recent election for Mayor. The candidates were Dr. B. B. Andrews, the present Mayor, and Mr. J. C. Browder, a popular young lawyer, and son of Mr. Wilbur F. Browder. According to the returns made by the election officers the vote resulted: Andrews 273, Browder 245. The ballots were immediately burned. Browder's friends, believing that they had received a raw deal, circulated a paper, which was signed by 359 voters, stating that they had voted for Browder. As there were but 518 votes polled, this would make it appear that Browder's majority over Andrews was 200.

The affair is the talk of the town and future developments are awaited with interest.

ELIGIBILITY QUESTIONED.

Owensboro Democrats To Contest the Election of Three Members of the Council.

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The affidavit of several persons alleging that John G. Delker and Charles E. Broeker are interested in the control and ownership of the street car company, and that J. W. Slaughter is one of the owners of the Indiana and Kentucky Telephone Company, will be filed by the attorneys representing the Democrats at the canvass of the election returns at the city hall to-morrow. Slaughter, Delker and Broeker were elected on the face of the returns as Republican members of the Council and these affidavits will raise the question of their eligibility. An effort will also be made to purge the returns of illegal Republican votes in two precincts. The Council at a called meeting to-night passed an ordinance providing a mode of contest of a member of that body.

DEMOCRATS CLEAN SWEEP.

Official Count of Votes In Franklin County and Frankfort.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The official count by the County Election Board to-day shows the following result in the election of Tuesday last in Franklin county and the city of Frankfort: For State Senator, E. H. Taylor, Jr., Democratic nominee, 2,075 votes; no opposition. For Representative, Dr. J. Owen Robinson, Democratic nominee, 2,036 votes; no opposition. For Democratic nominees for county offices, headed by J. H. Polsgrove, for County Judge, 2,037 votes; no opposition. For Mayor of the city, James S. Darnell, Democrat, 967 votes; J. W. Gayle, Republican, 701. Darnell's majority, 266 votes. The Democratic nominees for Council and city offices won by the same vote.

The County Election Commissioners completed the canvass of the vote this afternoon. Feland received 3,724 and Edwards 3,279. INTERNATIONAL COURT OF CLAIMS PROPOSED Project For Treaty Presented By Mexican Delegation In Pan-American Congress.

Mexico City, Nov. 8.—The Pan-American Congress at its session this morning decided to adjourn for a fortnight.

The proposal to adjourn for a fortnight was made by President Raigosa, in order, as he said, to allow the committees time to consider the projects submitted to them.

Senor Matte, of Chile, moved that the president be authorized during the recess to refer the projects presented to the proper committees. With this amendment the motion was carried.

At to-day's session the project of the treaty for an international court of claims was presented by the Mexican delegation.

In an introductory speech Francisco L. DeLaBarra, delegate of Mexico and author of the project, said that the same was largely based on the Olney-Pauncefote treaty of January 12, 1897, with modifications suggested by the objections which were made to the same treaty in the United States Senate and which caused that body to reject it.

ENGLAND'S COMMERCE STEADILY DECLINING.

A Decrease of 750,000 Pounds In Exports During October, 1901, As Compared With Last Year.

London, Nov. 8.—British trade returns for October show a further decline in the volume of the nation's commerce. There is a drop of £750,000 in exports, as compared with October, 1900, while ten months of the year give a diminution of nearly £10,000,000. The fall in the last month was due mainly to the diminished value of the coal exported. In metals, machinery and new ships there is a considerable decrease, which is balanced by a great increase in the value of textiles exported.

Imports show a marked reduction of no less than £4,000,000. The general impression produced by the figures is that trade is distinctly on the down grade.

Indian Mounds Opened On Fair Site.

St. Louis, Nov. 8.—Two of the Indian mounds on the World's Fair site in Forest Park were opened to-day under the direction of Prof. D. I. Bushnell, the well-known archaeologist. In one mound were found the skulls and fragments of five human beings in a very bad state of preservation. Mixed with the bones were pieces of pottery. Nothing else was discovered in the mounds.

YOUNG WOMANHOOD.

How Often it is Made Miserable by the Lack of Proper Advice at Just the Right Time.

This picture tells its own story of sisterly affection. The older girl, just budding into womanhood, has suffered greatly with those irregularities and menstrual difficulties which sap the life of so many young women.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can always be relied upon to restore health to women who thus suffer. It is a sovereign cure for the worst forms of female complaints, that bearing down feeling, weak back, falling and displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries and all troubles of the uterus or womb. It dissolves and expels tumors from the uterus in the early stage of development and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. It subdues excitability, nervous prostration, and tones up the entire female system.

Mrs. Pinkham especially invites young girls to write her about their sickness. She has made thousands of young sufferers happy.

Two young women authorize us to publish the following letters.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough. It is simply wonderful the change your medicine has made in me. Before I took your medicine I could hardly stand the pains in my back. I tried different doctors but none did me any good. I took three bottles and feel like another person. My work is now a pleasure while before it was a burden. To-day I am a well and happy girl. I think if more women would use your Vegetable Compound there would be less suffering in the world."—MISS MATHILDA J. LAGASSE, 826 9th St., New Orleans, La. (Dec. 30, 1900.)

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for several months with pains in my back and sides. I felt worn out and weak. I tried many different medicines but nothing seemed to do me any good until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking several bottles, I feel entirely well. My improvement was simply wonderful. Thanking you for the benefit I have derived from your medicine, (Jan. 12, 1901.) I am sincerely yours, FANNIE CLIFTON, La Due, Mo."

Do not be persuaded that any other medicine is just as good. Any dealer who suggests something else has no interest in your case. He is seeking a larger profit.

Follow the record of this medicine and remember that these thousands of cures of women whose letters are constantly printed in this paper were not brought about by "something else," but by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

$5000 REWARD Owing to the fact that some skeptical people have from time to time questioned the genuineness of the testimonial letters we are constantly publishing we have deposited with the National City Bank, of Lynn, Mass., $5,000, which will be paid to any person who will show that the above testimonials are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writers' special permission.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company, Lynn, Mass.

TOOLS LOST

By Oil Men In Sunnybrook Region.

WORK IS THUS DELAYED.

GEARY COMPANY AND STRUBBE EXPECT RICH STRIKES.

OPERATION IN THE FIELD.

Monticello, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—Geary Oil Company's No. 2, on their tract at Sunnybrook, was 800 feet down, with a fine showing of oil and gas and a record-breaking average for drilling, when an accident occurred. Mr. Buehler, the contractor, had averaged nearly 100 feet a day from the start and his work would have been completed last Saturday night if all had gone well. Before daylight on Saturday morning his tools were lost in the hole and he has been fishing for them ever since. This is holding quite a number of people in suspense, as the Geary stock is held in small lots all the way from Lexington up through the mountain counties.

Mr. Buehler left Monticello on Saturday night with a wagon load of tools needed for his fishing job, and broke down in the hills about ten miles out in a heavy rainstorm. The tools were unloaded on the highway and the wagon sent back to this village by a driver, who was instructed to return at once with another wagon. It was 2 o'clock in the morning when the second team got away from Monticello and the storm was still on and the mountain road extremely heavy and dangerous. The tools were put into Sunnybrook at 10 o'clock the same morning after a hard night's experience. This is illustrative of the way work is being pushed in this section.

Strubbe's New Well.

Strubbe's No. 3 will be the next completed. Work has been going on here for several days and the hole is down 500 feet. The black shale was reached at 280 feet, thirty feet higher up than usual, a promising sign. It indicates that the oil rock will be struck nearer to what is called an anticlinal, or the highest point of the rock wave. The theory is that the oil rises toward the apex, owing to rock pressure and salt water, and that gas, being still lighter, rises to the apex. Strubbbe's well appears to be close to the dome of oil rock. It is in proven territory. It is expected that either a large oil well or a large gas well will be struck.

As Strubbe is drilling at Sunnybrook within a few hundred feet of the big wells there is scarcely a possibility of being out of range, unless he strikes a hollow in the rock formation. All likelihood of that seems removed by the shale depth and the position of the well with relation to the other Strubbe and the Somerset gushers.

Col. Strubbe predicts that this third well is going to be a dazzler.

Drilling Tools Lost.

The operations of the Cincinnati Oil and Gas Company on the Floy Williams farm, across the line in Pickett county, Tennessee, are somewhat unusual. Cusick, the contractor, put a well there down 1,100 feet and lost the drilling tools. It was said that this well was all right then, or would be all right as soon as the tools were fished out. The accident occurred last July and the fishing is still going on.

Four months of fishing is costly work, more costly than the tools, and almost as costly as the well. It is said that there is undoubtedly oil in this well, because the smell of oil is unmistakable. It is overlooked that the smell of gas would be exactly the same.

* * *

An Unusual Experience.

Smith & Co., of Lexington, drilling east of Sunnybrook, are having an unusual experience. They have drilled four holes. Each hole has run into a cavern, compelling them to move their rig to a new location and begin over again. They are now working away on the fourth hole and hoping for better luck. This time they have moved over far enough to avoid a repetition of the difficulty. They are fully one-half mile from the scene of their last operations. The first hole was put down 160 feet and the tools were found dangling in space. Much time was lost in getting the tools out. Again, at ninety feet depth the tools were lost in the second hole, which had been drilled 800 feet from the first. This time Smith & Co. fished for the tools for a week. In the third hole, still further removed, the same cavern was encountered, but this time the contractor was more wary and held onto his tools. The fourth hole is now down 100 feet and the drillers are apprehensive of a yawning mouth opening below to receive their bit and string.

Must Be Carefully Watched.

Capt. Geary, of the Somerset Oil Company, says that he has discovered that oil wells must be watched as carefully as babies or something will happen to them. He has revived his drooping No. 4 of the Somerset Oil Company. This well was running down fast, due to the negligence of the employes. When the pumping rods were taken up for examination it was found that the cups were broken and eaten away. The well had been performing the difficult feat of sending up oil through a sieve. She had been doing at that about twenty-five barrels a day.

Capt. Geary says that when he left there last Monday, after repairs, she was doing 125 barrels and that with some additional improvement in the pumping outfit some more production will be made.

Somerset's No. 1 has practically run dry and lies abandoned. It is to be shot by nitro-glycerine some time this week with the hope of putting new life in it.

Oil Found In Cumberland County.

Burkesville, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The J. W. Stine Oil Company struck oil and gas yesterday in small quantities on the Strange place. Several buckets full of a fine grade of oil were pumped out.

"We Are Here" Is Here.

Four members of the Detroit Yacht Club, sailing the double-masted sloop rigged vessel "We Are Here," arrived at Louisville yesterday morning. The men, Mr. Fred Hewitt, master and owner; Edward Rooney, Lew Griffiths and Jack McNamara, are on their way to New Orleans. The plan is to drop down the river, hunting and fishing on the way. When full rigged the "We Are Here" carries two mainsails and a jib sail.

NO CHANGE.

Grain Rates Will Remain the Same.

SHIPPERS COULD NOT AGREE.

C. AND O. IMPROVING FACILITIES AT CINCINNATI.

L. AND N.'S FLORIDA TRAIN.

After a two-days' session at the Galt House, the Southeastern Mississippi Valley Association adjourned at 7 o'clock last night without having made any change in the grain rates to Southeastern territory. This subject was the principal one discussed at the meeting and at one time it looked like some change would be made that would, in a measure, satisfy St. Louis, but the grain men themselves could not reach an agreement and the association could do nothing unless they did, so they adjourned without taking any action.

The grain men of St. Louis claimed that they were being discriminated against in favor of Cincinnati and Louisville in the matter of rates to the Southeast, and when the Southeastern Mississippi Valley Association convened here Thursday its members told the grain men of Louisville, Evansville, Cairo, Henderson and St. Louis to get together and agree upon a rate and then present the agreement to the association. The grain men held several conferences, but seemed to have been unable to accomplish anything as the railroad men adjourned last night and said that no agreement of any kind had been presented to them. The case, in a nutshell, is that Louisville has a shade the best of grain rates to the Southeast and St. Louis is jealous. The association has been importuned time and again to make the rates more equal, and it has invariably told the grain men to agree on a rate, and it would act accordingly. The question has been discussed at numerous meetings, and is just as far from being decided now as it ever was. A member of the association said last night that these rates had been a bone of contention for the past five or six years, and from present indications would remain a problem just that much longer.

Besides considering this particular question, the association did little else of interest except to make a general change in commodities to common points in Mississippi which will have little effect on Louisville shippers.

C. and O. Improving Terminals.

The Chesapeake and Ohio is to spend over a half million dollars in improving its terminal facilities at Cincinnati. Yesterday it purchased $325,000 worth of property on the river front in that city, and it is understood that it will spend about $200,000 in making improvements and extending its trackage. The property, as it stands to-day, has a capacity of 7,000 bushels of coal a day, and this will be greatly increased and the terminal facilities enlarged. An official of the company here yesterday said that the purchase was made absolutely necessary by the heavy increase in business, and that the Chesapeake and Ohio would soon be in a position to supply the entire resident portion of Cincinnati with coal. He said the new terminals would preclude any possibility of a coal famine in Cincinnati in the future.

The improvements at Cincinnati are in direct line with the policy of President Stevens, who sometime ago said that all the principal terminals would be improved and enlarged. Five thousand feet of new track have recently been laid here, and the company has spent $250,000 in making improvements in and about Louisville. Extensive improvements are going on over the entire system.

Figuring On Florida Schedule.

W. S. Danley, general passenger agent of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway; C. E. Harmon, general passenger agent of the Washington and Atlantic, and B. W. Wrenn, passenger traffic manager of the Plant system, were here yesterday in consultation with General Passenger Agent Stone, of the Louisville and Nashville, with reference to a winter schedule to Florida and other Southern points. An agreement was reached, but it will not be made public until the date of placing it into effect is finally agreed upon.

The Louisville and Nashville has not yet announced the date of the beginning of its regular winter Florida service, and will not until there is a change in the weather. The extremely warm weather of the past six weeks has upset the calculations of every general passenger agent in Southern territory as to Florida schedules and business. Heretofore Florida business was usually begun at this time of the year.

Railroad Notes.

—Mr. George W. Barney, district passenger agent, and Mr. C. P. Snow, trainmaster of the Chesapeake and Ohio at Lexington, were in the city yesterday.

—The Pennsylvania railroad announces that on and after November 11 it will receive freight in less than car lots at the First-street station of the Illinois Central.

—Many of the railroad men who have been in the city for the past two days attending the regular monthly meeting of the Southeastern Mississippi Association left last night for their homes.

—Mr. R. T. G. Matthews, traveling passenger agent of the Iron Mountain route, was notified yesterday that his road would put on an entire new service to Hot Springs November 17. The new train will leave St. Louis at 8 o'clock in the evening and go by way of Benton, Ark., making the trip to Hot Springs in three hours shorter time than has heretofore been made.

SWEET UNION.

Goodwin Preserving Company May Be In Combine.

The combine of the preserve manufacturers of the United States, perfected at Pittsburg last Wednesday, may include the Goodwin Preserving Company, of this city. A representative of the Goodwin company attended the Pittsburg meeting with full power to act in the matter, but whether the local concern entered the combine is not known here. Mr. Edward Goodwin, president of the local company, was seen last night. He said that he had sent his representative to attend the meeting and that he had full power to act, but whether his company was included or not he did not know. He expects his representative to return to the city Monday.

NEW NAMES.

John Phelps May Be One of Grainger's Appointees.

ON BOARD OF PUBLIC SAFETY.

Joseph Nevin Is Mentioned For a Place On the Board of Public Works.

MR. HENRY BELL'S POSITION.

Of the persons who have been mentioned as probable appointees of Mayor-elect Grainger on the two executive boards, politicians only concede that four of the number are practically certain to "land." These are Harry M. Brennan and Edward Tierney for members of the Board of Public Safety, and John H. Weller and John W. Vreeland for members of the Board of Public Works.

It is now learned from apparently trustworthy sources that Mr. John Phelps, brother of the late Zach Phelps, may be appointed a member of the Board of Public Safety by the new Mayor.

Joseph Nevin, who was appointed a member of the Board of Public Works under Mayor Henry S. Tyler, is mentioned strongly as a probable appointee of Mayor Grainger to his old place on the board.

This rumor was more generally credited yesterday when it became known that Mr. Henry Bell had told Mr. Grainger he could not accept any office under the city administration. It is said that Mr. Bell could have anything he wanted at the new Mayor's hands, but he will become chief deputy to Mr. W. J. Semonin, the newly elected County Clerk.

* * *

Alf Oldham's Deputies.

Alf. V. Oldham, Clerk of the Police Court, announced yesterday that he would reappoint Orrie Whallen and Henry Schwieters deputies in his office. It is said that James B. Brown, the new Tax Receiver, will appoint Elijah Mann a clerk in his office. Mr. Mann was formerly a clerk in the County Court under George Webb.

Scramble For Office.

A lively scramble is on for nearly every office in the City Hall which is not known to be "nailed down." There is considerable speculation about who the Controller will be and who will be appointed by Mr. James B. Camp as his assistant Treasurer.

The belief is growing that acting Chief of Police Gunther will be appointed chief permanently. It is said that Mr. F. Joseph Herrmann could fare well under Mr. Grainger if he wanted anything the new Mayor has to give away, but it is believed that Mr. Herrmann prefers to remain in his present position as president of the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners.

Talk of White Janitors.

A report was started at the City Hall yesterday that Mayor-elect Grainger did not want any colored janitors at the City Hall during his administration and that the present force of men under William Ward would be dismissed. Ward has been janitor at the City Hall since 1879. It is said to be the new Mayor's intention to employ white janitors.

REMARKABLE RECORD MADE.

Former Louisville Linotype Operator Sets 84,500 Ems In Eight Hours.

Dayton, Ohio, Nov. 8.—A remarkable record on the linotype machine was made Thursday in the office of the Daily News, when Claude Couse set 3,250 lines of nonpareil, linometer count, making a total of 84,500 ems, in eight hours, machine speeded to seven lines a minute. To secure this result it was necessary to touch the keys 169,000 times, or nearly six times a second.

Couse was formerly employed on a paper in this city.

Not the Highest Record.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 8.—Dr. W. S. Conway, at one time an operator on the Journal, beat this record over a year ago, setting 84,600 nonpareil ems, corrected matter, in eight hours.

SAD PLIGHT.

CHILDREN IN JAIL, MOTHER INSANE AND FATHER IMPROVIDENT.

Litle Ones Discovered By Agent Hild Now In Charge of Mrs. Hartley, Jail Matron.

Three little children are under the motherly care of Mrs. Hartley, the jail matron, while their own mother is in a cell for the insane at Lakeland and their father is making a vain effort to get them back into his custody. The oldest of the children is Eunice Rose, twelve years of age. Her two little brothers are nine and eleven years of age.

On Tuesday, Agent Hild, of the Humane Society, discovered the three children in a vacant house far down in the western part of the city, not far from the bank of the river. They were without food and with only the scantiest of clothing. He at once took them under his protecting care and on the next day, the girl was presented in the Police Court on the charge of being a vagrant and destitute.

Judge Buckley dismissed the case in order that a warrant might be sworn out for the girl and her two little brothers. This was done and the children have been under the care of Mrs. Hartley ever since.

A week before they were found, their mother had been taken before a commission who held an inquest for lunacy and adjudged her insane.

Her going from them left the little ones destitute as no one then knew the whereabouts of the father. The neighbors did what they could, but finding that the strain upon their scanty stores was too great, they sent word to Agent Hild, who went to the children's relief.

After the little ones had been presented in court, their father, Melton Rose, appeared and made an effort to secure custody of them. He endeavored to get them out of jail on a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Barker. The writ was refused, Judge Barker declaring that he was willing to trust the case to Judge Buckley. As a result, the children will remain in jail until Wednesday, when their case will be tried.

RIVER, BUSINESS AND WEATHER.

The river was on a stand last evening with 37 inches in the canal, 10 inches on the falls and 3 feet 9 inches at the foot of the locks. Business good. Weather clear and pleasant.

DRIFTWOOD.

The Big Kanawha will bring down a crowd of round-trip people to-day from Carrollton, Madison and all along shore. ....The John W. Thomas left for Evansville yesterday afternoon....Capt. Ryan has been taking "a day off" recently and resting....The Henry Harley and John W. Thomas don't give the channels at the bars between here and Evansville a chance to fill up....The Henry Harley leaves for Evansville this evening with all she wants....The Indiana is the Cincinnati packet to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock....The Barretts are building a model barge at their Levanna shipyard for use in the Barrett line. It is 225 feet long, 46 feet wide and will be one of the largest and best on the river. They are also building a fine wharfboat for Capt. Hill, of Aurora, and doing other work in craft building....The John K. Speed is due at New Orleans Monday from St. Louis....Only twenty-five inches by the gauge marks at Evansville....Rev. Irb. Hicks makes the following predictions: "About the 10th storms of winds, rain and snow will cross the country, requiring some days in passage, followed by a cold wave. About the 11th a warm wave, low barometer and rain will follow up to 14th. A cold wave with wintry weather will follow; central the 18th. About the 20th a storm period will cross the country, followed by gales and snow; another warmer spell will follow from 23d to 26th. A dangerous storm period will start across the country about 25th or 26th, followed by warm weather and general rains, and also a snow blizzard starting early in December."....Capt. Frank Gould goes on the Pacific No. 2 and Capt. Sam Reno goes on the Pacific....The remains of Capt. Andy Hazlett, who died suddenly in Memphis, were taken to his old home in Gallipolis, O., for burial.... The following changes have been made in lights between St. Louis and Chester, on the Mississippi: Sulphur Springs crossing, down 100 yards (barrel buoy); below Sulphur Springs, down 100 yards; Joachim Bluff, up 100 yards; above Denby, down 100 yards; Salt Lake crossing, discontinued (barrel buoy).; Ames Towhead, down quarter of a mile; Rubicon Hollow, up quarter of a mile; Stanton Towhead, discontinued (barrel buoy); Moro Chute, down 40 yards....The negro deckhands and rousters at Memphis and New Orleans are beginning to realize the fact that they are not "it" demanding exorbitant wages for their services. Many are being arrested for vagrancy, and many are superseded by white men who are willing to work for reasonable wages. ....Mate Thos Stead, of the Lee Line, of Memphis, has succeeded the late Capt. Andy Hazlett as commander of the Ferd Herold....The Speed will leave New Orleans about November 12 for Ohio river and Cincinnati. There is plenty of water in the Mississippi river for her to come to Cairo, and by the time she gets to Cairo it is almost certain there will be a navigable stage of water in the Ohio river, so she can come home without trouble.... The Minnie has quit the Madison and Kentucky river trade. The river is getting low when a "Minner" can't run.... The New Orleans Picayune says: "Some of the steamboatmen think the only way to overcome their present troubles with the roustabouts is to hire white men to take the place of the negroes, and several have already begun negotiations for white crews. One captain stated yesterday that he was willing to sign a contract to hire 100 men for five months to work on his boats, and had arranged with a labor agent to secure him the required number."....Capt. Sibert goes to Pittsburg and Maj. Ruffner comes here. Next! About the time an engineer comes here and gets acquainted with his job and the people, "Uncle Sam" moves him....The Cricket has gone to Carrollton to resume snag pulling....Only thirty inches at Fulton—the shallowest place between here and Evansville....The Burnside is due down from Cincinnati....The stage of the river struck the lowest notch this season yesterday....Now is a good time to remove the rock from the harbor about the mouth of the canal....The E. T. Slider and Sanddigger arrived from Stephensport yesterday.

RIVER TELEGRAMS

Pittsburg, Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The prospects of rain which seemed to be held out Thursday by the weather man have vanished. The river continues to fall, and the rivermen are hoping against hope that a rise will soon come. Most of them will be satisfied if there is a boating stage by November 20. The lock tenders are doing all in their power to make the dams tight and keep back the water in the pools. The towboats supplying the industrial plants along the river with coal are towing lightly-loaded barges, and are obliged to make many trips to keep up the supply. The Ohio river at Davis Island dam is 1.8 feet and stationary, which is the same stage for the past week.

Wheeling, Nov. 8. — River 1.4 feet, stationary. Clear and cool.

Cincinnati, Nov. 8. — [Special.] — The Burnsides left for Louisville early this morning. Capt. J. F. Ellison left for Paducah last night on a hunting expedition. The towboat J. O. Cole was let off the marine ways this morning. River at 6 p. m., 4.3 feet. Warmer.

Madison, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—River 3.8 feet, and falling slowly. Heavy fog this morning. Big Kanawha, Burnside, Hanover and Bonanza down. Juniata, Hattie Brown and Indiana up. Capt. Clyde Howard has returned from Jeffersonville. John E. Abraham to-day finished the inspection of Capt. John Stewart's new Blue Wing. The Tell City will be finished next week. Weather fair.

Evansville, Nov. 8.—River 2 feet, stationary. Partly cloudy and warmer.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—River 1.8 feet and standing. Weather clear and cool. The Pavonia arrived this afternoon from the Tennessee river with ties. The heavy fogs are delaying all boats en route to this port. The City of Clifton arrived here, and has been instructed to contract for no more freight, which means she will lay up owing to the low water.

Cairo, Nov. 8.—River 3.4 feet. Cloudy and cold. Arrived: Rees Lee, Memphis, 11:15 a. m. Departed: Rees Lee, St. Louis, 12 p. m.; Ferd Herold, Memphis, 2:15 p. m.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8.—River 3.2 feet, and falling. Clear and mild.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 8.—River .6 of a foot and falling. Clear and cool.

Duplicate of Yesterday's Weather.

A change of weather is promised tomorrow for Louisville and vicinity. The temperature will take a sudden drop of several degrees and it may go to the freezing point, as a cloudless sky is promised. To-day the weather of yesterday will be repeated, which means a maximum temperature of 54 and a minimum of 30 degrees.

Oldest Convict In State Prison Is Released.

YOUNGEST PRISONER ARRIVES.

DECISION RENDERED IN OWSLEY COUNTY MURDER CASE

BY THE COURT OF APPEALS.

Former Daviess County Man a Candidate For Sergeant-at-Arms of the State Senate.

A DAMAGE CASE AFFIRMED.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The youngest prisoner in the State penitentiary arrived yesterday to take up a life sentence, and the oldest in the institution, also serving a life sentence, was released to-day on parole because of the infirmities of age. The prisoner to come in was Thomas Brown, a fifteen year old murderer from Laurel county, and the old man to depart was Joe Johnson, of Pike county, past seventy-six years of age. Johnson was paroled by the State Parole Board. He was sent up in 1892 to serve a life sentence for murder. He has been unable for some time past to do any work. Other paroles granted were:

To John Short, of Mercer county, sent up in 1887, to serve a sentence of twenty-one years for man-slaughter. He is in a dying condition in the prison hospital.

To Carlo Vaughan, of Clay county, serving a sentence of twelve years for manslaughter. Vaughan was received here in July, 1895.

To F. E. Burden, Mason county, sent up early in 1900 to serve a sentence of two years for forging a check for $9. The parole was recommended by the trial judge, Commonwealth's Attorney, eleven members of the jury, and the man whose name was forged.

Murder Case Affirmed.

Judge DuRelle handed down an opinion in the Court of Appeals to-day in the felony cases of Price McIntosh, Stephen McIntosh, Elijah Bolin and Elisha Bolin against the Commonwealth, from the Owsley Circuit Court, reversing the judgment as to Elijah Bolin and affirming it as to the others.

William McIntosh, Stephen McIntosh, Elijah Bolin, Elisha Bolin and George McIntosh were indicted at the May, 1900, term of the Owsley Circuit Court for the murder of Stephen Riley, who was stabbed to death on Sunday in May, 1900, on Buffalo Creek, that county. At the January, 1901, term of court, all but George McIntosh were put on trial and given four years each in prison. William McIntosh accepted his sentence and has since died in the prison here. There was testimony in the trial court that Riley was killed by his own father, William Riley.

In reversing the judgment of the lower court as to Elijah Bolin, the court here says there is no evidence to connect him with the crime.

Candidate For Senate Place.

Mr. D. M. McHenry, formerly of Daviess county, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the office of Sergeant-at-arms of the Kentucky Senate and will make an earnest canvass for the place. Besides having a host of friends about the State capital, which has been his temporary home, Mr. McHenry has many warm friends in Western Kentucky who will give him assistance in the race. He has pledges of support from many of the hold-over Senators and some of the new ones.

Damage Case Affirmed.

The Court of Appeals, Judge White writing the opinion, affirmed with damages the judgment of the Daviess Circuit Court in the damage case of the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis Railroad Company against Eliza Bowles. The appellee secured judgment in the court below for $2,500 for injuries sustained while a passenger on the train of the appellant. She was a cripple and in leaving the train at a station was thrown to the floor of the car, sustaining serious and permanent injuries. The railroad company appealed the case on the submission of certain testimony, the instruction of the court and excessive damages.

Tobacco Yield Is 79 Per Cent. of An Average Crop, But Its Condition Is Good.

WHEAT ESTIMATED AT EIGHTY.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The monthly report of the State Agricultural Department, showing condition of crops on the first day of November, was issued this afternoon by Commissioner Noll. The report coming after the housing of the various crops is more accurate than the report of a month ago. It is from about 120 correspondents from the best sections. It places the corn crop at 54 per cent.; the wheat crop at 80, with 55 per cent. sold; the hemp crop at 96, the percentage of a full crop of tobacco at 79, and the quality of the crop at 90 per cent. The crop is best in the dark districts.

In opening his report Commissioner Noll says:

20,000,000 Bushels Short.

As the close of the year is so near at hand more accurate estimates can be made as to the yield and quality of the matured crops and of the numbers of live stock to be marketed or carried over. The painstaking correspondents of this bureau have not had occasion to make many nor radical changes in their estimates of the last month. As the shuck has been stripped from the ear, however, the corn does not give the yield expected and estimates are lowered, bringing the per cent. to 54, as against 59 in the October report. In the remarks from many correspondents the quality is said to be very fine. The estimate on the corn crop made a year ago was 94 per cent. of the ten-year average. As our Assessors gave the total yield for that year 40,665,306 bushels, with seven of the corn-producing counties left out, their figures may be raised at least 3,000,000 bushels, and it will be seen by this estimate that Kentucky is shy over 20,000,000 bushels of this important cereal. Deduct now the portion required for seed and for use in the form of meal, as well as that required by distillers, and there is left a scant supply for our over three millions of dumb animals. It begins to look like some of them will be obliged to lean against the fence to stand up before the tender grass of next spring appears.

Fodder Lacking.

A short crop of corn means also a short supply of fodder, and, though our hay crop is good and farmers have made every effort to supply the deficiency with other forage, it is apparent that a long hard winter must entail suffering in many counties. Stock peas were relied on to supply the want, but the season was not as favorable to this crop as usual, and it, too, is short. Corn is more necessary, perhaps, to produce a good supply of hogs than of any other of the domestic animals, and, this class of stock being numerically much below the average, will relieve the situation some. The total number is given at 68, against 84 a year ago. It is to be supposed that necessity will compel economical use of our corn crop, and by hook or crook the farmers will get through.

* * *

Next Year's Wheat Acreage.

Farmers have not been deterred by damages by fly last season, or the rather low prices, from an attempt to sow the usual breadth of wheat this fall. The estimates show that 80 per cent. of a crop has been seeded, and the work is still progressing. It is reasonably to be expected that the acreage of last year will be nearly, if not fully, reached. Except in a few counties, where it has been too dry, the work of seeding has been well done, and the crop is growing off finely. Some reports are made of damage already to the early sown wheat by the fly, and that this pest is plentiful on the early volunteer wheat.

* * *

The Tobacco Crop.

The tobacco crop is in the barn, and fully sustains the estimate given last month of fine quality for the dark districts, but a rather poor quality for burley. The yield is about seven points below the estimate made at the same time last year, the falling off being in the burley district. It is seldom that a better quality has been made in the dark section.

The crop of late potatoes is short. It figures 44, as against 86 last year. Winter apples are estimated at 49 per cent. of an average crop, but where not sprayed to prevent damage by the codling moth the quality is poor.

DAMAGE SUIT COMPROMISED.

Southern Railway Will Pay Heirs of J. Owsley Evans $5,000.

Versailles, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The case of J. Owsley Evans' administrator vs. the Southern Railway Company in Kentucky, for $30,000 damages, has been compromised, the railroad company paying the plaintiff $5,000. The case was tried in the Woodford Circuit Court two years ago and resulted in a verdict of $10,000 for the Evans estate. An appeal was taken by the railroad company to the Court of Appeals, which recently reversed the judgment and sent the case back here for retrial. It was docketed for trial at the present term of court.

The suit grew out of the killing of J. Owsley Evans, a prominent Boyle county stockman, by a Southern train at the Clifton crossing, just outside Versailles. W. Henry Graddy, of this city, lost his life in the same accident.

His anxiety is supposed to be the cause of his insanity.

MURDER?

Laudanum Found In N. C. Rathburn's Room.

ARE LOOKING FOR TEN EYKE.

FIRE DESTROYS COUNCILMAN SCHULER'S DRY GOODS STORE.

MRS. CAUBLE CENTENARIAN.

The mystery of the death of Newel C. Rathbun (not Rathburn as first believed), in room No. 50 at the Falls City Hotel in Jeffersonville, deepens. Deputy Coroner Frohman Coots has discarded the suicide theory.

Rathbun was a victim of laudanum poisoning. To discover the hand that administered it is now the task of the authorities.

Deputy Coroner Coots discovered the presence of laudanum in a quantity sufficient to have killed two men. No bottle was found in Rathbun's room and as he walked into the hotel office Wednesday night after 11 o'clock in an almost helpless condition, the man had evidently swallowed the poison sometime before.

The companion of Rathbun, a man who registered with him as "Wm. Ten Eyke," of Watertown, N. Y., paid Rathbun's bill and presented him with a new coat and vest, and said Rathbun went to bed very drunk. This statement he made when he arose Thursday morning, at the same time saying that Rathbun wanted to sleep late and if, after he arose, he cared to see him he could come to the same place where they met in Louisville on Thursday.

It was learned yesterday that after the men registered and Rathbun went to his room and put on the new coat and vest given him by Ten Eyke, the two went to Louisville. Ten Eyke told Mr. Ogden, the landlord, that they intended to go "out for a time."

No criminality is attached to the circumstances recounted, but Deputy Coroner Coots is anxious to talk to Ten Eyke, as he is the only one who knows where Rathbun spent Thursday evening.

Owing to so much laudanum being found it does not seem probable that Rathbun deliberately took it and then made way with every evidence of it. The officers say had his companion seen him swallow it he would not have told Landlord Ogden that Rathbun wanted to sleep late. The impression is that Rathbun was given the drug without his knowledge.

Last night Deputy Coroner Coots sent the body to Little Rock. The Citizens' Bank of that city wired that it would be responsible for the expenses.

An effort was made yesterday by Landlord Ogden to locate Ten Eyke. He searched various places in this city without success. The Jeffersonville officers are at work on the case. Patrolman Wall says he is satisfied Rathbun did not die from natural causes.

Fire Visits Mr. Schuler This Time.

An accumulation of leaking gas caused the destruction of Councilman A. O. Schuler's dry goods store on Spring, near Chestnut street, in Jeffersonville, yesterday at 3:55 a. m., and Mr. Schuler and his family, who occupied apartments over the store, had a narrow escape. Mr. Schuler was nearly suffocated. Miss Amy Schuler leaped from a second-story window, but was unhurt. The others leaped from a rear porch.

Patrolmen Wilhoyte and Bruner fired their pistols when they discovered the flames and the telephone exchange called the Fire Department. None of Mr. Schuler's stock was saved. He carried only $1,000 insurance, in the Atlas, of London. The building, owned by J. L. Miller, was insured for $1,200.

Misfortune seems to pursue Mr. Schuler and his family. Twice he has been driven from his home and store by floods. In the last four years he has been rendered penniless and then homeless by the visitation of fire.

Mr. Schuler, however, takes it philosophically, and says he is glad himself and family escaped with their lives.

—Magistrate Stout, of Indianapolis, decided in his court the other day that rabbits are not game, under the law, and consequently the killing of them on Sunday is not a violation of the game law, and therefore not punishable. Two men had been arrested by a deputy game warden of Marion county for killing rabbits last Sunday. They were brought before Magistrate Stout, and that official dismissed them as soon as he learned the circumstances connected with the case. He held that rabbits were not mentioned in the statute forbidding hunting on Sunday. The game wardens in this part of the State do not agree with the Indianapolis Magistrate in his interpretation of the law, and they have been for several days endeavoring to get a line on the hunters who slaughtered a number of rabbits in the early part of this week, and sent them to this city and Louisville to be sold.

ORDERED MORPHINE TABLETS.

Important Evidence Obtained In Charges Against Miss Toppan.

Wareham, Mass., Nov. 8.—The first positive evidence that would tend to show that Miss Jane Toppan, the trained nurse accused of many murders, bought drugs or poisons, was discovered here to-day, when it was learned that last July Jane Toppan, then attending the Davis family at Cataumet, ordered morphine tablets of a local druggist. The order came by telephone from Cataumet to Benjamin Waters' drug store and called for a bottle of morphine tablets, the strongest possible.

The order was received by the proprietor over the telephone and was filled. The message instructed Waters to send the tablets inclosed in a paper wrapper to Miss Toppan, to be delivered to her at Cataumet.

The druggist says that the bottle contained enough poison to kill a score of persons. It was delivered to Miss Toppan and paid for by her.

FICTION OF THE HOUR.

In Old Natchez.

Natchez in the stirring days of 1798, when history was being made in the Southern land, is the background of "Mistress Joy," a truly delightful historical romance. Great personages move through its pages, but best of all is the sweet, fascinating girl whose name gives the book its title.

The scene shifts from a luxurious Creole home in New Orleans to a rude cabin in the wilderness. Among that motley array of French nobility that came to the American country to find homes and retrieve fortunes the authors of this book have found their characters. "Mistress Joy" is a joy, a brilliant, courageous girl who knows how to handle the rifle and to win men by gentler ways. She charms no less a personage than Louis Philippe himself.

The authors of this book are Mrs. Samuel McKinney and Mrs. Grace McGowan Cooke, two Southern women who are no strangers in the world of letters. They have performed a difficult task with grace, sympathy and cleverness. This book is one that will be read with increasing interest. The Century Company, publishers, New York.

A Bit of Western Life.

In "An Oklahoma Romance," by Helen Churchill Candee, there is revealed a type of Western life which is familiar to most readers of fiction. The young man who considerately went West and who staked out a valuable claim and then got into litigation over it is admirably presented. In the book at hand he not only becomes involved in law, but in love. In each case he is victorious. The style is vivid and the story is one of interest and no little charm. The Century Company, publishers, New York.

Historical Romance.

"Doris Kingsley, Child and Colonist" is an historical romance after the fashion of Mary Johnston. Doris is introduced to you aboard a pirate ship, and that is the beginning of a series of exciting aventures which culminate in a peaceful ending in the happiness of well-found love. The book is not uninteresting. G. W. Dillingham Company, publishers, New York.

John Brown In Fiction.

Elmer Hubbard, in "Time and Chance" a revised edition of which has just been issued, has certainly given us one of the strongest and best written books published in years. He calls it "A Romance and a History; Being the Story of the Life of a Man." It is, in reality, an apotheosis of John Brown, of Harper's Ferry fame, and as such must fail of its purpose with the majority of thinkers with a knowledge of the cold facts of history. If any work can make us believe Brown the hero and man of destiny he is thought to have been by Mr. Hubbard, his present book will accomplish that result. The author has not impressed one as a sentimentalist or man of emotions in his literary life; on the other hand his status has been rather that of critic and cynic; and such a convincing and powerful narrative of John Brown's and character from his pen is a tribute to his memory that many a more deserving personage might envy.

Treating the book as a romance, and overlooking the "history," if we do not agree with its accuracy, it is easily a piece of fiction head and shoulders above the average novel of to-day. Its pictures of life in the "Western Reserve," whither the Brown family, and some of their neighbors, go from Connecticut with the opening of the story, and later in Kansas, bear the stamp of truth and fidelity, and have a charm and interest, unmixed with effort, that marks the finest of writing.

The pro-slavery and free-state conflict in Kansas, in which Brown and his sons took so prominent a part, is made absorbing in interest. The whole life of this man, as given here, is wonderfully fascinating and entertaining, from his early infancy, "going West" with the ox carts, to his death on the scaffold, and Mr. Hubbard has given us a man who will live in fiction as heroic, whatever his true place in history.

The book deserves to rise above prejudice, and to be read for its worth as a story possessing a "touch of greatness."

A Boothby Story.

"Farewell Nikola" is a continuation of the weird and marvelous doings of the mysterious Dr. Nikola, who will be remembered by those who have read Guy Boothby's former novel of that name. The scene of the present book is laid in Venice, where Dr. Nikola lives in an old palace, and carries on his hypnotism, or whatever power it is that he possesses, and exerts his influence on Lord Hatteras and his party, who figured also in the previous story. The book has about it that quality of mystery that will prove very interesting to the lovers of the uncanny, and is full of adventures and plots.

The Wage of Character.

"The Wage of Character," by Julien Gordon, is termed "a social study." Hamilton Darrell, a rich young New Yorker, possesses a romantic friendship and intense admiration for his friend and room-mate at Harvard, Hazard Thorne. Darrell's sister, Coralie, is the only one who shares his love for Thorne, and it is through his efforts that these two objects of his affection are married, he supplying the wealth that makes it possible.

The story deals with Thorne's married life, his success in the law, and later in politics. The scene shifts from New York to Washington, and in the cosmopolitan society of the Capital Senator Thorne has several escapades that ultimately are the cause of his wife's leaving him. She goes abroad with her daughter and, after an interval, Thorne marries Leah Arden, the woman in the case, and we leave him supremely happy in a lazy life in France with his second wife.

Society life in New York and Washington is written of by Mrs. Cruger from the standpoint of one whose knowledge of its inner workings makes her peculiarly capable in its exposition, and the story is very readable, as her style is snappy and clever.

When Jeffries Was Judge.

When James was on the throne of England, and the great Jeffries was Judge, the followers of Monmouth fared badly, and perilous was the condition of those who helped in any way his sympathizers. "The Lover Fugitives" deals with them that lived in those stirring times, and the adventure of Capt. George Ferrers and Mistress Cicely Plumer fairly make one's flesh creep.

They fell under suspicion by feeding the starving stragglers from Monmouth's defeated army, and were forced to become fugitives from the "justice" of the King, in order to escape death. Lord Kesgrave, the villain of the tale, desired Cicely for himself, and sought her lover's life as well, and the two dangers kept the unfortunates at their wits' end to elude them. They are finally married and escape to Holland, and afterwards return to England and safety in the train of the Prince of Orange.

The story is finely told and as full of exciting episodes as any one could desire, and seemingly fatal circumstances are turned to advantage by Ferrers in a way to make him a hero well worth knowing.

From the "Helen's Babies" Man.

John Habberton, of "Helen's Babies" fame, has never since written anything as good, but his stories are all readable and wholesome, and for that reason a new book from his pen is always welcome.

"Caleb Wright" is a bright little story of two young people happily married, who go West to a country town, Claybanks, to take possession of a legacy from an uncle, included in which is a typical country store, with an old clerk, Caleb Wright, who is a fixture, the retaining of whom is made a condition to the enjoyment of the property. How they adapt themselves to their new surroundings and win Caleb's regard and that of all the country round is told in a very entertaining way.

There is nothing pretentious in the book, for it is a homely story of homely people, typical inhabitants of a Western town. Caleb is quite a lovable character, and something of a philosopher as well, and finds everything, from malaria to a camera, "a means of grace."

The book will serve to while away the reader's time pleasantly, and will give no thrills or sensations, and for that reason is rather restful.

A Japanese Story.

"Fascinating" is the appropriate term with which to describe "A Japanese Nightingale." The writer is a Japanese, Onoto Watanna. The volume is decorated by the Japanese artist, Genjiro Yeto, and every page bears delicate traceries by his hand, and one seems wandering through that land of flowers as he reads.

The story is one of love, inspired by a dainty Japanese maiden in the heart of Jaek Bigelow, a young American sojourner in her land. This delicious bit of femininity becomes his "wife," with no hope of any future, but as a sacrifice to obtain money for her brother, who is at college in America, without any other means of support than he receives from home, he little dreaming of the poverty that has come to mother and sister since he left them in plenty. Bigelow and the brother had been classmates at college, and the latter returns home to find his sister disgraced, as he thinks, by his friend; and she, overcome by his grief, disappears. The long search made by her husband (he having been in ignorance of her identity before) to discover her, only confirms his love and determination to be with her always.

This writer of another country has the art of touching the heart, and her pathos is very real; and yet there is a sprightliness and joyousness in the story that does much to make it what we have said—fascinating.

These tales, like "Madame Butterfly" and others, usually close in sadness, but this has a happier ending, and we leave the young American with his life complete and perfect in his Oriental wife and surroundings.

The latest book by the versatile Queen of Roumania, a volume entitled "A Real Queen's Fairy Tales," comes from a Chicago publishing house, Davis & Co. The book was written at the suggestion of the Chicago publishers, who have arranged to have it published also in England and Germany. The Queen, whose writings go into the fields of poetry, fiction, philosophy, and the drama, is passionately fond of children, and considers the fairy tale the best method of teaching them the highest principles of right living in an entertaining manner.

Mr. R. E. Lee Gibson, of St. Louis, whose "Sonnets and Lyrics" has been issued by the Louisville publishing house of John P. Morton & Co., has dedicated his book to Mr. Madison Cawein in a poetic inspiration which is one of the best things in the volume. It will be enjoyed by Mr. Cawein's admirers in this city:

"Poet, your hand has plucked the fairest flower
In all Castalia, from the clearest rill
Of Helicon, your soul has drank its fill;
Your eyes have seen Parnassus; there are hours
Wherein you've wandered 'mid the brightest bowers
Of Arcady; subservient to your will
Dreams throng about you, and sweet thoughts that thrill
The Heart, are wakened by your magic powers
The beauty of your verses even now,
With ecstasy and happy heart has swayed,
And left me wondering if, beneath a bough,
In some deep forest where perchance you strayed,
You had met Pan—old Pan, who taught you how
The golden music of his flute was made."

On page 81 there is a longer poem to Mr. Cawein. It is a pleasure to state that Mr. Gibson's poetry is thought very good by the Eastern poets.

The November Century makes in its announcement of Christmas features for its holiday number of one by a Louisville writer, Mrs. Elizabeth Cherry Waltz. Mrs. Waltz's story holds the place of honor and has been profusely illustrated by Miss Charlotte Harding with two full-page illustrations and thirteen marginal and initial sketches. It is announced as a touching Kentucky story of a distinctly original type. It is said by the editors to contain humor, tenderness and the finest skill in handling the plot.

"THE BELEAGUERED FOREST"

A New Novel of Marked Originality.

ORIGINALITY is a cloak that covers literary sins more deadly than any perpetrated by Elia W. Peattie. And so the first word spoken of "The Beleaguered Forest" must be one of appreciative praise. It is new—brand-new. It is as pungently fresh as the scent of crushed pine-needles underfoot. It is feminine from fly-leaf to "finis." It could have been written only by a woman—and a brilliant woman. It is one of the "really worth while" books of the multitudinous new crop, and yet it has enough faults to fill a column's comment if one were fault-seeking.

Its very unevenness is part of its perplexing charm. Not only the characters, but the author, are on such a continuous nervous strain that the reader is forced into a semi-hysteric sort of sympathy. Melodramatic unreality is as rampant as in "Jane Eyre." A theme that is always a fine one—the soul-growth of a reckless girl into true womanhood—given an environment of the beauty that lies ever in primitive nature is cheapened by occasional exaggeration of thought and style. But when the book is closed and each fault is noted, the wish is that this woman shall write more books. And the belief is that, when she has added the lesson of restraint to her exceptional equipment, she will write novels that will be wholly good—pictures that with all her present brilliancy of color will not be composed solely of high-lights.

Mrs. Peattie has the rare gifts of passion, humor, the power to express a deep-seated love of nature, an ear attuned to the melody of words and the ability to individualize character in clear outlines. Attention has been called to the faults of her work simply because it would be unfair to pass it by with stereotyped phrases of praise that the "faultily faultless" conventional books.

She substitutes for a preface the following quotation from Amiel's Journal, which is the theme of her story: "A woman never speaks out her whole thought, and, moreover, what she herself knows of it is but a part of what it really is. Complete frankness seems to be impossible to her, and complete self-knowledge seems to be forbidden her. . . . She has no need of perfidy, for she is mystery itself. A woman is something fugitive, irrational, indeterminate, illogical and contradictory. Capable of all kinds of devotion, and of all kinds of treason; monster incomprehensible; raised to the second power, she is at once the delight and the terror of man."

WITH THE PUBLISHERS.

An Irish author, Mrs. Grace Rhys, known well on her side of the water, is about to be introduced to the American public through Henry Holt & Co., by a new book called "The Wooing of Sheila," which is said to be a love story of refreshing charm and a remarkable portrayal of Celtic temperament and atmosphere. Mrs. Rhys, whose maiden name was Miss Grace Little, was born in county Roscommon. Her bringing up there gave unusual opportunity for observation of native life and character. In 1890 she married Mr. Ernest Rhys and settled first in Wales, and later in Hampstead, where, in the Vale of Health, they occupied for several years a cottage believed to have been at one time the residence of Leigh Hunt. In 1898 her "Mary Dominic" was welcomed by the English and Irish critics as conspicuously powerful. Her new story has occupied her for the last two years.

This covers the Apostolic characters, Stephen to Timothy, among them being Paul, Apollos, Onesiphorus, Alexander the Coppersmith and King Agrippa. "Sons of the Sword" is the attractive title of a new novel by Mrs. Margaret L. Woods. It would probably be called a historical novel, that classification being used for all works of fiction which resort to a historical background for definite localization. This new addition to the list is a romance of the Peninsular War, rebounding in dramatic crises. It will be remembered that after the Peace of Amiens was broken, the harsh edict of Napoleon kept many a foreigner in exile, often in privation, within the French domains. The story concerns an English girl, a detenue, and a young French officer, who risks the displeasure of the Emperor on account of his infatuation for the fair foreigner. Among the characters is Napoleon, not introduced incidentally, however, but playing an influential part in the action of the plot.

Miss Heloise E. Hersey's new book, entitled "To Girls," has been adopted as a part of the daily reading at morning exercises in the Girls' Latin School in Boston. There is a bit of symbolism in the cover decoration of this book which is both interesting and appropriate. The little shield with its monogram of three W's is a reproduction of the class pin worn by the pupils of the famous school for girls, of which Miss Hersey is the distinguished head and founder; and the letters stand for the school motto, "Wit, Wisdom and Womanliness." Those who know Miss Hersey will realise that her writings would not lack any of these attributes; and it is undoubtedly these qualities which have given this volume such signal distinction at its very beginning.

Country Life In America, The New Magazine.

"Country Life," the new magazine issued by Doubleday, Page & Co., found an enthusiastic welcome for its initial November number. Advance orders and subscriptions exhausted the first edition and were received in unexpected numbers. The first number of the new publication is a splendid fulfillment of all promises and cannot fail to please the intelligent reader and present the best ideals of country life. Certain it is that no more superbly illustrated magazine has ever been placed before the public. The leading article is upon "Abandoned Farms," and the pictures have a moving interest in themselves. Ideals in country living are to be dealt with by the illustrations of fine American country seats, "Ellerslie," the home of Mr. Levi P. Morton, on the Hudson river. "The Life Story of a Frog," by Mary Rogers Miller, is fitly accompanied by a series of pictures by A. Radclyffe Dugmore, entitled "The Pictorial Biography of a Frog." The famous domestic Canadian Apple, "La Belle Famense," and the "Niagera" grape, the most popular commercial white variety of the native grape type, are finely pictured and well described. Various departments are: "Plant Growing in Garden and Field," "Notes From Wood and Fallow," "Recent Writing," an odd title for the book review page, and "Doings of the Day." The features are extremely practical and suggestive. The editor, Mr. L. H. Bailey, writes of what the magazine stands for and assures the reader that it will be an exponent of the growing interest in nature and country living. Few people but can find at once something in this magazine that will appeal to the best part of their natures and desires.

The Constitutional History of the United States.

By FRANCIS NEWTON THORPE.

REVIEWED BY J. STODDARD JOHNSTON.

This history comprises three volumes, averaging more than six hundred pages each, and embraces the origin, progress and development of constitutional government in America from the time of the Stamp Act in 1765 to the year 1895. The author, a lawyer of Massachusetts, but a little turned of forty, was for thirteen years fellow professor of American constitutional history in the University of Pennsylvania, and has given twenty years of hard labor to the preparation of this work, having also published several volumes upon cognate subjects, including "The Story of the Constitution" and "A History of the United States for Junior Classes."

The Spirit of the Work.

The chief merits of the work are its breadth and historical impartiality and accuracy. Unlike many similar undertakings of more or less pretension which have been given to the public during the last two or three decades, every page bears upon its face an honest effort to give the true facts of history, and not to distort them by concealing some and giving undue prominence to others to build up a theory of our form of government conformable to the revival of Federalism after its popular rejection a century ago. The partisan bias which has reduced several so-called constitutional histories to the level of mere political pamphlets is nowhere displayed, and the theory of the American form of government is deduced rather from the logical force of the facts of its origin and formation than from the direct assertion of the author's individual views. His personality is studiously kept in subjection, and the reader is not made to feel that he is enforcing his special theory, but merely marshaling his facts without bias and leaving each one who follows his inquiries to draw his own deductions.

The Causes of the Revolution.

The first volume treats of the causes which led to the discontent of the colonies and their conversion from loyal appendages of the crown of Great Britain, first to protesting dependencies, and ultimately to revolution and independence. It embraces with only brief reference to the martial aspect of the Revolution a minute detail of the civil steps taken for the political association of the colonies and their final organization as a confederation of independent States into a union under a written Constitution, defining the powers of the General Government, without destroying the autonomy of the States. He shows that from an early period of colonial history the people of widely-separated colonies were imbued with the underlying principles of liberty, which had their ultimate development in separation and independence, and even in periods of their greatest loyalty to the British Government believed that the rights of the citizens did not emanate from the crown, but were natural and inherent. That they would have remained loyal to the King had these rights been respected cannot be doubted, and no enlightened Englishman now questions the mistake made by the crown, as asserted by Chatham, Burke and others of the period, in driving the colonies into revolution by the untenable assertion of the right of taxation without representation. The fact stands that the ties between the colonies and the home Government were never stronger than just preceding Lord Grenville's policy of taxing the colonies. The seven years' war with France, during which the colonies had shown the most patriotic devotion, was closed by the treaty of Paris, February 10, 1763. The colonies had equipped troops and paid the expense of defending the frontier from their own resources at the same time that, by the mercantile and trade laws, Great Britain had profited largely from the labor of the colonies, since they operated as a depleting tariff upon colonial industries. It was the age of commercialism in a development which has found recrudescence in our own days. When, therefore, the colonies, oppressed by this false system and groaning under the effects of the French War, realized that they were to be taxed additionally, without their leave, to pay the debt incurred in the war by the home Government, they rebelled in spirit, and made the issue sharply from the start. Patrick Henry had, in 1763, in his speech in the celebrated Parson's cause, which first brought him into public notice, denied the right of the crown to veto a colonial act, and naturally became a leading opponent of the tax law, which was in the nature of a tariff on imports. The vigorous protest of the colonies led to its repeal and the substitution of the stamp tax, which it was thought, being even more indirect, would not meet with such opposition. But the result only proved the strength of the colonial conviction and their clean-cut opposition to the principles rather than the amount or method of taxation. The English Ministry persisted and the revolution, in time, ensued. It is now, as the author says, generally agreed that these ministerial measures were the immediate cause of the revolution.

Some Discrepancies.

The measures pursued by the colonies in their legislative assemblies and congresses are given in very full and interesting detail, as well as the history of the confederation under which the war of independence was fought, and the framing and adoption of the Constitution of 1788-9. I note but few instances in which the author is amenable to criticism in the inaccuracy of his statements. One of these is on page 150, Vol. 1, where he says in speaking of the Declaration of Independence, he says: "Jefferson, then thirty-three years of age, like Washington, Henry, Marshall and Madison, came from a family of the middle class. He was related to the Randolphs by marriage, but the proud old families looked upon him as a leveler and an upstart, and never sympathized with his democratic ideas." Except by the Tories and their modern imitators and sympathizers, there were and are none who held him in this light, he having been from his earliest connection with public affairs associated with men of the class with whom his name is now mentioned who were of the highest type of Virginians of that day. The statement that he was related to the Randolphs by marriage is misleading. His relationship was by blood, his mother being a Randolph, while his great-grandfather of that name bore the same relation to John Marshall and John Randolph. While possibly not intended, the allusion smacks much of that of Leicester Ford, a historian who sneers at Jefferson as the son of an obscure surveyor who was a frontiersman and Indian fighter. Again on page 65 he says the scheme of Colonial Committees of Correspondence was suggested by Samuel Adams, of Massachusetts, while Mr. Jefferson in his memoir (Rudolph, Vol. 1, p. 5), states explicitely that he and not Samuel Adams proposed these committees of correspondence between the colonies, those of Massachusetts being confined to their own towns. In a case where there is honor enough for all it is well that credit should be accorded where it belongs.

After the Adoption of the Constitution.

The second volume comprises the tion the second volume comprises the history of the Constitution and its workings from its adoption by the convention which framed it to the breaking out of the Civil War. This includes a full account of its ratification by the various States, its ready acceptance by most of them and its tardy ratification by several. Only three of the States, Delaware, New Jersey and Georgia, adopted the Constitution unanimously and without proposing amendments. North Carolina did not ratify it until November 21, 1789, and Rhode Island until May 29, 1790. The first twelve amendments were ratified within two years after the organization of the Federal Government, and none others were adopted until near the close of the Civil War. The discussion of the details of this department of the history is elaborate with more ample historical matter than in any other volume embracing the history of the action of all the States. The rest of the volume is devoted to the workings of the Constitution in the period embraced, together with the salient, practical and constitutional questions such as the Alien and Sedition laws, the Monroe doctrine, the Missouri Compromise and the events which led up to the war.

The third volume covers the period of the war and reconstruction with the important questions which have followed until 1895, embracing the history of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments.

MRS. CATHERWOOD'S AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

At the request of the editor of the Book News for a sketch of her life and literary work, Mary Hartwell Catherwood has sent them the following characteristic autobiography:

"I don't remember when I was born into a writing world, but do remember struggling to my feet with Dollard ('The Romance of Dollard,' 1889). A long period of toddling followed, diversified by many bumps.

"My dolls were a lady ('The Lady of St. John,' 1891), a white islander ('A White Islander,' 1893), a buckskin darling named Tonty ('The Story of Tonty,' 1890), a maid in honor named Jeanne ('Days of Jeanne d'Arc,' 1897). I built a mud village and called it Kaskaskia ('Old Kaskaskia,' 1893). I played chase Saint Castin ('The Chase of St. Castin,' 1894), and liked to hear stories about Mackinac ('Mackinac and Lake Stories,' 1899), or the swamp. All the time I grew with the spirit of an Illinois town.

"Progressing from grade to grade in school, weeping over my figures, alas!—but hugging my history books, even when the fashion came about to grin at them—

"I met my fate.

"His name is Lazarre. (Lazarre,' 1901.)

"Nothing further need be said.

"For all that could be said would sound like foolishness to people who never fell in love—never scratched the beloved's name on their slates—never realized the majesty of an American king."

"TARRY THOU TILL I COME."

A Religious Romance of More Than Usual Interest.

"WHEN in doubt, write a religious novel," would be sound advice to the author aspiring for fame and royalties. And this is said in no sneering tone. There is a sound and commendable basis for the interest aroused by works of fiction that deal with deep human emotions, and reverent treatment of the problems and doctrines that have vexed the mind of man since the first budding of civilization has at least the merit of being wrought upon no trivial theme. When such a work has the qualities of interest of plot and scholarly style it becomes literature. And for this reason there can be only commendation for the publishers who rescued George Croly's tale of The Wandering Jew from the bourne of neglected books where it had reposed for many years.

The novel now issued under the title, "Tarry Thou Till I Come," was published more than seventy years ago under the name "Salathiel, a Story of the Past, the Present and the Future." It had the favor of its generation and then was forgotten until its present revival. It is a well-wrought elaboration of the old legend of the contemner of Christ, his penance and his repentance, that has furnished the novelists of many lands with a theme for fiction. Few readers with the least knowledge of the essentials of literary art will echo the somewhat hysterical declaration of Gen. Lew Wallace that the book is one of the six greatest English novels. The tale is distinctly inferior in coherence and interest of plot to Eugene Sue's story on the same subject. And the style of the author is as stilted and florid as Bulwer at his worst. The fact that the Indiana author lists "The Last of the Barons," "Hypatia" and "Jane Eyre" also among the "six greatest English novels" renders further comment needless. Had he contented himself with saying that "Tarry Thou Till I Come" is in many respects a work of more literary merit than Ben Hur, he would have provoked fewer denials and increased respect for his artistic judgment.

It is enough to say of the novel that it is a worthy and interesting work that deserved its rescue from oblivion. It is presented in handsome form with excellent illustrations, and its pictures of the people and the life in Palestine are often striking in dramatic strength.

International Law To Date.

The Spanish War has resulted in the United States assuming a new and far more important position in the family of nations, and the knowledge of international law is a matter of much more interest and practical utility to our citizens, tending, as it does, to a clear understanding of the important questions which are constantly arising, and being publicly discussed.

Consequently the new volume on this subject just published by Prof. George G. Wilson and George Fox Tucker, is very opportune. The book is arranged in simple and logical form, and a legal education is not essential to its reading, enjoyment and understanding.

Opening with a brief history of the rise and development of international law from early times to the present, the authors touch upon many matters connected with the subject, such as conduct in war and in peace, the status of neutrals, the protection of property, and the rights and duties of foreign ministers, which latter subject is most fully dealt with. There is also a timely discussion of various treaties and international agreements, and of the treaty-making power.

This work, more than any other on the subject, treats of and sets out international law as it is to-day, rather than what it ought to be, and gives modern instances of its application and interpretation.

The book is a distinct addition to legal as well as general literature, and will be recognized as an authority on the subject, as the authors are well known in the legal world.

The Magazine Table.

The St. Nicholas Magazine announces a new departure for the coming year. It will no longer have serial stories, but every other issue of the magazine will contain a long story complete in that one number. The new departments, "Nature and Science" and "St. Nicholas League," have attracted the attention of educators everywhere, and have done much to increase the circulation of St. Nicholas.

Gen. F. V. Greene, in his article on the Regular Army, in the October Scribner's, says: "Of all the careers in our army there is no parallel to that of Jackson." This story of the Regular Army is noted for its crisp characterization of the leading Generals, and it gives for the first time a bird's-eye view of the development of our army as a fighting machine. Gen. Greene is not only an experi military man, but a military critic of distinction.

Cyrus Townsend Brady, author of "For Love of Country," etc., has just finished work on a short novel which will appear in the Century Magazine, beginning with November. It is a dramatic sketch in four parts, "Barbarossa," and will be illustrated by the accomplished German artist, Werner Zehme. Ernest Seton-Thompson will contribute "The Legend of the White Reindeer" to an early number of the same magazine. It is said to be a thrilling story of the North.

Reviewing "Views of An Ex-President," Col. Charles Denby, the late Minister to China, who was so conspicuous during the Spanish-American War for his statesmanship and diplomacy, published by the Bowen-Merrill Company, says:

"To the student of political and historical questions, this book fills a desideratum; every ordinary reader will peruse with pleasure its entertaining and widely instructive pages. It is needless to say that all these writings of Gen. Harrison are couched in the perfect English which dropped like pearls from the lips of the first advocate of Indiana."

"Business."

Friday Evening, Nov. 8.—Trading was not on as large a scale as yesterday, but the stock market continued strong and scored distinct advances. The features to-day were L. and N., Atchison, Pennsylvania, New York Central and other specialties, which were very strong. Heavy realizing went on, but the market was steady at the close. Money was firm at 3¾@4 per cent. on call, closing at 4. Sterling was firm. Governments were steady, and railroad bonds irregularly higher.

Wheat was strong, and closed at a shade advance. Corn was easier on profit taking, closing ½c lower. Oats also reacted. Provisions were steady. Cotton continued weak but steady.

In Chicago cattle were slow. Hogs were weak and 5c lower, but closed strong. Sheep were steady.

The Northern Pacific War.

The settlement of the trouble between the Northern and Union Pacific railroads by the election of a joint Morgan and Rockefeller directory of the Burlington is pregnant with significance. In the first place it brings to a close the most dangerous conflict of financial interests the United States or the world has known of recent years. In the next it snatches a large part of the fruits of the purchase of the Burlington out of the hands of James J. Hill and Pierpont Morgan and shares them with the Harriman and Rockefeller party and their banking interests as represented by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City Bank. This is the outcome of the biggest and most potential movement yet made in the noted "community of interests" plan. In this instance the plan has become abortive in a certain sense as the benefits which were intended exclusively for the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads must now be shared by their equally great rival, the Union Pacific. The originality and daring of the scheme and the manner in which it was executed stamps it as one of the most brilliant feats of the modern haute finance, and it will long mark an epoch in the entrance of the United States upon leadership as a monetary power.

From the manner in which the stock market has acted since the announcement that the settlement of the "irrepressible conflict" was under way it becomes evident that it has been more responsible for the depression in securities than the failure of the corn crop, or even the assassination of President McKinley. The shock of the discovery that the two great interests were at war over the possession of the control of the Northern Pacific resulted in a greater panic on the Stock Exchange on May 9, so far as the decline of values was concerned, than had been known for a generation. The desperation to which the Harriman party had gone, as demonstrated by the unwitting corner in Northern Pacific stock, instantly changed abounding confidence into acute panic, and though there came a vigorous rally the market has ever since been feverish and hesitating. The country is richer than ever and railroad properties have become more valuable all the time, but the shadow of the great quarrel has overspread the whole financial sky here and in Europe. Nothing to parallel it has been known in the past so capable of turning into depression a period in which prosperity continued with scarcely a check.

It has long been evident that both parties were too powerful and possessed such wide-spreading interests that they must adjust their differences, but the task has been a delicate one. Vast and complicated interests had to be reconciled. The enormous sum of money required to maintain the status quo had partially to be borrowed in Europe and is now being paid off at a rate only justified by the magnificent resources of the United States. When the last detail shall have been settled and when the huge fortune, of whose value the creator of the Count of Monte Cristo never dreamed, shall have been restored to the general circulation of the country, we shall hear no more of our international trade balance being exhausted. We shall then be at liberty to take up and finance the tremendous resources of the Western hemisphere and even lend a hand to the crippled financiers of Europe. In the meantime it is to be hoped the members of our haute finance have learned the useful lesson that vaulting ambition overleaps itself and falls on the other side. If they have not learned it they will be taught it by the people.

A Hard Fall For Addicks.

The President's appointment of Robert C. Houston to be Collector of the Port of Wilmington, is a hard blow to "Gas" Addicks, who has spent a million dollars in trying to buy a seat in the United States Senate, and who, in his failure to do that, has refused to permit anybody to go to the Senate from Delaware.

The shameless effort which this man has made to debauch the State is familiar to all who inform themselves of current political history. Time and again he has succeeded in buying enough members of the Legislature to block that body's action, though he has always fallen a few votes short of the senatorship. He has thus created an Addicks faction, which the decent Republicans and the Democrats have stubbornly fought, though unable to do more than obstruct it. Recently Addicks had counted much upon securing the recognition of the National Administration in the distribution of Federal patronage. This, with his money, he thought would so greatly weaken Republican opposition to him that he would be able to accomplish his purpose. He secured the backing of Mark Hanna and a large proportion of the National Committee, who formally recognized his facton at the last Republican National Convention, and he besieged the Administration to appoint his man to the Wilmington Collectorship. What President McKinley might have done it is useless to consider now; it is understood that what he did do was to indicate that he would appoint any man the two factions might agree on. President Roosevelt, however, has taken the bull by the horns, or the bronco by the saddle, and flatly appointed the choice of Addicks' opponents.

Addicks has now played and lost his last strong card. He still has money, but with this repudiation by the National Administration it is not likely that he can use his money to any better advantage than he has done heretofore.

The Cry of the "Beefers."

The information comes by way of Chicago from the far West that beefsteak is soon to become so dear that only the wealthy can eat it. There is a rift in the cloud in the statement that this will happen unless speedy action be taken by Congress. This is the gist of the whole matter. Somebody wants action from Congress; hence the alarming report.

The reasons assigned for the prospective beef famine are the increased demand and the contraction of the public grazing lands in the West. The matter of demand requires no action from Congress. Demand regulates itself. The desire to eat beef is probably no stronger than it has always been, but an increasing population will bring with it an augmentation of the number to be supplied. This increase has been going on since the organization of the Government, and is therefore nothing new. The vital point is the contraction of the public grazing lands of the West. This is what Congress must be expected to remedy.

These public grazing lands of the West are intended, not for the grazing of the flocks and herds of individuals or syndicates, but for the benefit of settlers. The owners, however, of vast numbers of cattle and sheep have taken possession of them, using them for grazing purposes. There have been at times conflicts between the cattle men and the sheep men, as to which shall have the use of property that belongs to neither. So far has their arrogance extended that they have sometimes been reported as making it dangerous for settlers to enjoy the use of land which they have purchased from the Government. The sheep men who enjoy this free pasturage, along with others that own immense flocks, are the men who constitute the mainstay of the Wool Growers' Association, which is so much in evidence when questions of tariff and reciprocity are under discussion. These demands are made in the name of American farmers, though they are not really farmers at all. Similarly the cattle men have much to say of the tax on hides, likewise in the name of the farmers, whom they do not represent.

It appears to have come to this, that the big syndicates announce that the people cannot have beef unless the contraction of this free pasturage area of Government lands is stopped. The ultimatum must be interpreted to mean, no free pasturage, no beef, except for the wealthy. Yet the producers of beef east of the Mississippi, and many of those on the west do not enjoy the benefit of free pasturage. Here in Kentucky a good many fine beef cattle are raised on farms worth $100 an acre. The men who seek to control congressional legislation in the name of the farmers are not asking anything for the cattle raisers east of the Mississippi, with whom they compete in the markets, but only for themselves. They have had the use of the vacant lands of the Government so long that they have almost come to think that they own them, and that the sale of such land to settlers is an injury, of which they have a right to complain. As usual, however, they put their pretensions on the broad ground of the public interest. Their special privileges are to be continued in order that the people may have beef.

Of course this is a false pretense. The territory of the United States is capable of producing beef enough for all the population, if normal prices are paid for it. A temporary scarcity, should there be any, is followed by a rise of prices and a consequent increase of the supply. The threatened famine is a mere device to promote the interests of certain individuals who wish to increase their profits at the public expense.

An Inconclusive Declaration.

The New York Board of Trade and Transportation, in selecting delegates to the Manufacturers' Convention, declared in favor of a clause of the Republican platform of 1900 touching reciprocity. This clause reads as follows:

"We favor the associated policy of reciprocity, so directed as to open our markets, on favorable terms, for what we do not produce in return for free foreign markets."

This declaration has no meaning of any practical importance. It would be just as easy to say, "We favor selling our wheat abroad for $10 a bushel." Many people would heartily indorse that as an abstract proposition, but they would know that it meant nothing practical. The price of wheat would not be changed by it. What we do not produce, with some unimportant exceptions, is already admitted free into the United States, so as to that class of commodities we have nothing to trade on. Nobody will give us anything for what is already theirs. Having free admission into our markets for such commodities as we do not produce, foreign countries will not make such articles the basis of any concessions in their markets for products exported from the United States.

It is easy enough to understand why a political party should put such a "plank" as that into a platform, because platforms are largely meant to amuse the people and are not to be taken too seriously. There was a special reason why the Republican party in 1900 should say something about reciprocity, and say it so vaguely as not to offend anybody. A Republican President had negotiated reciprocity treaties with several countries. The feeling in favor of their ratification was strong in some States, and opposition to them was pronounced in others. A section of the party demanded that the subject should not be ignored; another section insisted that the pending treaties should not be indorsed. Not wishing to offend either faction the convention took a middle course. It did not ignore reciprocity, but it kept off the grass so far as actual treaties were concerned, neither approving nor condemning them. It approved a sort of reciprocity that nobody could object to, except that it was impossible of realization. The impossible, however, never stands in the way of the draftsman of a platform if the convention is disposed to be amiable.

It is easy to see why this plank was put into a platform, but it is not so easy to see why a commercial body should adopt it. A Board of Trade is supposed to mean business, and business is generally transacted by saying something tangible, and not by using language to conceal thought or the want of it. The declaration of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation has no meaning worth mentioning.

"The anarchist propaganda in favor of a general strike," says a Barcelona dispatch, "is proving fruitful in Spain. Leading anarchists assert that committees throughout the world, representing 8,000,000 workers, are only awaiting the signal to inaugurate the universal strike proposed by the German workmen and approved by the American and European committees." Strikes are not successful at best, but what chance would a universal strike have if engineered by the anarchists? The world is growing very impatient of these vicious pests, and any cause which they should lead, however deserving otherwise, would go down with them.

Gen. Alger, says the Washington Post, "spoke only of 'some timid newspaper men'—not of the raging warriors who, on at least two bloody fields, inspired our troops, enlightened their officers, and, otherwise and generally, brought the war to a glorious and successful issue." Very well. But why not give the names of those timid newspaper men whom Gen. Alger has denounced as both cowards and liars? The General, when pinned down, says he had no one in mind when he wrote that bit of "history." Perhaps the Post may be able to refresh his mind.

King Edward's title, as modified by the Privy Council and sanctioned by himself, is to be: "Edwardus VII., Dei Gratia Britanniarum et Terrarum Transmarinarum quae in Ditione sunt Britannica Rex, Fidei Defensor, Indae Imperator." This is pretty "pompous," but still it is several links behind the titles of almost any of the officers of our American secret societies.

Congressman Grosvenor is reported as saying that "the returns mean that the protective tariff is no more to be revised or modified than the Ten Commandments." If the Republicans revise the tariff as they have revised the Ten Commandments they will smash it to splinters.

NOTES OF THE NEW YORK CAMPAIGN.

Mortgaged Theater To Bet.

Senator Timothy D. Sullivan, after putting all the ready money he had at his command upon the chances of Edward M. Shepard's success, raised further capital to bet upon the Tammany candidate by placing a mortgage of $100,000 upon his interest in the Dewey Theater on Fourteenth street. From the same source from which this information came, there was also the report that the Senator, so sure was he of the success of the Tammany ticket, wagered the whole proceeds of the mortgage in addition to other large sums upon Mr. Shepard and his fellow-nominees.

The mortgage on the theater, it was added, was executed by the Metropolitan Savings Bank. Assemblyman Timothy P. Sullivan confirmed this mortgage story yesterday afternoon.

"It is true," he said, "that the Senator borrowed money on the Dewey Theater to bet on Shepard. I understand that the amount he got was $100,000 and that he put the whole wad on Shepard. He felt that the chance to make a big haul was too good a one to let go, so he put all the money he could get at short notice upon Shepard."

It is understood that the Senator's bets were placed by Joe Vendig.—[New York Sun.

A Deaf Mute In Politics.

A story concerning a deaf mute and a Republican worker was being told in Big Tom Foley's Second Assembly district Tuesday. The deaf mute went to the Republican worker and wrote on a piece of paper: "Tammany wants me to vote for them. What shall I do?"

The Republican worker replied:

"Get as much money as you can."

The deaf mute went away. In half an hour he came back, and this time he wrote:

"I have got $3. What shall I do now?"

"Vote the Republican ticket."

This was the deaf mute's answer:

"I will."—[New York Sun.

Bettor Forbidden To Vote.

The rare case of a man having the right to vote denied by the Supreme Court because he had bet on the election was witnessed Tuesday. The clerks have no recollection of a similar case in this department. Alexander Rogers, of 308 West Twenty-sixth street, had bet two boxes of cigars on the election of Shepard for Mayor, and when he went to vote in the Sixteenth election district of the Ninth Assembly district, some one who heard of the bet challenged the vote and the inspectors refused to accept it. The Tammany lawyers had him brought straightway down to the Supreme Court on an alternative writ of mandamus. The man had admitted to the inspectors that he had made the bet, but the legal form the case took in the Supreme Court was that it was an agreement to make a bet and the bet had not been actually made in law because the cigars had not been put up. Justice Giegerich told him he had no right to vote under Subdivision 10 of Section 34 of the election law, saying that a person cannot vote:

"Who shall make or become directly or indirectly interested in any bet or wager depending upon the result of the election."—[New York Sun.

Two Millions Bet.

Probably no municipal election was made the medium of such heavy speculation as that which closed Tuesday night with the success of the fusion ticket.

It is conservatively estimated by good judges that $2,000,000 was wagered on the battle for the mayoralty of New York.

As far as can be learned authoritatively the heaviest individual winner on Mr. Low's election is John W. Gates, whose profits are put down at $100,000, while the man who suffered the most financially by backing Mr. Shepard is David Johnson. Though the latter undoubtedly placed a lot of syndicate money, it is known that he had more than $100,000 of his own staked on the result. The winnings of George Wheelock, a bookmaker, will probably foot up $70,000. Wheelock acted as agent for many big betting firms in and out of the city.

Gottfried Walbaum has won more than $60,000. James R. Keene's son-in-law, Talbot J. Taylor, is known to have won $25,000. Jockey Field is $30,000 richer. "Pittsburg Phil" will take $25,000.

State Senator Timothy D. Sullivan was so sanguine that Mr. Shepard would be victorious that he practically wagered his Dewey Theater on the result, mortgaging the property for $100,000. According to his story he wagered only a few thousand dollars, using most of the money in the campaign. Richard Croker, Frank Farrell, John H. Carroll, Joe Vendig and Patrick H. McCarren are known to have been heavy backers of Mr. Shepard.

At the Hoffman House Tuesday evening before the result was known there was a scene of tumult. It was estimated that fully $50,000, mostly in small wagers, was laid in the lobby of this hotel. The largest wager was $2,000 on Shepard against $2,500 on Low, Davy Johnson taking the Shepard end.—[New York telegram to the Baltimore Sun.

* * *

Croker's Loss Nearly $125,000.

In addition to prestige and patronage Richard Croker lost nearly $125,000 over Tuesday's election. For once in his life he was far wrong in judgment, and as he freely wagered his wealth his confidence cost him a large fraction of his fortune.

Other Tammany leaders, following Mr. Croker's example, bet on the election of Edward M. Shepard as if they had returns in their possession showing him to be a winner. Early in the campaign the information went out: "We can't lose; any odds are good odds." The result of this was that more than $1,000,000 was transferred from the pockets of Tammany favorites to the pockets of their opponents.

Mr. Croker's exact losses are known only to himself. There is a rumor, believed by many, that the Tammany chieftain was betting early in the campaign through commissioners, and that it was his money that made Mr. Shepard a false favorite a fortnight ago. What is known of fact is that one of the best known gamblers of this city handled $100,000 belonging to Mr. Croker, all of which was bet on Mr. Shepard Saturday and Monday. In addition, Mr. Croker bet $8,000 against $10,000, Maurice Mendham taking the Low end of the wager. Several other and smaller wagers push the total amount he is known to have lost up toward $125,000.

Owing to the peculiar turn the odds took the Tammany bettors found it impossible to "hedge off" any of their wagers to advantage. When the campaign opened they thought Shepard would be a 2 to 1 favorite before election. They hastened to take the early odds, and were glad to get wagers at 5 to 4. Then came the reverse, and when the betting closed Low was a favorite at 5 to 4, and the Tammany plungers had no opportunity to recoup their losses.—[New York Herald.

Mrs. Gilbert Sedgwick Cowan, one of the June brides, was entertained yesterday afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock at one of the handsomest receptions of the season, given by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Andrew Cowan.

It was the first large entertainment given Mrs. Cowan since her marriage, and fully 300 guests called during the receiving hours.

The house was beautifully decorated in the evergreens of the season—cultivated and Southern smilax, palms and ferns—artistically arranged in all the rooms. The drawing-room, where the receiving party stood, was decorated in white chrysanthemums; American Beauties were in the library, and the dining-room was in yellow chrysanthemums.

The refreshment table was beautifully appointed, with a vase of yellow chrysanthemums in the center, lighted by silver candelabra with yellow candles and shades.

The guest of honor was charmingly gowned in white lace, over taffeta, and wore a white pompon in her hair.

RICHARD CROKER'S STORY.

A Reminiscence of the Turf Supplies Him With An Illustration of His Position As Defeated Chief.

Richard Croker was at the Democratic Club Wednesday evening, and he told stories about the peculiarities of race horses. He also denied the report that he would go abroad before the holidays, and that John F. Carroll would take his place as the leader of Tammany Hall.

"The story was circulated by a man who seemed to want to give out such information," said Mr. Croker. "There is nothing in the story, and no one was ever authorized to give out any such news."

"When do you intend to go abroad?" was asked.

"I don't know. I may go to Carlsbad after the holidays."

"Will you leave the city for a few days' rest?"

"What's the difference. No one will pay any attention to me now," said Mr. Croker with a laugh. "They will all flock around the winner. It does not make much difference what I do."

Then Mr. Croker, who was in a jolly mood, said:

"I remember a race horse named Sir Gotham, who was a beautiful animal. The people crowded around this race horse while he was in the paddock one race day and they talked about the splendid lines of his legs. They told of his wonderful conformation and what a great race horse he was. Dave Gideon had a horse in the race, and so had I. Our horses were ignored before the start. Gideon said: 'Are you going to let this horse take a walkover?' I said: 'No, my horse will run the race.' The result was that Gideon's horse ran first and my horse ran second, and the great horse in the paddock ran last.

"When that horse was brought back after the race the crowd that had looked at his magnificent build paid no attention to him, and our two selling-platers were admired because they were winners. That is the way of the world."—[New York Tribune.

STOPPED GAMBLING AT A CHURCH FAIR.

Jeffersonville Police Commissioners Will Not Allow Paddle-wheels To Be Operated---Mayor Rader To Rescue.

The Board of Police Commissioners in Jeffersonville has stirred a hornets' nest about its ears. The women of St. Anthony's Catholic church are giving a bazar at Spieth's Theater. The opening night was Thursday. Police Capt. Applegate was on the scene early to inform those in charge that prosecution would follow if a paddle wheel was run. It happens that this device realizes most of the money for the managers of the bazar. The women of St. Anthony's church had secured donations of merchandise to be raffled by means of the paddle wheel. When the officer appeared and announced his mission little was said, but trouble began to accumulate in a hurry.

Yesterday Police Commissioner H. M. Frank received a call from a committee. Other paddle wheels had been permitted they said and they wanted to know why St. Anthony's church was not allowed to run its fair as it had in the past and as had other bazars in years gone by. Commissioner Frank said the board had adopted a resolution and that ended the matter.

Mayor Rader chanced to be close by when the committee had the conference with Commissioner Frank.

"I am in favor of a paddle wheel if the women of St. Anthony's church desire to run it," said Mayor Rader.

Things were breaking just about right for the committee at this time, and Police Commissioner Frank was given to understand that if he did not recall the objectionable resolution he would hear from it in many ways. Commissioner Frank conducts a dry goods store.

A Courier-Journal reporter questioned Commissioner Frank and he had this to say:

"It's gambling. I am conscientious. The paddle wheel cannot run. The Commissioners unanimously decided the matter. That's all."

Commissioner Schimpff said practically the same thing.

When Commissioner Frank was asked concerning Mayor Rader's attitude he answered:

"There are other courts."

The management of the bazar, following Mayor Rader's suggestion, will place the wheel in charge of men, and if arrests are made the "offenders" will at once be released by Mayor Rader.

TROUBLE CAUSED BY TELEPHONE GOSSIP.

Neighbors In Clark County Fall Out Because Ears Hear Things Not Intended For Them.

The Overland Telephone Company, of which Jesse McKinley, of Clark county, Ind., is the head, is extending its lines near Jeffersonville, and the intention is to give telephonic communication to as many farmers as possible at an extremely low price. Just now the matter of "party lines" is receiving attention. The company will doubtless profit by the experience of the Farmers' Telephone Company in an adjoining county.

This company has been in existence some time, but unless several ruptures are smoothed as a result of eavesdropping, made possible by the party line system of placing several telephones on one circuit, it may soon find its revenue considerably reduced.

Farmers' wives are just like other people in the matter of discussing each other's affairs, etc. So it became a custom for one housewife to call up a neighbor to say something intended for her ears alone, but which invariably was listened to by others. Frequently the woman under discussion was on a party line. Remarks heard by eavesdroppers set their souls literally afire. Husbands, sons and big brothers were appealed to all around, and there is a lively controversy in progress. Neighbors have become enemies, and stock in the Farmers' Telephone Company is away below par.

STATUE OF JEFFERSON TO BE UNVEILED TO-DAY

Simple But Impressive Ceremonies Will Make the Occasion a Notable One.

At noon to-day Sir Moses Ezekiel's statue of Thomas Jefferson, in front of the Courthouse, will be unveiled. The figure itself is of bronze, nine feet in height and stands on a base made in the form of the Liberty bell.

On the north, south, east and west side of the bell, stand figures representing, Liberty, Justice, Equality and the Brotherhood of Man.

The ceremonies to-day will be simple, but in character worthy of the event. The oration will be delivered by former Gov. William O. Bradley. The statue will be accepted on behalf of the city by Mayor Charles P. Weaver.

A chorus composed of the best voices in Louisville will render a number of the national airs. The large grandstand will be filled with the speakers and the several hundred invited guests. Before the ceremonies, the Louisville Military Band will give a concert.

THE ROLL CALL IN KENTUCKY.

Offsets Defeat.

[St. Louis Republic, Dem.]

This good news from Kentucky and Maryland much more than offsets the news of Republican victory in Nebraska, and the situation following Tuesday's elections may be contemplated with satisfaction by the Democrats. The most important teaching of the general result is that the Democratic organization is sound and adequate, that the party spirit is vital, and that Democratic principles capably proclaimed and presented before the people may be counted upon for victory in the congressional elections of 1902 and in the presidential elections of 1904.

An Important Gain.

[Pittsburg Post, Dem.]

The Democrats of Kentucky win a majority of about sixty on joint ballot, thus securing a United States Senator in place of Senator Deboe, a Republican accident. They also elected their Mayor in Louisville, which is an important gain.

And So Are the Democrats.

[Pittsburg Times, Rep.]

The Democratic victory in Kentucky shows that the Democratic election laws are working very well in the State.

Restoration Complete.

[Washington Post, Ind.]

The fictitious Republican establishment in Kentucky fell into ruins. The Democratic restoration is complete.

Hit In a Tender Spot.

[Wheeling Intelligencer, Rep.]

Kentucky? Well, we feel sorry for her.

THE COLOR LINE IN FLORIDA.

[Jacksonville, Fla., Telegram to the New York Times.]

After a spirited fight, the City Council has just passed an ordinance which separates the races on the street cars of Jacksonville, and clothes the conductors and motormen on the cars with police authority. There is considerable suppressed excitement among the negroes on account of this law. The negro population of Jacksonville is slightly over 50 per cent. of the total, and there is one negro in the Council.

There have been several disturbances on the cars recently, and there has been general complaint on the part of the whites about the attitude of negro passengers in many instances. The new law is the outcome.

JUST SUPPOSE—

[Pittsburg Post.]

If Gov. Durbin's example should be generally followed, the United States would be converted into a protectorate of crime. Suppose Czolgosz had escaped from New York and taken refuge in Kentucky, and the Governor of Kentucky should have refused to honor New York's demand that he should be given up for trial? What would have been thought of that by the Republican champions of the Kentucky fugitive from justice? Yet the two crimes were almost identical. In some respects, the murder of Goebel was the more dastardly and deliberate.

GOV. DURBIN AND THE FUGITIVES.

[Binghamton Leader.]

He has no right to violate the Constitution; and it is clear that, in doing so, he is acting under the influence he unwarrantably assumes to be in control of the Kentucky judiciary. Nothing but blind partisanism could prevent this Governor from seeing the wrongfulness, the viciousness of his act in defying and violating the Constitution he is under oath to uphold.

ROUGH ON THE TAILORS.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

The death of Li Hung Chang will be a sad blow to the Chinese yellow jacket makers.

Tammany Saves the Coroners.

[New York Telegram to the Pittsburg Dispatch.]

Out of all its nominees, Tammany succeeded in making but one clean sweep. Fate ironically decreed that the six Tammany candidates for the office of Coroner in Manhattan and the Bronx might win—perhaps to enable Mr. Croker to make his own autopsy on his dead ticket and his administration, which is to die on December 31 of the year.

INCREASES ITS CAPITAL.

Commercial Pacific Cable Company Files Certificates In New York.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 8.—The Commercial Pacific Cable Company recently incorporated to operate a cable line between this country and the Philippine island, to-day filed with the Secretary of State a certificate of increase of capital from $100,000 to $3,000,000.

AT THE THEATERS.

MACAULEY'S—"The Climbers;" matinee and evening.

TEMPLE—The Meffert Stock Company in "The Private Secretary," with vaudeville; matinee and evening.

AVENUE—"The Night Before Christmas;" matinee and evening.

Amelia Bingham and her company, in "The Climbers," will close their engagement at Macauley's with two performances to-day. The play and the company are deserving of the hearty support given them by excellent audiences.

Beginning with Thursday evening next, at Macauley's, a special production of Hall Caine's play, "The Christian," will be presented, with a special cast, including Edward J. Morgan in his original character of John Storm, and Miss Elsie Leslie as Glory Quayle, the part made famous by Viola Allen. The present production is said to be fully equal to the original presentation and the stagecraft is as evident as ever in the realistic groupings, and especially in the stirring mob scenes and the humorous slum-mission gathering, which has such a dramatic tableau as a climax.

Two performances of "The Private Secretary" will be given at the Temple to-day, closing the week's run. For the coming week "Doris" is under rehearsal, while the vaudeville bill is one of the biggest yet arranged for.

"The Night Before Christmas" will close at the Avenue to-night. A matinee will be given this afternoon.

"Man's Enemy" will play a week's engagement at the Avenue next week, beginning with a matinee to-morrow.

Lillian Nordica has been engaged by Manager James B. Camp to give a song recital at the Auditorium on the evening of December 16. Nordica is fresh from her success at Beyreuth, and her visit to Louisville will be one of deep interest to lovers of music.

WILL BUILD ELECTRIC ROAD.

Company of Bloomfield, Ind., Capitalists Secure Franchise.

Bloomfield, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A company composed of local capitalists, including D. J. Terhune and W. M. Moss, of Linton; Harvey Laughlin, of Lyons, and O. W. Shryer, G. H. Hendren and John F. Slinkard, of Bloomfield, has secured a franchise from the Board of Commissioners of Greene county to construct an electric railway at the side of certain public highways of the county, to connect the towns of Bloomfield, Elliston, Worthington, Switz City, Lyons, Linton, Jasonville, Midland and perhaps others. The company has also secured the right to use the streets of Linton and Bloomfield. The power will be furnished by the light plants of Worthington, Linton and Bloomfield.

CHANGES HANDS.

Baltimore Syndicate Buys a San Francisco Street Railway.

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—The control of the Market Street Railway Company has passed to a Baltimore syndicate represented by G. R. Webb, who has departed for Baltimore in possession of the papers necessary to complete the transaction. Securities representing a value of $250,000 were deposited by Mr. Webb as a guarantee on the part of the purchasers. Messrs. Hellman, Huntington and other large holders of the road's stock have agreed to sell their shares at their par value and are to receive the price of their stock on the first of next March, when the Baltimore people will be ready to assume charge of the road.

AN OPTION SECURED

On Paducah Marine Ways By Pittsburg Coal Combine.

Paducah, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The report that the Pittsburg Coal combine has secured an option on the Paducah marine ways and is negotiating for the purchase or lease of the inner shore of Tennessee Island, to be used as a harbor, is confirmed.

As proposed the combine intends to use the ways for a summer repair harbor. It operates about forty towboats and several hundred barges. Their regular pay-roll here would amount to from $3,000 to $4,000 a month the year round. In the summer it would amount to great deal more. The closing of negotiations will mean much to Paducah.

WILL FIGHT CRACKER TRUST.

Independent Bakers May Form An Organization.

Cincinnati, O., Nov. 8.—A call has been issued for a meeting of independent cracker bakeries to be held in this city next Monday. The object is stated in the circulars to form an organization to resist the control of the cracker and biscuit trade by what is known as the cracker trust. B. H. Kroger, of this city, who has become conspicuous by cutting in two the prices of bread and crackers here, and who is about to extend his methods to New York City, denies that the new organization is to be anything more than an ordinary trade organization.

OIL COMBINE FORMED

To Secure Control of Petroleum Properties In California.

San Francisco, Nov. 8.—The Associated Oil Company, organized to acquire petroleum properties in California, and capitalized for $40,000,000, is making rapid progress in its enterprise, says the Chronicle. During the last two months the companies owning oil-producing properties in Kern county have held meetings and considered the propositions of the Associated Oil Company. The work of appraising the oil land and improvements was completed last week, the aggregate being between $21,000,000 and $22,000,000.

TENNESSEE OIL COMPANY

Will Develop Lands In Rutherford and Bedford Counties.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The charter of the Middle Tennessee Oil Company was filed with the Secretary of State to-day. The capital stock is fixed at $100,000. State Treasurer Folk is one of the incorporators. The company has been organized to develop lands in Rutherford and Bedford counties. It has leases on 2,000 acres of land in those counties and proposes to begin at once operations of development. The Board of Directors will, it is said, include Charles H. Shaw, of Cincinnati, general counsel of the Standard Oil Company.

A New Indiana Bank.

Seymour, Ind., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A new State bank has been organized at Brownstown, this county, with a capital stock of $30,000, which will probably be increased to $50,000 before the institution opens for business next January. The officers are James F. Keach, president, and Alex. Greger, cashier. With this Jackson county will have two national and four State banks and one loan and trust company.

MANY CALLED,

But Few Voted, the Claim They Make.

NEGROES ON THE STAND.

GIVE TESTIMONY AGAINST ALLEGED ELECTION CONSPIRATORS.

DEAD MAN TO BE INTRODUCED.

That Is, If Judge Evans Overrules the Objection of the Defense.

WILL BE RESUMED TO-DAY.

An effort will be made by District Attorney Hill in the Federal Court this morning to introduce a dead man—that is, the testimony of a man of color who has passed to the great beyond.

Henry Jackson was one of the witnesses against H. H. Mullen, Robert Locke and J. J. O'Neil, under indictment for conspiracy to intimidate and prevent colored voters from exercising the right of franchise in the Goebel-Taylor gubernatorial election in November, 1899, and the third trial of the case is now on before Judge Walter Evans. Jackson, who was a darky, gave testimony alleged to be of a damaging character to the defendants, but two months ago he went to a higher court.

The trial of the case dragged along through the afternoon, the jury, Judge, lawyers, defendants, witnesses and audience all but giving evidence of their weariness by yawning, when Mr. Hill asked the bailiff to call Henry Jackson.

"Henry Jackson!" The voice of Marshal James' assistant rang through the district chambers.

"Henry Jackson!" he repeated at the door into the corridar.

Then as suddenly, as it was solemn, there came the words:

"Henry Jackson? He is dead."

The ears of the lawyers for the defense were pricked up in expectancy. Mr. Hill looked a little surprised. Then he remembered. Of course, Jackson was dead.

"Call the man who said Jackson was dead." And Ben Hayden appears. Hayden swears Jackson died two months ago. The counsel for defendants are all attention in their law books. Mr. Hill asks Stenographer Furnos to look up in his notes the testimony of Jackson. Swagar Sherley, for the defense, finds what he wants in legal lore and looks pleasant. Mr. Hill must smell a rat, as he pleads another business engagement and asks an adjournment until 10 o'clock this morning. The court agrees and the jury is placed in custody of the marshal. Mr. Hill hints to the defense the steps he proposes to take to get the testimony of Jackson before the jury, but the defense is wise, and Mr. Hill may not find out for several weeks just what Mr. Sherley found in those law books that made him look so pleasant.

What the Day Brought Forth.

The taking of testimony was begun at 10 o'clock. The first few minutes were lively. Mr. Hill asked to reintroduce R. T. Anderson, colored; John A. Armstrong and John B. Baskin, the witnesses who testified Thursday, so he could propound questions not asked at the former examination. The defendants' counsel objected, but Judge Evans ruled in favor of the District Attorney, stating that while the practice was unusual, the defense would not be taken by surprise in the evidence sought to be adduced. This proved to be true, as the witnesses were only interrogated relative to certain booths brought to the polling place.

The first new witness of the morning was Gen. Basil W. Duke. He testified that he had visited the polling place at West and Green streets twice in the morning and once in the afternoon; that no voting was going on the first two times, and that there was great excitement at the place, a large crowd having congregated.

In the cross-examination Judge Gordon sought to draw from the witness an answer relative to political conditions in the election. Judge Evans refused to permit this.

Judge Gordon contended that the line of his examination was in accordance with the charge made in the indictment. He wanted to show that the Democrats were acting as they did because the negroes at the polling place were known to be members of the Republican party, and not by reason of their "race, color and previous condition of servitude," as charged in the indictment. Judge Evans held that party affiliation had nothing to do with the case.

Gen. Duke stated that he knew the precinct was Republican, but that he could not say that the people congregated there were voters. In fact, his personal knowledge was to the effect that there were people at the polls who were not voters therein.

* * *

Election Figures Read.

Deputy County Clerk George E. Schenke was introduced. He read from the stub books and registration books the figures shown thereby. The total registration was 249—211 colored, 36 white. Two voters had not given their color. Ninety-nine votes were cast at the election, 84 colored and 15 white.

The testimony of Mr. John R. Watts was practically what Messrs. Baskin and Armstrong had given. He had notified those assembled at West and Walnut that the voting of that precinct was being conducted at West and Green. In detailing the presentation by Mr. Baskin of Anderson's credentials as an officer of the election, the witness gave a conversation with Crites, the sheriff, who died since his indictment. To this the defense objected and asked that the testimony be excluded, but "for the present" Judge Evans overruled the objection.

Mr. Watts saw both white men and negroes enter the polling place. For some quite a long time was consumed in voting. One negro took eleven minutes, another twice as long. There were fifty or sixty negroes in line when the polls closed. The District Attorney asked who called the voters into the polling place, and was told that Mr. Crites did. The defense objected, but again "for the present" they were overruled.

Mr. Watts was then allowed to give in detail Crites' alleged method of calling voters by pointing with his cane first to the head of one line and then to the other.

The witness admitted on cross-examination that he had assisted Mr. Hill in the preparation of the case. Then Judge Gordon began a list of questions to show that the witness had contradicted himself. Mr. Watts had said he saw white men enter the voting place. Judge Gordon read him his testimony at a former trial, in which Mr. Watts said he saw no white men vote, according to the best of his recollection. Mr. Watts did not remember making such a statement. In fact, he recalled now that some white men did vote.

Judge Gordon got the witness to admit that his recollection was more accurate shortly after an occurrence than later, but it wasn't so in this instance.

Mr. Watts on being told that he could stand aside, asked if he would be needed any more, when Judge Gordon said in an undertone: "No, sir; I think I have got all out of you I want to get."

* * *

Mr. Hill Angered.

This riled Mr. Hill, who objected to such remarks before the jury. Judge Gordon explained that he did not aim for the jurors to hear. A little crossfiring was indulged in and both sides were admonished by the court.

Messrs. Herbert Mengel and Henry M. Flexner corroborated the testimony given by Messrs. Armstrong and Baskin on Thursday. John Macpherson also gave evidence in corroboration.

C. L. Forsythe was next called. He said the polling place was changed to West and Green because a dairy was being conducted at 1024 West Walnut street by two girls, who objected to the election taking place there. He stated that he had voted within a half hour after the polls were opened. He contradicted Anderson's testimony by denying he had gone into the voting place from the side door.

Tom Johnson, Martin J. Inglert, Mr. Buckley and Thomas R. Gilchrist, all white men, testified as to the length of time it took them to vote. They were called in turn from the head of the line. Benjamin Shrader waited a half hour before he got to vote.

H. H. Mestemacher conducted a hardware business where the voting was carried on. J. R. Jenkins boarded in the house, and he and Jenkins had voted at the noon hour without going outside and getting in line. The officers did not object.

R. Krebs and Owen G. Magness got into line and were called in regular order.

At this juncture Judge Evans stated that there was no law known to the court which required the formation of a line or which made it the imperative duty of the Sheriff to call from one line or the other. This was important, inasmuch as Mr. Hill had sought to show that the election officers had discriminated in favor of certain men.

* * *

In Line All Day.

Henry Allen said he stayed in line all day without getting to vote. During the time the line dwindled from a square's length to several yards.

Simon Dunmore, colored, was at the polls twice, but did not get in time and did not vote.

Frank Brooks, colored, admitted on cross-examination that the voting in the precinct had been done for several years at West and Green streets.

Daniel Goodall, colored, was in line two hours, but didn't get to vote. The record of the former trial showed that the witness had stated before that he came to the polls at 2 o'clock. He would not say that both white and colored men were left in line when the polls closed, although he had previously said so.

Ben Hayden, colored, didn't get to vote.

Thos Kennedy, colored, said there were a "heap of people" in the line when the polls were closed and he was one of them.

Mr. Ben Watts said he was at West and Walnut at 6:45 o'clock, a. m., and saw O'Neil there, and then went to West and Green, where he saw O'Neil inside the polling place at 7:20. There were fifty to seventy-five men in the lines when the polls closed. All were black. On cross-examination, Mr. Watts was asked if at a former trial he did not say that he did not see any of the defendants at West and Walnut. Mr. Watts could not remember.

Lace Bibs, colored, got in line between 8 and 9 o'clock, but didn't get to vote.

Walter Williams was one of the colored men of the precinct who exercised his right of franchise. He lost ten or twelve minutes in being granted the privilege. He had been asked six times to give his name. He thought Mullen did the asking.

D. W. Barnett, colored, was as lucky as Williams in getting to record his vote, and luckier in not having to stay in the booth so long, as he had pointed out to Clerk Mullen (Mullen wasn't the clerk) his name on the registration check book.

Wm. Phelps was not so fortunate even as Williams. He went at 7 o'clock and stayed until 3, before reaching the "head of the line." He admitted that he had been allowed to vote as soon as identified.

Daniel Allen is an old darky, so old, in fact, that when he got inside the polling place, he forgot where he lived, when asked the question. As soon as he went out and learned where his residence was located he was permitted to cast his vote in peace.

Several witnesses were then called, who were found to be absent. Ed. Blankneal, colored, didn't get to vote, he said, though in line first from 8:30 o'clock to 11 and then from 2 o'clock to 4. A long line was left at poll-closing time and to his regret he was in the column.

Last Witness Called.

Henry Jackson was next called, but didn't respond. Ben Hayden swore he knew Jackson was dead, whereupon District Attorney Hill asked for adjournment until 10 o'clock this morning, because he had to get ready for a session of the grand jury this morning. An attempt will be made this morning to introduce Jackson's testimony. The Government will perhaps have five or six more witnesses. The defense will put fifteen or twenty men on the stand.

The case will probably be given to the jury this afternoon.

KING'S DAUGHTERS MEETING IS POSTPONED.

Will Be Held In January On Account of Death In Hostess' Family.

Mrs. Mary Thompson Howe, of Jackson, Miss., secretary of the International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons, has sent the following circular letter to Mrs. J. Will Jefferson, chairman, with regard to the interstate conference, which was to have been held in Savannah, Ga., this fall:

Because of the recent bereavement in the family of Miss Reid, of Savannah, State secretary of the Georgia branch, and by whose invitation delegates to the interstate conference were to be entertained, it has been thought best to postpone the meeting of the conference until the last of January.

You will be duly notified of the exact date as soon as it is decided upon.

The railway companies have kindly agreed to allow the same reduced rates to prevail as for the original date.

Begging that you will notify all persons in your State, who have contemplated going to Savannah, of this unavoidable postponement, and trusting that your interest in the coming conference may not be lessened thereby.

ONE DEAD,

Three Others Injured In Boiler Explosion

AT CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

CAUSE OF THE ACCIDENT IS NOT KNOWN.

GEORGE FURSTING THE VICTIM

A boiler owned by Louis Just, contractor for the Central stock yards, let go yesterday afternoon, killing one man and slightly injuring three others. George Fursting's head was partly blown away and he was otherwise mangled. Louis Just, owner of the boiler, was slightly hurt, as were two workmen, J. Young and John Douh, who happened to be standing near at the time of the explosion.

The cause of the explosion could not be determined. It had always been supposed that the boiler was in excellent repair. It was owned by L. Just & Co., who had the contract for erecting the Central stock yards. In order to hasten the work, Mr. Just erected a small sawmill at some distance from the scene of work. The works consisted of a boiler, portable engine and saws, the whole outfit being covered with a temporary plank roof. There were no sides to the affair. The mill was used as a convenience for cutting the heavy timbers. It had not been in operation for several days and it was generally supposed that the work for it had been all done.

Fursting took charge of the engine to cut off a few heavy timbers. It is not known whether or not he was responsible for the accident.

The boiler let go at just 2:30 o'clock with a tremendous explosion. The temporary shed was wrecked. When men from the Central Stock Yards arrived they found Fursting dead. The top of his head was blown off and part of one side was gone. Just was cut slightly about the head. The other two men injured were knocked down and bruised.

WEEK OF PREPARATION.

Walnut-Street Baptists Getting Ready For the Dixon Meeting.

The week's preparatory services of the Walnut-street Baptist church for the "Dixon Meetings," which will begin Tuesday, November 12, and continue for ten days, were closed yesterday. The Rev. Dr. T. T. Eaton, the pastor of the church, has conducted all the services. The subjects of his sermons have been with a special view to next week's meeting. Last night's sermon presented the remedy. On Sunday and Monday nights, Dr. Eaton will continue the general line of thought by preaching on "Repentance" and "Remission."

The week's work has resulted in twelve additions to the church and of these five were accepted last night.

The Rev. Dr. A. C. Dixon, who will conduct the ten-day's meeting, is widely known in evangelistic work and has taken high rank as a pulpit speaker.

Sunday-School Lesson

ISRAEL OPPRESSED IN EGYPT—Exodus i., 1-14.

By Rev. J. E. Gilbert, D. D., Secretary American Society of Religious Education.

INTRODUCTION.—The book of Exodus, from which we shall study until the close of the calendar year, opens a new chapter in sacred history. For twenty-five centuries God had administered grace under the patriarchal dispensation as recorded in the books of Genesis and of Job. The father had been the priest of the family, and his blessing under the covenant had been bestowed upon his son. Now a more imposing dispensation, the Levitical, is to be established, and along with that the chosen people were to be formed into a nation and settled in a country. This change would give new influence to the cause of God by raising up a secular power for its support and advancement, and it would hasten the fulfillment of all the promises made to Abraham. (Gen. xvii., 4.) In recent lessons we have seen how the Israelites went into Egypt. Now we shall learn how they went out. Their stay was for their schooling. There removal was for their development.

TRIBES.—(Verses 1 to 5.) The book begins with a summary account of those who entered the land in the time of the famine, B. C. 1706, an aggregate of seventy souls. These were all the descendants of Jacob, the grandson of Abraham, the heir of the covenant. (Gen. xxvii., 29.) They were enumerated, not as so many individuals, but as children of Jacob's sons, and the names of those sons are here given: Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulun, Joseph, Benjamin, Dan, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher. It will be seen by comparison (Gen. xxix. and xxx.) that these are the children of two wives and two concubines, not arranged in the order of their birth, but in an interesting manner; the six sons of Leah, two of Rachel, two of Bilhah and two of Zilpah. What is especially noteworthy is the fact that these were heads of tribes, so that the nation founded upon them was to be a confederation in which these tribes should be perpetually recognized (Acts xxvi., 7), each with a mission predicted by Jacob (Gen. xlix., 3-17), forming a people of one blood but in twelve parts.

CHANGES.—(Verses 6 to 8.) The historian passes over in silence the period following the close of Genesis, and here notes the changed conditions of the time about which he is to write. First, Joseph, who had been Prime Minister of the country for eighty years (Gen. xli., 46; l., 26), was dead. He who had been a father and protector to Israel, for so long a time (Gen. l., 21), was removed so that his counsel and care could no longer be had. Second, the seventy souls that came into the land had greatly multiplied and prospered during their sojourn. They had increased in worldly goods and spread forth in every direction until their presence and influence were everywhere felt. Third, the King who had elevated Joseph had died, and one had come in his place who knew nothing of the wisdom, the virtue and the executive ability of the Hebrew statesman to whom the land had been so greatly indebted. This had come largely through the fact that oriental monarchs cared little for their predecessors.

JEALOUSY.—(Verse 9.) It is not possible for a native population to contemplate with approval the increasing numbers and influence of foreigners. Whatever may be the relative worth of the two classes, the latter will certainly be regarded as inferior. At any rate the former will consider themselves as possessed of superior or natural rights which must be protected. Illustrations of this were seen in the movements of the American or "Know-nothing" party in the United States forty to fifty years ago, the spirit of which still survives in some hearts. The King of Egypt beheld with jealous eyes this vast Hebrew people scattered up and down through his dominions. "They are more and mightier than we," he said to his courtiers. (Psalm cv., 24.) Fear blended with his jealousy drew him out toward the interests of the kingdom, for whose safety he had serious concern. He would unite Egypt in self-defense.

INTRIGUE.—(Verse 10.)—Feelings of that sort, when once they have entered into the heart, soon produce results in conduct. It could not be expected that a king would be long indifferent to what he regarded as a menace to himself and to his subjects. He saw a contingency in which the whole Hebrew race might bring disaster upon them. In case of a foreign war they might unite with the enemy to fight the Egyptians, who, in that event, would certainly be defeated, and then on the heels of victory they might depart carrying the spoils of war with them. Thus the proud and wealthy nation would be brought down to poverty and ruin. This was by no means an improbable occurrence, provided there were no ties of friendship, as there should have been, between the two peoples. A wiser man might have given better counsel, urging the closest intimacy, that the Hebrews and Egyptians might become one people in heart and purpose. But jealousy and fear led him to intrigue. He would assert the right and authority of the natives.

OPPRESSION.—(Verse 11.)—With these motives and purposes the royal decree was published to lay grievous burdens upon the Hebrews. They constituted the laboring class, and upon their toil depended the comfort, if not the very existence, of the Egyptians. Indeed, it was feared that they might by leaving the land bring want through the disturbance of all the industries. Taskmasters of the sternest sort were placed over them, men who exacted extreme service under most trying conditions, a fact which was not forgotten in after years. (Deut. xxvi., 6.) For any failure to perform this duty, even though it exceeded ability, punishment were inflicted. (Exod. ii., 11.) To make the oppression still more grievous the Hebrews were set to build treasure cities for Pharaoh, places where wealth might be gathered for the king, thus to increase his power. The very life-blood and strength of the Hebrew men was thus employed to exalt an absolute monarchy and increase its ability to render life burdensome and wretched.

INCREASE.—(Verse 12.)—All this had one purpose—to bring the Hebrew people into subjection and to render them helpless as against the Egyptians. It was the policy of a tyrant, by which the mighty overcame the weak. And yet, to the astonishment of all the result sought was not attained. Afflictions did not crush the spirit, nor prevent the prosperity which had come to these people all through the years. On the contrary, as they were afflicted so they multiplied. It seemed that the troubles were all turned into blessings. (II. Cor. iv., 17.) The people were learning in this school what could not be learned otherwise, lessons of far-reaching moment involving all the after years. (Psalm cxix., 67.) And, strange as it may seem, the oppressed were happier than their oppressors. The latter saw that their unkind deeds were ineffectual—they saw the people whom they would reduce increase—they must have considered that some power above that of man had interposed in their behalf; and the Egyptians were grieved.

BONDAGE.—(Verses 13 and 14.)—It is strange that even then Pharaoh did not learn wisdom and change his policy. But that was the day when force ruled the world, when might was supposed to be right, when man must yield to the will of the king. The course thereafter was more cruel and atrocious. Life was made bitter in a hard bondage. (Acts vii., 34.) The people worked in brick and in mortar, and in all manner of service in the field. The toil was rigorous in the extreme, vastly more trying than any required in the worst form of negro slavery in these States. Josephus says (Antig. lib. II., chapter ix.), and Philo bears testimony to the same, that the king set them to build pyramids, so that those wonders of the ancient world, after nearly forty centuries, still stand as monuments to the men who endured such galling bondage. And there yet remain in the British museum specimens of clay bearing the picture of a half-clad Hebrew bending under his burden, while over him is lifted the lash of the taskmaster.

CONCLUSION.—The years of oppression were not altogether unfavorable to the Hebrews, although for the time exceedingly grievous. As a preparation for their future mission they were helpful in several ways: 1. They learned, as otherwise they could not have learned, how hard and unjust was the spirit of the outside world, how little of kindness and consideration they might expect from those who were not of Hebrew origin. 2. This tended to consolidate the Hebrews, to make them feel that they were to stand by themselves apart from other peoples, preventing them from being merged and lost in a common race. 3. This was favorable to the establishment of a separate nation that should have no entangling alliances with other nations. 4. Moreover, the days of bondage made the people sigh for liberty and to look with longing eyes toward the land promised to the posterity of Abraham. 5. Without doubt the trust in God was increased and the feeling in the minds of the leaders must have been strong that the Almighty only could deliver.

TO PROMOTE

INTERESTS OF KENTUCKY LIVE STOCK BREEDERS.

Meeting Will Be Held In Louisville During the Week of November 20.

The Kentucky Live Stock Breeders' Association is making preparations to have a general meeting of all Kentucky live stock breeders here during the week of November 20, to complete its organization which was begun shortly before the Interstate Fair. It is the intention of the association to enlarge its field greatly and take in every breeder of importance in the State. It wants to improve the breeding industry in Kentucky and at the same time create a greater demand for Kentucky bred cattle in the South. Cheap railroad rates have been secured and it is expected that the meeting will be largely attended.

The question of holding an annual exhibition of fine cattle will be considered, and it is more than probable that it will be determined to hold one in some of the large cities in the State. The fine exhibition of live stock at the Interstate Fair aroused the breeders of the State to the importance of having these annual exhibitions, and much encouragement has since been offered to continue them. Other cities in the State realize the importance of the movement and are preparing to make a fight for the permanent exhibition. Lexington wants it in connection with her fair and unless Louisville makes a strong fight to retain it there is a good chance of its going to the Bluegrass city.

However, if it is finally determined to give these exhibitions from year to year there is little doubt that the next Legislature will be asked for an appropriation to maintain it on a scale like those of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. The cattle fairs in those States have become famous the world over for bringing together the best breeds of cattle in the United States and Canada, and have done much to promote better breeding in the respective States. While they are backed by the Legislature, they have been self sustaining since the first few years of their existence, and it is the general belief here that if the Legislature would make an appropriation covering a few years at the end of that time the association would be in condition to support itself.

Should it be decided to give an annual exhibition committees will be appointed immediately after the association adjourns to draw up a bill, present it to the Legislature and see what can be done towards securing a nominal appropriation.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion

To get rid of these ailments you must start at the seat of the trouble by setting the stomach right.

The stomach supplies the strength for every department of your body. If your face is pale it shows clearly that there is an imperfect circulation of the blood. It shows also that the blood is thin, watery and weak.

Johann Hoff's Malt Extract always successfully helps digestion. It is a certain remedy for dyspepsia and all forms of indigestion.

with his meals will realize the difference. Not only is the disorder gone from the stomach but there is the unmistakable prompting of strength and energy, because the nutrition in the food is penetrating to every portion of the body.

Dr. J. M. Powers, of Warrensburg, Mo., writes: Johann Hoff's Malt Extract is always a builder; always a blood maker by making digestion more perfect.

A LITTLE BIG WASTE.

DISTINGUISH between economy and wisdom. Sitting at home to save shoe-leather is economy, but it is scarcely wisdom. In the same way, doing without Ivory Soap is economy but it isn't wise; your risks are greater than all possible saving. Every cheap soap contains free alkali. Now, free alkali will eat its way through the new oil cloth on the kitchen floor. Imagine, then, what it will do in a single Monday's washing! Is such economy wise?

FOR FIFTEEN YEARS

PASTORS' AID OF BROADWAY METHODISTS HAS DONE GOOD WORK.

Early Formed the "Surplus Habit" and Has Not Been Able To Break Itself.

The husbands, sons, fathers, brothers, uncles and sweethearts of ninety of the ladies of the Broadway Methodist church were proud of them last night—the fifteenth anniversary of the organization of the Pastor's Aid of this congregation, and the ninety good women who made and are making this society what it is, were doubtless proud too of their work, as they heard it reviewed.

The celebration of the event was held in the main auditorium of the church, a large part of the Meyer-Jefferson wedding decorations having been left up for the occasion. There was a large crowd in attendance.

The programme, from the prayer by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Felix R. Hill, to the benediction by this minister, was interesting. After a well-rendered piano solo by Mrs. C. I. Groves, the welcome address was delivered by the President, Mrs. W. C. Dugan. This was a well-prepared paper, in which the prosperity of the organization was touched upon.

The history of the society was read by Mrs. T. L. Pugh. She told with accuracy about the long years of success the Pastor's Aid had experienced and gave brief sketches of the lives and works of those who had served the society well, but who had not lived to see the blessing of a crystal anniversary.

Mrs. W. F. Boggess next told of the aim of this band of faithful women; how they had taken care of the parsonage through all times.

Dr. Hill next made a talk, in which he told what the Pastor's Aid means to him; the great good it has done, etc.

One of the best musical numbers of the evening was the violin solo by Mrs. Holmboe.

Mrs. W. C. Kendrick, the treasurer of the society, read her report for the year. By its admissions—admissions that would never drive a bank cashier to Canada—she kept the house laughing. She said: "We have heard of the morphine habit and the whisky habit, but the Pastor's Aid claims the copyright on the surplus habit. During fifteen years, as treasurer, I have never been able to strike a balance, but there is always more money on hand than I can account for. As an evidence I will give our financial report for the fifteen years of life: We have earned $6,000; we have spent $6,700; we have on hand $21."

This brought forth the greatest applause of the evening.

A piano solo by Mrs. Charles Reed, that was very enjoyable, was followed by the benediction, after which refreshments were served in the Sunday-school rooms.

There was a Reception Committee of the officers, who took part in the programme, and the following officers and members: Mrs. J. G. Sherrill, Vice President; Mrs. S. H. Moon, Second Vice President; Mrs. George Henderson, Recording Secretary; Mesdames T. L. Jefferson, George Warner, John Hollingsworth, Ben Howe and Harry Jefferson.

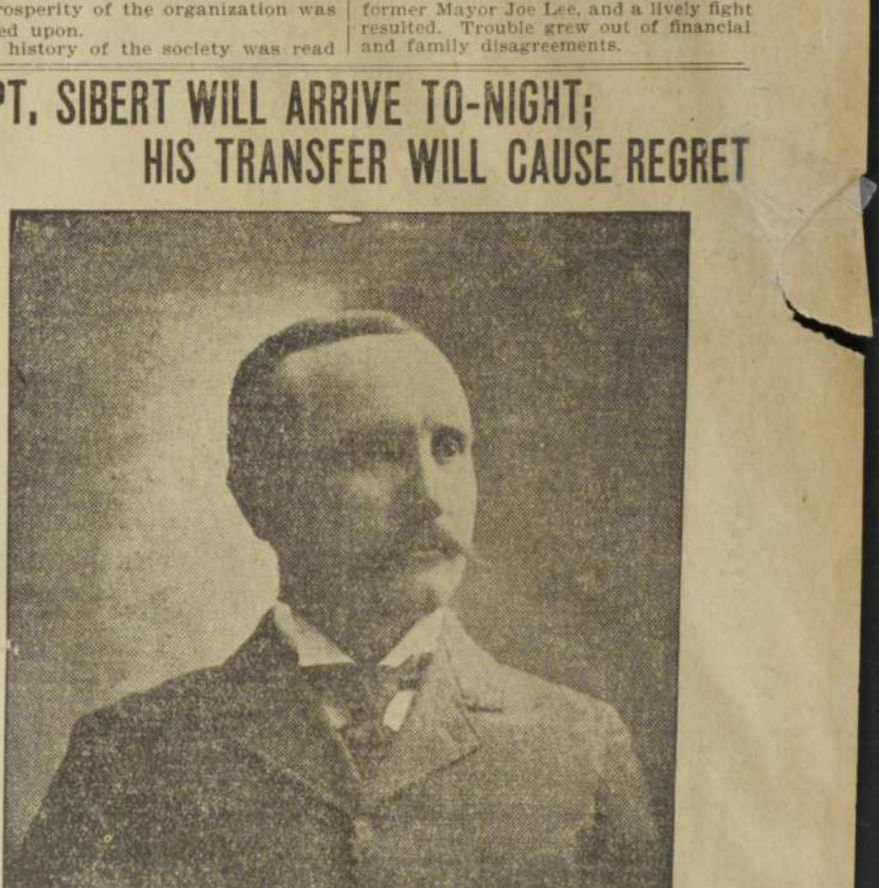

Harrel Says He's a Democrat.

State Senator S. B. Harrel, who was reported in the Courier-Journal yesterday morning as having had a conference with former Adjt. Gen. Collier and State Senator Barret, at the Fifth-avenue Hotel, says that politics was not discussed at the meeting. He says he and Mr. Barret were planning to take a hunting trip together and that they met Mr. Collier by the merest accident. In a letter to the Courier-Journal he says there need be no speculation concerning his attitude in the next Legislature. He says he voted the straight Democratic ticket in the last election and will abide by whatever action the Democratic caucus may take.

Owensboro Men In Fight.

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 8.—Dr. Wilbur F. Stirman was assaulted on the street this afternoon by his brother-in-law, former Mayor Joe Lee, and a lively fight resulted. Trouble grew out of financial and family disagreements.

CAPT. SIBERT WILL ARRIVE TO-NIGHT; HIS TRANSFER WILL CAUSE REGRET

CAPT. W. L. SIBERT.

Capt. W. L. Sibert, who has been given notice of his transfer from the United States Engineer Station at Louisville to Pittsburg, will reach here to-night from Green river, over which waterway he has been traveling the past two days. It will not be known until he comes to the city what his plans are—date of departure for the Smoky City, etc.

The announcement in yesterday's Courier-Journal that Capt. Sibert would leave Louisville brought out many expressions of regret. Capt. Sibert has been in charge of the local office for a year, or since his return from the Philippines, where he served in the Eighth Army Corps, rendering great aid in the engineers' branch. His work won him a recommendation for Brigadier General.

Twenty years ago Capt. Sibert was assigned to Louisville. Since that time he has been in Detroit, Little Rock and at Willett's Point. During his present stay here he has made great improvement on the Ohio falls and on Green and Barren rivers, in Kentucky, and Wabash and White rivers, in Indiana.

Capt. Sibert's new post carries with it the control of the most important river work in the service. It controls fifteen locks on the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers. Capt. Sibert will construct seven more locks.

Just when Maj. Ruffner, the Cincinnati engineer, who is given the work of the Louisville office as well, will arrive here is not known.

FANS ARE SORE AT MILWAUKEE

Will Have An American Association Team If Ban Johnson

TAKES PRESENT CLUB AWAY.

However, Quinn and Others To Organize a League With Louisville As a Member.

OTHER NEWS OF THE DIAMOND.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The announcement from President Ban Johnson, of the American League, sent out from Detroit, that Milwaukee is a jay baseball town and not fit for American League company, has stirred up the fans here and has brought the following retort from Messrs. Quin and Havener, who were interested last winter in trying to start the American Association:

"If Mr. Johnson thinks Milwaukee is unfit for American League company, let him announce now that the Brewers are out, and we will put a team in the reorganized Western League at once. We are willing to take the risk here, and will also guarantee to have a team that will be in the first division. Further than that, you can say that we will now go ahead and put a team in the reorganized Western League no matter whether the Brewers remain in the American League or not. There will be opposition ball here if the American League remains. It is now up to Mr. Johnson to make good his threat and take the Brewers away."

It is understood that negotiations are being carried on for the reorganization of the Western League to be known as the American Association. It will be of better caliber than the Western League and take in Milwaukee, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Louisville, besides other good central cities.

C. B. Power, of Pittsburg, was elected president of the association. He was for a number of years president of the Interstate League, which was merged into the Western Association at the beginning of the present year. Columbus and Toledo withdrew from the association. The representatives of both these cities were reticent concerning their plans for the future, but it is understood that Columbus and probably Toledo will be in a stronger league which is being formed. The new league, it is understood, contemplates the revival of the old Western League circuit, taking in Indianapolis, Columbus, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Louisville, Kansas City and possibly Toledo.

Johnson May Ask For a Receiver.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—As a result of the muddle which the financial affairs of the Detroit baseball club are in, and the open declaration of President Ban Johnson, of the American League, made against him, Manager George T. Stallings, who is part owner of the club, said to-day that unless something very unexpected happened he would ask the court for a receiver for the club, and also for an accounting from President Burns. In this event it is considered very probable that Attorney James McNamara, of this city, who is one of the minority stockholders, will be appointed receiver. President Johnson and Stallings held a conference this afternoon.

Changes In Western Association Circuit.

Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—The Western Baseball Association convened here this afternoon. The following clubs were represented:

Columbus, T. J. Bryce; Marion, C. W. Halderman; Ft. Wayne, J. Mautner; Dayton, H. H. Youngman; Wheeling, W. W. Irwin; Toledo, C. J. Stroble.

The Marion club held Matthews' proxy and Acting President Barnard held that of Grand Rapids. It is expected that changes in the circuit for next season will be made. Matthews is sure to be dropped and Wheeling may also be left out.

Southern League Meeting.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—A meeting of the promoters of next year's baseball team was held to-night. It was decided to capitalize the local association at $2,500, in shares of $100 each. A committee was appointed to raise the capital stock at once. A meeting will be held next week to organize the association and perfect plans for next season.

HOT GAME EXPECTED.

Y. M. C. A. Eleven In Fine Shape To Meet State College Team To-day.

WILL the white and blue of State College triumph again? This is the question that has been puzzling the minds of the coaches and friends of the Y. M. C. A. boys. Last night a hundred or more watched the training of the local team, and great improvement was noticed on every hand.

State has a lightning set of ends and backs, and Y. M. C. A. has shown big improvement in all plays. Society will be there in force, and several special parties have made arrangements to attend. Mayor-elect Grainger will kick off for the Louisville boys.

The scrub Y. M. C. A. team and the Portland eleven start the games, beginning at 2 o'clock p. m. The Portland boys beat High School 6 to 5, and the scrubs are going to try to land the championship of the city, and a hot game may be looked for, as the scrubs are in good condition and Capt. PETER MAHER WINS.

Irishman Knocks Out Jim Jeffords After a Red-hot Battle.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 8.—Peter Maher put a sudden stop to the championship aspirations of Jim Jeffords, of California, in the second round of what was to have been a twenty-round bout before the Eureka Athletic Club, at Germania Maennerchor Hall, to-night. Both men stripped as fit as a fiddle, with Jeffords having all the best of it in height and reach.

The first round began with a light punch and a clinch, after which both landed lightly and clinched again. Then Jeffords touched Peter with a right on the ribs, and they came to a clinch. As they broke away Jeffords touched Peter on the chin, and the latter growled about a foul, which the referee declined to allow. Jeffords landed lightly again, and after another clinch touched Peter on the ribs, and they locked arms once more. When they broke away they sparred a while, after which Peter sent his right to the head without effect. The bell rang with honors easy.

In the second round Maher swung his right to the body. They mixed it and exchanged a series of right and left swings, in which Jeffords got a hard right punch on the jaw and went to the floor. He lay there until the referee counted five. When he got up, they mixed again, both sending in hard rights and lefts to the ribs and face. Peter got it this time with a stiff right jab in the neck. He went to the floor, and on the advice of his seconds stayed down until six was counted. When he got up they mixed it again, and after a mutual exchange of half a dozen terrific rights and lefts, Peter sent his right to the stomach and immediately landed on the chin with the same hand, and Jeffords was down and out. Time 1 minute and 4 seconds.

Qualifications For Football.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—The plan for the control of High School football requires physicians' certificates, parental consent and maintenance required of the scholarship standard as a qualification for participation in football games, was unanimously indorsed to-day by the delegates to the fifteenth educational conference of the academies and high schools of Chicago and the West, affiliating and co-operating with the University of Chicago. This action, although advisory, is expected to have a general practical effect which will revolutionize high school football and athletics of the West. Delegates were present at the conference from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Colorado.

A proposition to separate dull pupils and bright pupils into distinct sections within the same class was voted down. It was argued that such action would discourage the poorer students and increase the egotism of the good ones.

JOCKEY TURNER IS BADLY HURT

Tristram Falls In Fourth Event, But His Rider Will Recover.

CROWD SEES THE ACCIDENT.

Charley Thompson, Jordan and Pharaoh the "Good Thing" of the Day.

CUP RACE THIS AFTERNOON.

Selections For To-day.

First Race—Young Henry, Incidental, Jack Willis.

Second Race—Lillian M., De Milsom, Buccleutee.

Third Race—Tremar, Kindred, Ed. L.

Fourth Race—Banquo II., Molexen, Pan Charm.

Fifth Race—Called Back, Little Hindoo, Dubious.

Sixth Race—Eleven Bells, Hieaway, Honeywood.

BEAUTIFUL weather, a fast track and five well-filled races were a combination which drew more than 2,000 people to Douglas Park yesterday afternoon. It was the first ladies' day since the meeting opened, and the attendance of women was larger than on any previous day except last Saturday.

The sport was marred by a distressing accident in the fourth race, when Jockey Eddie Turner was seriously injured. Turner had the mount on Tristram. The race was at six furlongs, and Tristram got off badly, being back in the bunch and in a pocket. When they were directly across the course from the stand, in the back stretch, Turner attempted to pull Tristram out from between Badger and Corinne C., which were on either side of him. From the timers' stand it looked like Tristram crossed his forelegs, but the distance was too great to tell accurately. At any rate, Tristram's legs touched those of Badger, and Tristram and Jockey Turner went down, Corinne C. shying over to one side to keep from running over the jockey.

The horse was not injured to amount to anything, and immediately got up and ran after the flying field. Turner, however, lay on his side, and when track attaches reached him he was unconscious. There was an ugly wound in the back of his head. Half a hundred men, among whom were several physicians, ran across the field, and some of them carried the unconscious boy to midfield, where they were met by a carriage, which hauled the boy to the stable of H. J. Gerhardy, for whom he rode. The doctors stated that they did not believe the wound in the head was fatal, but they were unable to determine the extent of the internal injuries the boy had received. At a late hour last night Turner was resting well and Dr. Underwood, the attending physician, stated that he woud recover. Up to midnight, however, he suffered frequent periods of unconsciousness.

Turner is eighteen years old. His home is in Detroit. He is not related to Nash Turner, the celebrated Eastern jockey. This is Turner's second year as a jockey, but, as he has had little experience, his mounts have been few and far between. He started to ride last season for Sam Parmer on the Canadian circuit, but at the beginning of this season signed to ride for Will Jackson, of Nashville, by whom he is now employed. Mr. Gerhardy trains a few horses for Will Jackson. The accident cast a damper over the crowd, but, like all racing crowds, the depression soon disappeared, and the bettors wagered on the last race as if nothing had happened.

Several "good things" were put over the plate yesterday, and the books got a hard rap. A coup was planned for the second race on Charley Thompson, but it was badly managed, and he went to the post an odds-on favorite. However, considerable money was placed on him at evens, and several thousand dollars were bet on him in the poolrooms throughout the country. He came home "on the bit." The other good things were Jordan, in the fourth race, and Pharaoh, in the last event, both of which were heavily played at short prices.

The feature for this afternoon will be a repetition of the gentlemen's cup race, which proved so successful last Saturday.

The afternoon's sport was started with a five and one-half-furlong dash for three-year-olds and upward, in which Prima II. was the even money favorite. The latter had a rough journey during most of the race and was lucky to finish second. They were sent away to a poor start, with Hunting in front. He kept the lead until the stretch was reached, and Prima II. and Blondie Grayson came with a rush. Grayson caught Hunting in the last sixteenth, and won by two lengths with something to spare, Prima II. beating Hunting a neck for the place. Grayson was never under 10 to 1, and many pikers cashed on the victory of the chestnut mare.

Charles Thompson was the "good thing" in the second race, and he "delivered the goods" like a stake horse. This was a five-furlong dash for maiden two-year-olds. A killing had been planned on Thompson, but the information leaked out in some manner, and 6 to 5 and even money was the best that was offered against his chances. He was so well played at this price that his odds at once went to 4 to 5. A large amount of money was also telegraphed to poolrooms and placed on him. There was also a strong play on Irresistible at 2 to 1, while Florrie S. and Tout had many supporters, the others being at a long price. They were sent away to a good start. Thompson immediately assumed the lead, and kept it all the way. He had all the speed, and was never in trouble. Irresistible was much the best of the others, Florrie S. finishing third, ahead of Tout.

Eleven Bells was the favorite in the third race. This was the feature event of the day, at one and one-sixteenth miles, for three-year-olds and upward. Eleven Bells was never better than even money, while the price against Lady of the West receded from 6 to 5 to 3 to 2. Lady of the West simply raced Eleven Bells into submission and won easily by four lengths, Eleven Bells being eight lengths in front of Rose Bird, the third choice.

"It was a shame to take the money in the fourth race," was what a tout said, and he was about right. This was a three-quarter of a mile affair, and Jordan was held at 3 to 5. He should have been 1 to 10, for he won galloping all the way. In fact, it was only an exercise gallop for this son of Lamplighter. Chanterelle, the second choice, was as easily the best of the others, while Hattie Davis finished third. It was in this race that Tristram stumbled, throwing Jockey E. Turner in the back stretch.

The last race of the day was a selling affair, at three-quarters of a mile, in which Pharaoh, Jim Gore and Dr. Clark were about equal favorites at 2 to 1. Pharaoh was much the best, and won with something to spare. Dr. Clark might have been a contender, but he was left at the post, and did not try. Nettie Regent showed considerable improvement and finished second, five lengths ahead of J. J. T.

TO-DAY'S FEATURE EVENT.

Ten Gentlemen Riders Carded To Start In the Cup Race.

The gentlemen's cup race is the feature event on to-day's card at Douglas Park. The race of opening day has given rise to much good-natured rivalry, and to-day's contest is directly outgrowing from the race of a week ago. Should Miller Henderson, under the rearranged allotment of weights, be enabled to again pilt his mount home first to the wire his title to the premiership in the local amateur riding world will be conceded. Pan Charm shoulders 143 pounds to-day, with probably Mr. Henderson in the saddle. Mr. J. R. Arnold is here from Cincinnati to ride Redwood. However, the several riders accepting the weights will draw for mounts, and a general shuffle will likely result.

Eight starters will face the barrier in the gentlemen's race, which has been carded as the fourth event.

Yesterday the following gentlemen riders declared acceptances for to-day's race: J. R. Arnold, Cincinnati; D. Hinckl, T. T. Thomson, J. A. Woodford, Frank Burks, J. Burkholder, Joseph Jefferson and Miller Henderson.

The starters and weights are appended:

	Lbs.		Lbs.
Banquo	153	Mr. Brookwood	130
Metoxen	126	Redwood	130
Halot P.	133	St. Aloysius	125
Sauce Boat	115	Pan Charm	143

GOSSIP OF THE TRACK.

The last race yesterday was robbed of its chief interest—a meeting between the two best sprinters now at Douglas Park, Dr. Clarke and Pharaoh, the slashing bay horse from the Hendrie stable. Dr. Clarke, which is said to be a notorious sufferer from "soft mouth," bolted and stood up in the rush in the final break from the barrier. While Pharaoh and the field swung around the upper turn, the Doctor and Howell remained standing at the post. Dr. Clarke was a well-played second choice, backed down from 3 to evens just at post time, so that his conduct brought consternation to no small section of the talent. Jockey Howell said after the race that the sudden jerk of his chain bit had pained his tender-mouthed mount into a sudden balk. People at the track said Dr. Clarke had been guilty of the same misconduct before. He has always been regarded as erratic at the post. The same ailment afflicted Roehampton and Hanover King, two well-known metropolitan performers, this season. Dr. Clarke's refusal to break yesterday was a good example of the pranks of racing luck, and it almost "broke" half the form players.

The betting in the ring was lively yesterday afternoon, and the books probably quit something to the bad. Charles Thompson, in the second race, was the medium of a big plunge. Tom Hayes wired $2,000 to foreign poolrooms to bet on the colt. Even money was the best price that was chalked against him. He "delivered the goods" handily. Lady of the West was played heavily, and she also made good, overtaking the tired Eleven Bells in the stretch and winning easily by three lengths.

Jockey O'Neill, who is considered by competent judges to become a star rider, will leave at the conclusion of the present meeting for California, where he will do the lightweight riding for W. B. Jennings. The latter trains Mr. Haggin's horses. O'Neill, however, will still be under contract to T. P. Hayes.

The racing privileges at the South Carolina Interstate and West Indian Exposition were disposed of at Charleston Thursday night for $35,000 to W. Brokos Harley & Co. Associated with Mr. Harley are H. C. Jordon and W. P. Nuckols, of Richmond, Va. The Wagener track will be put in excellent condition by Mr. C. J. Hill, of St. Asaph, who has charge of the racing end of the exposition. The meeting will follow that at Bennings, and will run thirty-six days. The ring will be an open one, and the booking privilege will be but $50 a day.

Dr. G. P. Beutel, Jr., says he will be one of the riders in the Gentlemen's Cup race this afternoon, and he says he expects to win sure.

The following programme will be rendered at the Douglas track this afternoon by the First Regiment Band:

March—My Dinah .... Perrin
Selection—Carmen .... Bizet
Waltz—Viola .... Gustin
Intermezzo Oriental—Omar .... Toraine
Overture—Orpheus.
Waltz—Chinese Characteristic—In Pekin .... Toraine

IMPLICATES OTHERS.

O'Brien Says Prominent Men Were Interested In Lexington Turf Scandal.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 8.—[Special.]—The turf scandal here arising from the attempt to sell Clarence H. Mackay a colt on a false trial, by moving up the three-eighths' pole at the Kentucky Association track, took a rather sensational turn this afternoon. The new committee appointed on last Monday to further the investigation and place the matter before the proper turf authorities, met at noon and had before it Dan O'Brien, the trainer who on last Saturday had confessed that he had had the pole moved, and that he assumed the responsibility. O'Brien said to-day he had not told the whole story before because his statements might have injured Tevis Wilkerson, one of the owners of the colt, in his race for Sheriff.

He declared to-day that he had moved the pole and that not only were Jack Chinn, of Harrodsburg, and his son, Phil T. Chinn, of Kingston Stud, this county, aware of the trick that was being played on Hill, but that Wilkerson and Engman, owners of the colt, knew the work to be given the colt was not right.

He said that Col. Chinn and Phil were to share in the profit of the deal with himself, and that the $500 given the owners more than they had asked was to satisfy them. He was on the stand for nearly an hour.

Dr. Robert Bryan and Dick Wilson were called, after O'Brien was excused, and asked if the story O'Brien had related was the same told them by O'Brien last week. Another witness before the committee was H. P. Headley, of Beaumont Stud, who was with Hill and Jack Chinn when they were preparing to time the colt a three-eighths.

Both Wilkerson and Engman deny O'Brien's story. They are men of unquestionable integrity, and when they appear before the committee next Wednesday O'Brien's story may be much punctured. Jack Chinn could not be seen to-night. Phil Chinn said:

"Neither father nor I had any intimation that there was any crooked work. Together with Mr. Hill and Mr. Headley we walked up the track to about the quarter pole. Father and Mr. Hill walked down toward the three-eighths pole. O'Brien became uneasy and called to them that he was about to bring the colts out. I paid little attention to his actions then, but it is plain to me now."

The committee will hear more evidence Wednesday, when its findings will be published.

THE RESULTS AT OAKLAND.

Morokanta, At 40 To 1, Gives the Talent An Upset At Aqueduct.

New York, Nov. 8.—Two favorites, both at odds on, won at Aqueduct to-day, together with one second choice and three outsiders. The sport was fairly interesting, considering the fact that the card was of the consolation order.

The day began with an upset, Morokanta, at 30 to 1, winning in a drive from Shoreham and Malden. A few profited by his victory, as he was played in places at 40 to 1. Criterion, at 5 to 1, won the fourth pulled up to a walk. CIGARS

FOR FASTIDIOUS FELLOWS

The bunco man is not fastidious. He takes the simplest things he can find.

But some fastidious fellows don't want the simplest thing. They want something out of the ordinary.

This applies just as much to cigars as to clothing.

The Francis Marion 5-Cent Cigar is something decidedly out of the ordinary—something fastidious fellows all over are smoking—something fastidious dealers all over are buying to sell to fastidious smokers. 'Tis a 5-cent cigar with a GENUINE Havana wrapper—with the accent on the genuine.

MANUALS PLAY TO-DAY.

Hard Game Expected With Indianapolis Shortridge High School Team.

THIS afternoon the football team of the Manual Training School will line up against the team of the Indianapolis Shortridge High School. This will be the first time that these teams have come together on the gridiron, and both will put forth their best efforts to carry off the victory.

Indianapolis has a strong team this year, as will be seen by the fact that they were beaten by Rose Polytechnic Institute, the well-known college team at Terre Haute, Ind., by the very small score of 10 to 0. They have also played several other games, in one of which they took the Louisville High School eleven into camp by the score of 12 to 0.

Although the Louisville Manual team has been very unfortunate this season, losing four games, the boys will go into the game determined to do their best. The Indianapolis men are heavier than the Manuals, but the latter expect to more than even up matters by fast, snappy playing. The game will be called promptly at 3 o'clock at Brook and Breckinridge streets.

The Manual second team will go to Charlestown, Ind., to-day to play the High School eleven of that place. This will be the first game the second team has played, and the members are confident of defeating their opponents.

The line-up follows:

Indianapolis.	Positions.	Manual.
Scott	Left end	Wilkin or Hughes
Masters	Left tackle	Clerget or Beard
Bacon or Conrior	Left guard	Struss
Hacker	Center	Givan or Caldwell
Dugan	Right guard	Caye

W. Dean	Right end	McCawley or Clerget
Clark	Right half-back	Hancock or Hunter
D. Dean	Full back	Cartmell

PAYING BETS.

Tammany Men Said To Have Lost a Million Dollars.

BIG WAGERS IN WALL STREET.

BETWEEN $750,000 and $1,000,000 CHANGES HANDS THERE.

HOW THE BOOKMAKERS FARED.

New York, Nov. 8.—The Tribune says: Aside from the loss of offices, of the opportunity for "grafting" and of other perquisites connected with control of the municipal government the Tammany men Wednesday were bewailing the loss of large sums of money wagered on the election. Richard Croker, Senator Timothy D. Sullivan, Frank Farrell and John F. Carroll are said to have lost more than $100,000 each, while the total loss to Tammany bettors is figured at $1,000,000. The Tammany men could ill afford to lose this money just as they are being put out of lucrative jobs and deprived of the opportunity for "grafting." Tammany, however, felt so confident that the city would go Democratic that money was put up by even the most timid. Yesterday was settling day, and Tammany was paying its money with bad grace.

The bulk of the Tammany money is believed to have come from a "betting syndicate" consisting of Frank Farrell, Senator Sullivan, the Considine brothers and several others. Their losses in the financial district alone were estimated at $300,000.

The placing of bets in Wall street gave way Wednesday to the paying of bets. It is next to impossible to obtain a thoroughly trustworthy estimate of the aggregate sum wagered in the financial district on the result of the mayoralty contest—the betting on the District Attorneyship and other offices was inconsiderable—but it is believed that the grand total was between $750,000 and $1,000,000. The largest amounts were placed by F. H. Brooks, who bet in all $115,000 on Low and $35,000 on Shepard. C. M. Minzesheimer bet $48,000 on Low and $10,000 on Shepard. Kerr & Co. placed for various clients $75,000 on Shepard. Allen, Wood & McGraw placed $50,000 on Shepard and about $38,000 on Low. R. W. Gifford put up $15,000 on Shepard and $10,000 on Low. George A. Mullarky's bets, which were mainly on Shepard, aggregated $25,000. J. J. Judge bet $20,000 each way. John W. Gates, of Chicago, bet $30,000 on Low at about 10 to 8, and also took a one-fifth interest in a pool which wagered $25,000 on Low. It is reported that Jacob Field won $59,000 on Low's election and W. B. Oliver $40,000. Among the heaviest losers were J. L. McCormack, Allen Wood & McGraw, Kerr & Co. and Roberts, Blair & Co., most of whom acted for clients.

In the great majority of cases Low bettors gave odds of 10 to 9 to 10 to 7, and in a few instances bets of 2 to 1 on the mayoralty were reported. The betting was fast and furious the last two days of last week, as well as on Monday.

Some wagers were placed on the District Attorneyship at odds of 2 to 1 in Unger's favor, and a few bets were made on Van Wyck's defeat.

Stories of heavy losses on the election by bettors who took the Tammany end of the wagers were common at the Aqueduct racetrack. It was said, also that several bookmakers who do business at the metropolitan tracks had won large amounts by the success of the fusion ticket.

The heaviest loser at the racetrack was "Joe" Vendig, who lost, it is believed, not far from $100,000. A large part of this was bet for other persons, most of it coming from members of the Democratic Club. "Tim" Sullivan was one of Vendig's most important clients, and it was said at the racetrack yesterday that Vendig had placed about $50,000 of Sullivan's money. George Rose made a book on the election, but did not bet himself.

Still another heavy loser in "Dave" Johnson, well known at the metropolitan tracks as a "plunger." He is believed to have bet at least $50,000 on the election of Shepard.

George Wheelock was the principal representative of the Low bettors at the racetrack. He placed more than $60,000 of their money for them at odds averaging 5 to 4 on Low, making one bet of $25,000 to $20,000 with Frank Farrell. Gottfried Walbaum also took the Low end of the betting, but entirely on his own account, and profited about $15,000 as a result.

Other bookmakers and professional bettors got on the Tammany side at first, but when they saw how it was going they "hedged" in time to save themselves.

At 7 o'clock Tuesday evening at the Hoffman House 3 to 5 might have been had on Shepard, but twenty minutes later nobody would bet 1 to 10 on the Tammany candidate. George Wheelock bet $1,500 to $100 at that hour, and when a man went uptown and told "Al" Smith about it the latter said: "I'll bet you $200 to $100 he never bet it." Then he went to the Hoffman House, where he was told that he had lost his $200.

LACK OF CARS

Still Affects the Iron and Steel Industry.

UNABLE TO SECURE COKE.

SITUATION LESS SATISFACTORY THAN LAST WEEK.

THE MARKET IS HARDENED.

New York, Nov. 8.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, to be issued to-morrow, will say:

Little relief has been afforded the leading manufacturing industry in the matter of transporting facilities. In fact the situation on the whole is less satisfactory, since inability to secure coke has brought about the banking of some furnaces. This in turn tends to harden the market for pig iron, though no actual alteration in prices has occurred, except at Philadelphia, where 25c a ton more is readily paid. As this industry is considered the best business barometer, present conditions and future prospects are certainly most encouraging, for orders are abundant and plants enlarging capacity in order to handle the growing business. Material is purchased now for much structural work in the spring, and additional contracts are seeking acceptance. Railway needs were never as pressing, every form of equipment being sought, and it is possible that many orders will be placed abroad. Labor troubles and low water have added to the difficulty arising from car shortage, making three retarding influences affecting the output of coal just when the export demand has become a factor of importance.

Textile mills in New England are busy and there is no longer any fear of labor controversy at Fall River. Print cloths have ceased to be inflated, standard widths resuming the former quotation of 3c and meeting with a fair demand. Domestic buying of all staple cottons is seasonably quiet and the views of exporters are still below those of sellers. Recent declines in the raw material have not weakened prices, as there was no commensurate advance in goods when the cotton market was rising. Reports from the South indicate that spindles are well occupied. In woolens there is a free movement of women's dress goods, and orders are plentiful in heavy-weight lines for immediate delivery. The season has reduced manufacturers' stocks of heavy woolens and worsteds to a low point, and recent unprecedented buying of raw material indicates that orders come forward freely.

Footwear is firm at last week's advance, and Eastern manufacturers are beginning work on spring orders. Leather is held at the best prices of the season, and dry hides rose further on heavy sales.

Weather conditions were the chief factors in determining prices charged for staple products. Low temperature in grain-growing States brought a higher level of quotations, corn rising 23c above the figure ruling at the corresponding date last year and 26c over 1899. These advances of more than 50 per cent. are far in excess of the ratio of loss in production and establishes a fictitious price level which curtailed Atlantic exports to 642,143 bushels for the week, against 2,630,170 last year and 3,458,104 two years ago. On the other hand wheat is moving out freely at both coasts, shipments from the United States for the week amounting to 5,561,472 bushels, against 3,210,164 in the same week in 1900 and 2,927,203 in 1899. Vigorous milling and foreign demands caused a fair advance in price to about last year's figure, despite the difference in output.

Cotton weakened still further, port and interior movements indicating a better crop than was anticipated. At the lower price, however, exports are heavy and tend to prevent any serious reaction.

Coffee advanced, despite the record-breaking supply.

Failures for the week numbered 243 in the United States, against 201 last year, and 53 in Canada, against 18 last year.

BRADSTREET'S

Review of the Financial and Commercial Situation.

New York, Nov. 8.—Bradstreet's to-morrow will say:

The trade situation presents many points of strength and few of weakness. Colder weather throughout the country has stimulated retail trade in heavy clothing, shoes, groceries and rubber goods, and this has already been reflected in an improved reorder demand from Western and Southern jobbers. Collections, too, are more satisfactory. Country merchants are reported in good financial shape, and one result of this is found in the rather better supply and easier tone of money. Holding of cotton is reported from the South, this being aided by the strength of the business community generally. Higher prices have been made for cereals. Bradstreet's figures of the world's visible supply favor the bears but little. Foreign cables are better and export demand has been improved both for wheat and corn, the strength of these being shared in by flour, the production of which at Minneapolis and other centers is very heavy, and by oats. The price situation is one of steadiness, though some hesitation was shown during October.

While nearly all industries are active, special strength and activity has been displayed in iron and steel. Production as yet seems to be running behind consumption. The shortage of cars is an additional obstructive feature just at present, and the effect upon the coke trade has been so marked as to cause the shut down of twenty blast furnaces in the Pittsburg district. Pig iron is in good demand East and West. Railway material is very active at Chicago and 50,000 tons of steel rails have been ordered by Western roads this week. Iron bars and nails display weakness and are lower. Plate specifications are also reported being held back. At Pittsburg there is a heavy demand for Bessemer iron and sales of 15,000 tons of this material and of 20,000 tons of foundry iron are reported, with good premiums for prompt delivery. Forge iron is 50c up. Structural material is also active, sales at Pittsburg for the week aggregating 12,000 tons.

Some irregularity is noted in the market for cotton goods, owing to the weakness of raw material, the result of the growth of large estimates. The Fall River wage situation has been clarified by a reduction in wages made by the manufacturer who some four weeks ago advanced. Print cloths are firm for prompt delivery at 2¾c, but some sales have been made for January delivery at 3c.

Wool goods machinery is actively employed. The market has been rather firmer, with an upward tendency. Supplies are smaller and the position is one of considerable strength.

The leather trade is rather quieter than of late. Shoe factories at the East are now finishing up their winter orders preparatory to turning the machinery on spring goods. No sign of weakness is to be noted, however, in prices. Prices are still the key of the situation, and they are firm and unchanged. Shoe shipments continue largely in excess of a year ago.

The coal trade was in good condition previous to the cold weather. It has lost none of its strength since, and the only source of complaint is the small stocks in dealers' hands and the trouble growing out of the scarcity of cars.

Raw sugar is lower, in sympathy with the continued bearish feeling here and abroad, and refined is 10 points lower all round.

Coffee is slightly higher on smaller crop estimates.

Wheat (including flour) exports for the week aggregate 5,468,645 bushels, against 6,672,88 last week and 3,555,507 in this week last year. Wheat exports July 1 to date (19 weeks) aggregate 112,198,918 bushels, against 66,355,797 last season.

Corn exports aggregate 708,284 bushels, as against 606,159 last week and 3,237,627 last year. July 1 to date corn exports are 17,447,844 bushels, against 59,463,314 last season.

Failures for the week in the United States aggregate 191, as against 173 last week, 161 in this week a year ago, 183 in 1899 and 157 in 1898.

Canadian failures for the week number 25, as against 17 last week and last year, 22 in 1899 and 30 in 1898.

MR. BRADEN PRESIDENT OF FEDERAL PHOSPHATE CO.

Louisville Made the Home For the Big Enterprise—First Meeting of Directors.

The board of directors of the Federal Phosphate Company, composed of John M. Atherton, George Braden, J. J. Harbison, John L. Helm, J. B. Speed, C. E. Claggett, C. T. Ballard, Samuel A. Culbertson, Oscar Fenley, Attilla Cox and Willard Saulsbury, met at the Columbia Finance and Trust Company's office yesterday morning and adopted its by-laws and elected officers to serve during the first year. The by-laws of the company were so amended as to made Louisville, and not Wilmington, Del., the home of the company. The first Tuesday in January of each year was selected as the date for the annual meeting of the stockholders and directors.

The following officers were elected: George Braden, president; J. B. Stewart, vice president; J. T. Welch, secretary; L. W. Botts, treasurer; Pirtle & Trabue, general counsel. An Executive Committee was created, which is composed of Attilla Cox, chairman; S. A. Culbertson and Oscar Fenley. The Columbia Finance and Trust Company was made transfer agent and the National Bank of Kentucky the depository.

The company, which was organized a few weeks ago, controls immense phosphate deposits in Kentucky and Tennessee, which it is now developing. The meeting yesterday was the first that the board of directors has held.

Revenue Collections.

The following collections were made yesterday in the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue: Beer, $1,184; whisky, $34,987.37; cigars, $535.20; tobacco, $6,908.86; oleomargarine stamps, $21; documentary stamps, $103.04; proprietary stamps, $8.18; total, $43,747.65.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MONETARY.

Friday Evening, Nov. 8.—Banks reported a good demand all along to-day and an active business generally. The city went into the market for $50,000 and will have to continue borrowing until February, when the tax collections begin. Rates continue firm. A favorable feature is that deposits are increasing, and this enables banks to make the required loans. New York exchange sold both at 25c discount and at par to-day, and was in very good demand.

The Clearing-house report to-day was as follows:

Day's clearing	$1,228,367
Balance	194,247

A further increase in demand and firmer prices characterized the market for local securities. The St. Louis street railway shares and bonds led, as usual, being very much in demand. Both the common and preferred stocks sold higher and the bonds were traded in in large blocks. Southern Railway 4s came next and then L. and N. unified 4s. A feature of the afternoon was the revival in the demand for Louisville Gas, for which 108 was bid for large lots. Sales were reported at 107¾ for 20 shares and at 108¼ for 25 shares, but there is little on the market. Inquiry has sprung up again for Louisville Railway common, for which 106 was bid, but the floating lots of stock have been withdrawn. A broker reported that he could get 107 this afternoon, but knew of none under 107½. The demand is improving. The following sales were reported:

$14,000 United Railways 4s	*91
$10,000 United Railways 4s	*91¼
$40,000 United Railways 4s	*91½
$4,000 L. and N. collateral 6s	99¾
$40,000 Southern Railway Air Line 4s	100¼
$6,000 L. and N. unified 4s	101¾
$10,000 L. and N. unified 4s	102
$5,000 J., M. and I. second 7s	*123
100 shares St. Louis Transit common	30¼
200 shares St. Louis Transit common	30¾
175 shares United Railways preferred	86¾
325 shares United Railways preferred	87
19 shares United Railways preferred	87¼
20 shares Louisville Gas	107¾
25 shares Louisville Gas	108¼
20 shares Louisville Railway preferred	116

*And interest.

The handsome advance in L. and N. to-day was well held, the highest being 107⅛ and the close being at 106¾. Great confidence is felt in L. and N., which is regarded as unquestionably the choicest railroad property in the South and possessing the greatest future. A keen judge of the market, who is carrying several hundred shares bought at lower prices, says he will keep them in his strong box, as he thinks they will go very much higher in the next two years.

The Journal says: "It was learned last evening from authority that has proven uniformly reliable that W. K. Vanderbilt yesterday read over the plan that has been in course of preparation during his absence for the formation of a proprietary company. Mr. Vanderbilt approved the plan, which in brief provides for the holding of majority control of the Big Four, Lake Erie and Western, Canadian Southern and Michigan Central and one or two other roads. —(John W. & D. S. Green.

People who have been right on Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and St. Paul tell me now to buy them again on all weak spots. Good buying of Southern Railway common and preferred this morning, and we are told they are in for a considerable advance.—(R & H.

The following bullish "tips" were sent out on Louisville and Nashville:

Of all the standard stocks I consider Louisville and Nashville as the cheapest.—(Goldsmith.

The street is just beginning to realize that Louisville and Nashville is selling about 20 points under its real value.—(Dick.

Looks like Louisville and Nashville will sell a little higher.—(Hudson.

Great Northern shows gross increase for October of $1,100,000.

Northern Pacific, fourth week of October, increase $476,889.

New York.—Considering the large realizing sales the market has shown wonderful strength. The dividend-paying stocks are in demand. The bank statement to-morrow will probably be a satisfactory one. We believe in higher prices and would advise buying on any recessions. —(Almstedt Bros.

New York.—We had a rather irregular market to-day with sentiment bullish and the bull moves shifting from St. Paul and Union Pacific into Atchison, New York Central and Louisville and Nashville. Commission house buying has been good, but at the close there was considerable profit-taking in anticipation of some further reaction at the close of the week. Indications are for a somewhat reactionary market in the morning with strong close. Look for higher prices at beginning of next week, especially for St. Paul, Union Pacific and New York Central. Tips are out for a considerable further rise in this latter stock, based on fine showing made in last monthly report. Indications are for little change in the bank statement to-morrow, outflow and inflow about balancing.—(Halsey & Halsey.

New York.—The whole market was exceedingly strong to-day and looks like the advance will continue next week. Chesapeake and Ohio is being accumulated. Money is inclined to work easier and, notwithstanding expansion of loans, likely to be shown in to-morrow's bank statement, there is a great deal of lendable money in sight to-day, which indicates a decided improvement in money conditions. Standard Oil interests are thought to have fallen into line on the bull side. National City Bank is a large lender. Railroad earnings and the congestion of freight all over the country, with talks of deals and increase in rates of dividends, together with Keene and the larger banking interests working on the bull side are the dominating factors. The close was generally firm, although under best. The market was wide with good public interest. Possible to sell stock without difficulty. Traders disposed to take profits, but beyond that no pressure. Chicago Terminal issues weak and lower. Very good selling of both bonds and stocks.—(S. C. Henning.

The market continued active to-day. Recessions in prices were generally small and easily explained by profit-taking. Realizing sales were pronounced in Union Pacific, St. Paul and Baltimore and Ohio. On the other hand, improvements were fairly well established in Louisville and Nashville, Chesapeake and Ohio, Great Northern and Pennsylvania. The dealings in Atchisons have been the principal feature of the whole market, and the leadership of this movement in this stock was generally credited to a prominent director just returned from Europe. The short interest helped the advance. New York Central rose conspicuously under large transactions, and a general demand for high-priced issues like Illinois Central and Pennsylvania was noticeable. The shares of coal-carrying roads were firm. The Steel stocks acted strong, although not much advance was established. Amalgamated Copper fluctuated within narrow limits. Sugar presented similar features, and People's Gas continued to show nervousness among shorts. The close was rather heavy.—(Hunt & Hutchings.

New York.—London reversed its position on American rails and sent lower quotations and sold about thirty thousand shares of various stocks and bought, comparatively speaking, nothing. Notwithstanding this late cables reported American railway shares on the curb strong at top prices. Dealings here in Atchison, for both issues of the stock, were heavy, and this was the feature of the market. The volume of trading fell off considerably to-day to less than one-half of yesterday, but the traders were bullish and bought the general list on every slight recession. Chesapeake and Ohio showed considerable strength at the opening and recovered its dividend of 1 per cent. The buying is supposed to emanate from Pennsylvania Railroad interests; and there were also reports of combinations of soft coal interests, and it was said that a bull pool has been operating in the stock for the last few days. St. Paul and Union Pacific ruled strong. Among the industrials United States Steel issues were strong and held the advance all day. Considerable interest was manifested regarding the character of to-morrow's bank statement, particularly so because there was one day less of business this week owing to the election holiday. Forecasts of the statement were somewhat conflicting, but indications are that the loss in cash will not be large. An element of uncertainty prevails, however, in regard to the showing of bank loans. The general impression is that the marked increase in activity in the stock market this week will cause quite an expansion of loans; this held the trading somewhat in check. We believe, though, that better prices will rule next week. The market closed firm and what losses there were from yesterday's closing were only fractional.—(W. L. Lyons & Co.

The following is a market letter to S. C. Henning: "That interest in the stock market is broadening has been clearly shown during the last few days by the greater diversity in the dealings. The practically admitted fact that the Northern Pacific controversy is settled has encouraged various pools to make their stocks active and has resulted in a marked increase in outside business. London was a seller of international stocks, their sales being estimated at about 30,000 shares, making total sales for the last two days of about 70,000 shares. The market became irregular during the afternoon, but as a rule prices closed somewhat higher than last night. As far as preliminary estimates go the cash holdings of the banks have not changed during the current week."

"The public is beginning to appreciate what is in store when the Northern Pacific matter is settled. * * Railroad stocks are high compared with prices of two years, but they will look low before the new year is far advanced. Stocks are cheap."—(Ennis & Stoddard.

Missouri Pacific contrived to share in the rally. There is a theory that Gould and Harriman fortunes somehow have a great deal in common, and presumably it was upon some such reasoning that Mop was advanced in sympathy with Union Pacific. There also has been talk of renewed pool operations. The earnings reported yesterday were used to refute pessimistic conjectures as to future reflections of the crop shortage.—(New York Commercial.

Two sales of Nashville and Chattanooga stock of 100 shares each were made in the Stock Exchange to-day. One lot brought 78 and another lot brought 79. This stock has been inactive since the Louisville and Nashville Company, which owns control of the Nashville and Chattanooga road, offered the minority shareholders one share of Louisville and Nashville for every two shares of Nashville and Chattanooga. The minority holders did not all embrace this offer. For nearly two years there was no market sale of Nashville and Chattanooga stock, until about two weeks ago 100 shares were sold at 75½, representing an advance of 30 over the preceding quotation. These scattering lots are believed to have been bought by the controlling interest in the Louisville and Nashville road.—(New York Commercial Advertiser.

The points given Monday to buy Southern Railway stocks proved good. The preferred was especially strong, advancing about 2 points, with rumors of an increase in the rate of dividend to 5 per cent. The general impression was that the rise was a Morgan move, but confirmation on this point was lacking. There were more indications that the buying came from a speculative interest which has been making a turn in various stocks. It is generally taken for granted that Southern Railway will advance its dividend rate on the preferred stock in April next to the full 5 per cent. basis, and it is claimed the stock should sell near par on this prospect. Last year the company earned the full 5 per cent. on the preferred, with a surplus of about ½ of 1 per cent. on the common, and in the first quarter of the current fiscal year there has been a small gain in net earnings, so that there is little doubt of the road's ability to earn the full 5 per cent. this year. While it is not claimed that the stock is worth as much as Atchison preferred, it is thought that it may sell as high by reason of the fact that Southern Railway stocks are speculative favorites at all times and usually sell relatively higher than other stocks. Another factor which tended to strengthen these stocks was the approval by the people of an extension of the Cincinnati Southern lease to Southern Railway. The vote in Cincinnati in favor of a renewal of the lease of Cincinnati Southern had a good effect on Southern Railway. The new lease will be, in some respects, more favorable to the city than the old one, but the provision for the expenditure by the municipality of $2,500,000 for new terminals will tend to largely increase business, as well as contributing ease in handling. The life of the new lease is sixty years. The uncertainty in regard to this matter, it is said, has hitherto militated against plans for increasing Southern Railway's business with Cincinnati, and these may now be carried out.—(Wall Street Journal.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

New York Stock Exchange.

New York, Nov. 8.—Money on call firm at 3¾@4 per cent.; last loan at 4; prime mercantile paper 4½@5. Sterling exchange strong, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.87 for demand and at $4.83⅝@4.83¾ for 60 days; posted rates $4.84½@4.85 and $4.87½@4.88; commercial bills $4.82@4.83½. Bar silver 57⅝c. Mexican dollars 46¼c. Government bonds steady. State bonds inactive. Railroad bonds irregular.

There was a falling off in the volume of transactions in to-day's stock market, but the speculation continued notably active. There were conspicuous points of strength throughout, but the general list moved irregularly and a number of prominent stocks were at different times above and below last night's level. Realizing was very large in stocks which have been strongest recently, following the market for some time past, notable in St. Paul. An effort was made at one time to renew the upward movement with a resulting advance in St. Paul of 1⅝ over last night's level, but the advance met fresh realizing and was wiped out. Union Pacific's movement was similar. New York Central made another notable show of strength at an extreme advance of 3¾. Rumors continue current of the early adoption of a plan for a proprietary company to hold the stocks of the Vanderbilt railroads. Pennsylvania and its subsidiary stocks formed another center of strength, except Baltimore and Ohio, which was reactionary on realizing, and the Wheeling and Lake Erie stocks moved in sympathy. The Southwestern stocks were generally strong to the accompaniment of reports of large earnings and pending increases in disbursements. An active demand continued for Louisville and Nashville and for Atchisons, notably preferred, which touched 102¾. The buying of this stock and of Louisville was based on the general argument that they were selling low compared with other stocks paying the same dividend. The settlement of the Northwestern railroads continue to receive much attention, to-day's version pointing to a granting to Union Pacific of proportionate control of the Burlington system by concessions of direct holdings in that company. The possibility of releasing locked up capital under this plan made it particularly attractive to the speculative imagination. The preliminary figures of cash movements for the past week indicate a small net change in bank reserves, although the various currents contributing to that result have been unusually complex and numerous. The export of $3,750,000 of gold has been largely offset by the Subtreasury payment on account of Australian and Klondike gold, while the institution's collections of Government revenues in excess of expenditures has been met by the redemption of Government bonds. The Subtreasury paid to-day on that account $1,171,540 in par value for Government bonds, which did not figure in the estimates of the cash movement. The banks have lost a small amount on balance on the interior movement by export. The reported settlement of the Franco-Turkish difficulty was slightly reflected here, except as it affected the feeling of hopelessness over the relaxation of the future foreign demand for gold. The market closed irregular at reactions from the best, caused by heavy realizing during the last hour.

There were sharp upward movements in Central of Georgia bonds and in Texas seconds. The bond market generally was active and irregular. Total sales, par value, $5,310,000. U. S. bonds were all unchanged on last call.

A London cablegram says: "The stock market was brisker and more cheerful to-day, the rumor that Turkey had yielded to France exerting a favorable impression. American shares were neglected till the close, London showing caution and taking profits before to-morrow's holiday, while New York showed apathy; but on the curb after the close of business on the floor of the exchange there was a sudden flare-up to the amazement of everybody. The market was furiously active, New York buying everything, particularly Atchison, Norfolk and Western and Chesapeake and Ohio. There was no explanation of this burst of activity and London was much puzzled. Gold to the amount of £50,000 has gone out to the Cape. Paris exchange is 25.12; Berlin 20.41¾."

Foreign Financial.

London, Nov. 8.—Though the pressure was relaxed to-day the demand for money was good, supplies were reduced and the price was nominally easier. Discounts were quiet and had an easier tendency. Business on the Stock Exchange was rather more cheerful, but there was little interest in the transactions apart from the mines carry-over. The rally in consols was a favorable factor and was attributed to investment buying. Home rails improved, with a fresh demand for Northwestern and Great Western. Americans opened generally firm, somewhat irregular and mostly above parity. Then they eased on profit-taking. Atchisons and New York Central were the best. Union Pacifics were the weakest. Later prices improved and closed firm. Grand Trunks hardened, with seconds the feature. Closing quotations: Consols for money 91 11-16; do for the account 91 13-16; Anaconda 6⅞; Atchison 84⅝; do preferred 101½; Baltimore and Ohio 111¼; Canadian Pacific 115½; Chesapeake and Ohio 50; Chicago Great Western 25¼; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul 177; Denver and Rio Grande 47¼; do preferred 96; Erie 43; do first preferred 72½; do second preferred 57½; Illinois Central 144; Louisville and Nashville 108⅝; Missouri, Kansas and Texas 27½; do preferred 52½; New York Central 165½; Norfolk and Western 58⅝; do preferred 92½; Northern Pacific preferred 107; Ontario and Western 35¾; Pennsylvania 76¼; Reading 23¼; do first preferred 39½; do second preferred 27¼; Southern Railway 35¼; do preferred 93; Southern Pacific 63½; Union Pacific 106¼; do preferred 91½; United States Steel 44⅝; do preferred 94⅝; Wabash 21½; do preferred 39¼; Spanish fours 69⅞; Rands 9¾; De Beers 38¾. Bar silver firmer at 26 7-16d per ounce. Money 2¼@2¾ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 3¼@3⅜ per cent.; do three months' bills 3⅜@3½ per cent. Bar gold 77s 11d. American eagles 76s 6d. Gold amounting to £50,000 was withdrawn from the Bank of England to-day for shipment to South Africa. Gold premium at Buenos Ayres 132.40.

Paris, Nov. 8.—On the Bourse to-day business opened hesitating and prices had a heavy tendency, but they soon improved on the report that the Franco-Turkish dispute was approaching a settlement. Turks were in active demand. Rentes at first weakened on the decision of the Budget Committee concerning the new loan, but afterward improved. Later there was general inactivity. During the last hour industrials weakened. Brazilians rose sharply on the better price of coffee. Rio Tintos were inanimate and closed weak. De Beers closed firmer. The private rate of discount is unchanged at 2 15-16 per cent. Three per cent. rentes 100f 75c for the account. Exchange on London 25f 12c for checks. Spanish 4s 70.10.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—Business opened hesitating on the Boerse to-day, in view of the Franco-Turkish incident, but later prices became firmer, owing to the reported advance in English consols, and particularly on the receipt of a dispatch from Paris to the effect that the Sultan of Turkey had yielded to France on all points and that the French fleet off the Island of Mitylene would be recalled. Exchange on London 20 marks 41½ pfgs. for checks. Discount rates: Short bills 3 per cent.; three-months' bills 2¾ per cent.

LEAF TOBACCO.

Friday Evening, Nov. 8.—Sales were on too small a scale to-day to constitute a market. Only 17 hogsheads of Burley were offered, and these showed no change. Old dark leaf was stronger, but new dark was easy. The following table of sales of the new crop is submitted by R. B. Green, secretary of the Leaf Exchange:

Sales of the 1901 crop for the week ending November 9, 1901:

Burley—6 hhds at $3.35, $3.55, $4.35, $5.05 and $7.10.

Dark—3 hhds at $3.80 and $4; 9 at $5 to 5.95; 16 at $6.30 to $6.90; 7 at $7.10 to $7.50. Total 34 hhds. Average $6.30.

82 hhds of Burley at an average of $5.44.

230 hhds of dark at an average of $5.03.

Sales for the week amount to 585 hhds. The election and the low prices have practically put an end to activity in the trade at present. Receipts were only 265 hhds, as the weather does not admit of shipments.

The following are the revised quotations as prepared by the Quotations Committee of the Leaf Tobacco Exchange for this week:

Clarksville Market.

M. H. Clark & Bro. write as follows concerning the Clarksville tobacco market under date of November 7, 1901:

"Our receipts in November were 381 hhds; receipts for tobacco year 23,048; sales in October 784; sales for tobacco year 19,753; shipments in October 1,272; shipments for tobacco year 23,099; total stock November 1 1,024. Buyers' stocks were 811 hhds and sellers' stocks 223. Our receipts this week were 36 hhds; offerings on the breaks 89; sales 70. The quality ran low in grade. The market opened easier, but stiffened up and closed at last week's prices. Shipments go out steadily and warehouses are nearly empty. We have a cool, dry spell of weather, checking operations in the loose tobacco market. There has been an easier feeling since the first dash for the fine crops. Bremen sorts seem not abundant in the crop and there is a general lack of germ in the leaf. We quote:

"Low lugs $4@4.25; common lugs $4.50@4.75; medium lugs $4.75@5; good lugs $5@5.50; low leaf $5.25@5.75; common leaf $6@7; medium leaf $7.50@8.50; good leaf $9@10.50; fine leaf and selections, none offered."

Cincinnati Market.

Cincinnati, Nov. 8.—(Special.)—This being election week shippers did not offer freely on the breaks. In all 465 hhds were offered. Despite the light offerings there was a fair market ruling, with considerable animation in the bidding for colory types and short red tips. Fancy leaf was entirely absent from the market, common and low grades and medium leaf embracing the bulk of sales. While at times the market was inactive and dull, on the whole it showed an improvement over last week. Brokers are well supplied with orders, especially for colory sorts, and holders may offer freely next week. The 465 hhds offered averaged $8.10, against $8.52 for 201 hhds the corresponding week last year. Rejections this week were 114 hhds; actual sales 351; receipts 442. Prices on the total offerings ranged as follows: 11 scraps at $2 to 3.20; 63 at $4.10 to 5.95; 142 at $6 to 7.95; 150 at $8 to 9.95; 67 at $10 to 11.75; 31 at $12 to 14; 1 at $16.50.

COTTON MARKETS.

New York, Nov. 8.—The market for cotton futures opened steady with prices 2@6 points higher on a spurt of local and fair foreign buying started by unexpected strength in Liverpool and reports that trade conditions on the continent and at Manchester were improving rapidly. There was little public buying, however, and hedge selling by yesterday's buyers of spot cotton in the South soon filled up the initial demand. From this out the market was dull and easy, with prices off to 7.39c for January before mid-day. Free receipts at the ports and interior towns, generally favorable weather and a forecast for slightly higher temperatures in the belt for next few days, tended to discourage buying. On the decline prominent room bears sold freely for a break to below the bottom figures of yesterday. But early in the afternoon conservative operators quickly picked up moderate lines of the late months on the belief that the market was heavily oversold and that the long interest had been eliminated by the recent decline. Near the close Wall street and commission houses bid the market up easily and forced the shorts to beat a hasty retreat. Bears feared another sharp bulge in Liverpool to-morrow and were made additionally uneasy by predictions for a much smaller movement next week. Trading was comparatively small, taking the session as a whole, but reflected a healthier tone to business. The close was very steady with prices net 1@16 points higher.

Receipts at the ports to-day were 52,000 bales, against 60,827 (actual) last week and 48,896 (actual) last year; for the week 360,000 bales, against 414,930 (actual) last week and 296,316 (actual) last year; to-day's receipts at New Orleans 10,570 bales, against 12,108 last year, and at Houston 9,225, against 19,801 last year.

Spot cotton opened and closed quiet, with middling uplands quoted at 7 13-16c and do gulf at 8 1-16c; sales none.

The following is the range of futures on the New York Cotton Exchange:

New Orleans, Nov. 8.—A very fair inquiry for spot cotton was noted to-day. During the afternoon the market stiffened up a bit, in sympathy with the recovery in contract values, and buyers operated rather freely at board prices, the sales for the day marking a total of 6,850 bales of spots, including 250 bales sold on f. o. b. terms and 1,600 bales to arrive. Market firm; prices unchanged; ordinary 5 15-16c; good ordinary 6 5-16c; low middling 6¾c; middling 7¼c; good middling 7½c; middling fair 7¾c; receipts 12,120 bales; stock 211,250. Trading in contracts during the early hours was far from brisk to-day, but there was enough doing to keep ring men on the qui vive for openings, and many an honest penny was turned—both ways—by the ubiquitous scalpers. The first call showed gains of 2 points on December and declines of 4@6 points on all other positions. After the first call there were occasional upward fluctuations of a point or two, but always followed by a reactive decline that sent the figures a peg lower. During the latter part of the day a somewhat better feeling prevailed and prices were worked up several points all along the line. The appearance of profit-takings on the short side, however, attached to the upward turn, since there was not a feature in evidence calculated to inspire the bulls to renewed effort. Toward the close the market was lacking in animation except at the final round up, and when the gong sounded the comparison with yesterday's figures showed a net gain of but a single point on each of the several months.

Liverpool, Nov. 8.—Spot cotton in fair demand; prices 1-16d lower; American middling fair 4 19-32d; good middling 4 13-32d; middling 4 5-16d; low middling 4 7-32d; good ordinary 4 3-32d; ordinary 3 23-32d. The sales of the day were 8,000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export and included 7,300 American; receipts 33,000 bales, including 31,800 American. Futures opened and closed quiet.

Memphis, Nov. 8.—Cotton steady; middling 7¼c; receipts 7,210 bales; shipments 4,185; sales 6,000; stock 101,761.

Galveston, Nov. 8.—Cotton steady; middling 7 7-16c; receipts 12,933 bales; stock 164,104.

St. Louis, Nov. 8.—Cotton quiet; middling 7¾c; sales 400 bales; receipts 6,540; stock 44,210.

Boston, Nov. 8.—Cotton steady; middling 7 13-16c; net receipts 43 bales; gross 2,570.

Hester's Cotton Statement.

New Orleans, Nov. 8.—Secretary Hester's weekly New Orleans Cotton Exchange statement, issued before the close of business to-day, shows an increase in the movement into sight compared with the seven days ending this date last year in round figures 83,000 bales, an increase over the same days year before last of 120,000 and a decrease under the same time in 1898 of 63,000.

For the eight days of November the totals show an increase over last year of 83,000 bales, an increase over the same period year before last of 139,000 and a decrease under 1898 of 118,000.

GENERAL MARKETS.

Chicago 'Change.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Liquidation for profits induced by early bearish conditions brought a lower tendency all around in grains to-day in spite of bullish reports toward the end of the session. December wheat closed a shade higher, December corn ⅛c lower and December oats ⅛@¼c down. Provisions closed unchanged to 2½c higher.

Profit-taking was popular early in the wheat pit as the result of disappointing cables. There were advices both at Liverpool and on the continent, but not enough to stimulate more buying here of yesterday's sort. On this influence December opened a shade higher to a shade lower at 72⅞@72¾c and sold rapidly down to 72½c. For a time the market took everything offered and then it was suddenly discovered that the pit was oversold. Bullish news began to arrive. There was a report of scanty rainfall for the late-sown crop, the flour situation was reported strong with prices up 10c. This brought a sudden bulge, frightening the shorts, and December reacted to 73¼@73⅜c. Prices West were still strong, but otherwise most outside markets were weaker. Professionals seemed to be controlling affairs, and near the end of the session when they were satisfied with profits December sagged off again and closed barely steady a shade higher at 72⅞c. Local receipts were 170 cars, 17 of contract grade. Minneapolis and Duluth reported 653 cars, making a total for the three points of 823 cars, against 871 last week and 551 last year. Primary receipts were 1,036,000 bushels, against 659,000 a year ago. Seaboard clearances in wheat and flour were 264,000 bushels. The seaboard reported 20 loads taken for export. Argentine shipments for the week were 172,000 bushels, against 136,000 last week.

Corn was somewhat irregular over a narrow range with a moderate downward tendency. In the main this pit followed wheat without developing anything of individual importance. December opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher and never rose above its higher opening price. Liquidations for profits by prominent longs brought easier prices, and though there were occasional rallies, December closed weak and ⅛c lower at 59⅝c. The cash demand was still good and receipts were still scanty, but the market could not stand the constant unloading. Receipts were 50 cars.

Oats held well considering the general liquidation. The commission house demand had eased off and prominent longs realized. December, which opened unchanged, fluctuated ½c and then closed easy ⅛@¼c lower at 38½@38⅝c. The cash situation was still good. Receipts were 145 cars.

Provisions were dull and steady. Prices were a shade easier at the start on lower prices for hogs, but some small buying orders by commission houses, supposedly for the foreign account, steadied the pit. January pork closed unchanged at $14.92½; January lard 2½c up at $8.55, and January ribs a shade lower at $7.67½@7.70.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow: Wheat 120 cars, corn 90; oats 190; hogs 20,000 head.

Boston Wool.

Boston, Nov. 8.—The Commercial Bulletin will say in to-morrow's report on the wool trade of the United States:

"The phenomenal activity of last week has not fully passed away. There is a good brisk demand still, and at prices from ½@1c higher than a fortnight ago. Ohio delaine has been sold at 28½c and year's growth Texas on a scoured basis of 50c. Michigan fine unwashed now commonds 53c clean and Ohio XX and above has sold at 27c. All these sales represent higher prices. A huge business has been done in odd lots of scoured wool. Some venerable 'stickers' three years old have gone at last. Eastern buyers are now in the West and endeavoring to reply. Large sales of fall Texas have been made in that State to Boston at 11@12c. In sharp distinction to improved business and higher prices behind the wall of the protective tariff comes the cabled report that a drop of 5 per cent. from the opening of the clip in Australia and a decline of from 1@3 farthings in South America. Luster wools can now be landed in Boston from Buenos Ayres at 8½c, a price considerably less than the duty. Never has these wools gone considerably and once before so low. The receipts of wool in Boston since January 1 have been 233,265,103 pounds, against 141,857,115 for the same period in 1900. The Boston shipments to date are 220,310,686 pounds, against sales of 128,777,500 for the same period of 1900. The stock on hand in Boston January 1, 1901, was 76,309,500 pounds; the total stock to-day is 89,275,917 pounds."

"A WONDERFUL STRUCTURE: THE MAN OF TO-DAY."

Third Lecture of the Lyceum Course To Be Given At Music Hall November 18.

Prof. Thomas H. Dinsmore, Jr., will deliver his noted lecture, "A Wonderful Structure (the Man of To-day)," before the Louisville Lyceum in Music Hall, November 18, at 8 o'clock p. m. The lecture will be the third of the Lyceum course and will be of a popular scientific nature. It was prepared very carefully and has made a great hit wherever delivered. It is illustrated and is full of wit and humor, as well as of scientific truth. The very highest encomiums have been passed upon it, as the following from the Richmond, Va., Times shows:

"The promoters and managers of the Richmond Lyceum course deserve the most sincere thanks of those who were fortunate enough to hear Dr. Thomas H. Dinsmore, Jr. The lecture was not only interesting and entertaining, but was instructive, and the members of the committee are to be thrice congratulated if the remaining lectures are to be half so valuable as was the one last night."

Only two lectures of the course have been given and there is still an opportunity for subscribers to get their tickets at nominal cost of Maj. John H. Leathers, the treasurer, at the Louisville National Banking Company. General admission tickets will be sold at the box office at fifty cents each. The lecture is one which students of seminaries and high schools could hear with great advantage, as well as their elders.

MR. HARLAN CANNOT FIND "WIRE" ORDINANCE.

City Attorney Stone Wants Council To Pass a Substitute Measure.

Samuel F. Harlan, Clerk of the Board of Councilmen, is unable to find the ordinance providing for the underground wire system. The ordinance cannot be found in the City Hall, although a diligent search has been made for it. City Attorney Stone has prepared a substitute ordinance, but it is contended that even if this were passed it would be void, as the original ordinance must be passed or none at all. The ordinance will come before the Council at its meeting to-night.

SORRY, NOW.

Mrs. Nicholas Wants Her Property Again.

SAYS FRAUD WAS USED.

CAVER GETS NO DAMAGES FOR LOSS OF EYE.

TWO VERDICTS IN ONE DAY.

Mrs. Emma Nicholas claims to have had the fee simple title to the property situated on the north side of Lytle street, fifty-eight and one-half feet east of a five-acre lot. There was a mortgage of $450, and it is said that Virginia Burch promised to pay off the indebtedness—taking a lease on the premises and allowing Mrs. Nicholas to reimburse her at the rate of $7 a month. It is charged that Mrs. Burch, by her agent, W. T. Burch, by fraud and misrepresentation, induced Mrs. Nicholas to give Mrs. Burch a fee simple deed to the property instead of a mere lease, and that Mrs. Burch is now threatening to evict Mrs. Nicholas. Suit was entered yesterday by Mrs. Nicholas to cancel the deed. Mrs. Burch is said to have paid only $100 on the property.

No Damage For Loss of Eye.

A verdict was rendered yesterday in the Common Pleas division in favor of Peter Bitzer in the suit of James Caver, colored, for $10,000 damages for the loss of an eye. Caver was a porter in Bitzer's grocery, and on December 25, 1899, Bitzer had a difficulty with a man in the store, and in self-defense, as he claimed, shot at his opponent. The shot, however, struck Caver in the eye. Caver was acting at the time as a peacemaker.

Two Verdicts In One Day.

Theodore Heller was given two verdicts yesterday for $100 each in the Common Pleas division against J. E. Head. One verdict was on a suit for $2,500 damages, charging that Head had, without reasonable cause and maliciously, sworn out a warrant charging Heller with disorderly conduct, of which Heller was acquitted. The second verdict was in a suit for the same amount of damages, charging that Head had maliciously assaulted Heller.

Three Convictions Yesterday.

The following convictions resulted in the Criminal division yesterday:

Ben Jones, stealing a bicycle, the property of L. R. Jordan. Sent to School of Reform.

James Middleton, stealing a bicycle, the property of Krieger Hemp. Two years in the penitentiary.

Joseph Studer, assaulting Dollie May. Fine of $100 and ten days for a capias.

Judge Buckley Made No Exceptions.

Sam Adams was on hand yesterday in the Police Court to prosecute his charge of assault against Lon Shelley, his fellow Republican, at Eighth and Jefferson streets, on election day. Adams' face was badly swollen. He testified that Shelley had knocked him down and kicked him. Judge Buckley discharged Shelley, saying that he had released every one else who had gotten in trouble on election day.

Court of Appeals Decisions.

Account Stated—Mistake of Law—Note Not on Footing of Bill of Exchange—Failure to Protest—Liability of Bank as Indorser.—Louisville Banking Company vs. Asher, Assignee.—(To be reported.) Filed October 29, 1901. Appeal from Jefferson Circuit Court, Law and Equity division. Opinion of the court by Judge Hobson, reversing.

First—Where one of two banks which were correspondents for each other sent to the other numerous statements of their account as it appeared on its books, and the statements were acknowledged to be correct, there was an account stated.

Second—Where an account stated by one bank against another embraced a charge of the amount of a note for which both parties knew a mistake of law erroneously supposed the debtor bank to be liable because it had failed to protect the note equity will grant relief as in the case of money paid under a mistake of law, the creditor bank not having altered its position after the debtor's acknowledgment of the correctness of the account.

Third—Under Kentucky Statutes, Sec. 483, promissory notes discounted by a bank in Kentucky were not placed on the footing of bills of exchange, and the indorser was not released by the failure to protect them.

Fourth—Where a bank failed to demand payment or to protest for nonpayment, a note sent to it for collection on which it was liable as indorser, and which had been placed on the footing of a bill of exchange, it became liable to the holder.

Fifth—In a settlement of accounts between the L. bank and the P. bank which had been correspondents for each other it was error to take as a basis the balance shown by the books of the P. bank as the L. bank had no notice of the account as it was kept on these books, and the entries were not shown to have been made at the time of the transactions, or in the regular course of business; but, as the account as kept on the books of the L. bank had been submitted at the end of every month to the P. bank and had been acknowledged by it to be correct, thus becoming an account stated, the balance as shown by that account should be taken as the basis of settlement subject to proper corrections.

Shackelford Miller, A. Barnett, Tyler Barnett for appellant; Burwell R. Marshall for appellee.

Witnesses—Transaction With Person Since Deceased—Vendor and Purchaser—Acceptance of Forged Note as Part Payment.—Justice vs. Phillips.—(Not to be reported.) Filed October 24, 1901. Appeal from Pike Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Chief Justice Paynter, reversing.

First—While defendant was not a competent witness for himself as to a transaction with a person since deceased, he was competent to contradict statements made by witnesses touching admissions claimed to have been made by him.

Second—Where a vendor accepted as part payment of the price a note purporting to have been executed to the purchaser by his mother, since deceased, and the note turned out to be a forgery, the vendor was entitled to recover the amount thereof from the purchaser and to a lien on the land therefor.

Bert Belcher, Jo. Mayre for appellant; J. M. York, W. S. Pryor for appellee.

Middleton, etc., vs. Mehler, etc.—(Not to be reported.) Filed October 29, 1901. Appeal from Jefferson Circuit Court, Chancery division. Opinion of the court by Judge DuRelle, affirming on authority of the case of Kice, etc., vs. Mehler, etc.

Lane & Harrison for appellant; Bodley, Baskin & Moraney for appellee.

Hanlon, etc., vs. Gosnell, etc.—(Not to be reported.) Filed October 29, 1901. Appeal from Jefferson Circuit Court, Law and Equity division. Opinion of the court by Judge DuRelle, affirming on authority of the case of Richardson vs. Mehler, 63 S. W., 857.

O. H. Harrison for appellant; F. W. Moraney for appellee.

Criminal Law — Continuance — Declarations as Evidence—Affidavit for Continuance Admitted as Deposition—Attempt to Discredit Affidavit—Killing by Officer in Making Arrest—Self-defense—Instructions to Jury.—Lindle, etc., vs. Commonwealth. —(To be reported.) Filed October 29, 1901. Appeal from Hopkins Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Burnam, reversing; Judge Guffy dissenting and Chief Justice Paynter dissenting from certain parts of the opinion.

First—Defendants were entitled to a continuance where they were taken by surprise by the action of the prosecution in summoning a large number of witnesses whose names did not appear at the foot of the indictment, as substantially all the witnesses for the prosecution belonged to a miners' union to which deceased belonged, and all had taken part in the acts and demonstrations of that order which culminated in the killing, and defendants if given time, would have been able to ascertain the character and antecedents of these witnesses, many of whom were strangers in the community.

Second—It was not error to refuse to permit defendants to file a supplemental affidavit for a continuance where no sufficient reason was given why the facts contained therein were not set out in the original affidavit, and besides the testimony of the witness on account of whose absence defendants by that affidavit sought a continuance would have been cumulative merely.

Third—As defendants at the time of the killing were attempting as a Deputy Sheriff and his posse to arrest deceased and other leaders of a marching body of men whose purpose was supposed to be to induce or compel the miners at work in certain coal mines to quit their work, it was competent for the prosecution to prove that certain persons appointed Deputy Sheriffs, including one of the defendants, had prior to their appointment been employed as guards by certain coal companies.

Fourth—Declarations of various members of the miners' union as to the plans and purposes of the order made prior to the killing, and declarations made by them to nonunion miners that if they did not cease to work peaceably they would be forced to do so, were admissible for defendants.

Fifth—Defendants should have been permitted to prove a contract between the union miners and the operators in neighboring counties which furnished a motive on the part of the union miners for closing the mines in the county where the killing occurred.

Sixth—It was competent for defendants to prove that certain leaders of the order were armed when coming from the scene of the conflict.

Seventh—Defendants having been refused a continuance on condition that the statements of the affidavit for a continuance as to the testimony of certain absent witnesses should be read as their depositions, which was done, it was error to permit the Commonwealth's Attorney, at the close of all of defendant's testimony, to recall defendants and ask them if they did not in their affidavit state that certain other witnesses would prove certain facts, reading aloud from the affidavit to show what those facts were, and then ask them if those witnesses, who had not been introduced, were not present, the manifest purpose being to discredit the parts of the affidavit which had been read as the depositions of absent witnesses.

Eighth—It was error to permit the prosecuting attorney to state to the jury the motives which prompted him to consent to the reading of the affidavit as the testimony of absent witnesses.

Ninth—Questions as to the relative rights of the union miners to assemble and march in a peaceable manner, and of the right of the operators of the mines to protect their property from violence and invasion should not have been submitted to the jury.

Tenth—It was error to give an instruction which ignored the theory of the defense that defendants were acting as officers in the discharge of what they conceived to be their official duty.

Eleventh—If an officer in making an arrest for a felony is forcibly resisted he is not limited to such force as is necessary to protect himself from death or great bodily harm, but may stand his ground and use such force as is necessary, or apparently necessary, to overcome the resistance offered, even to the extent of taking life.

Twelfth—It was error to instruct the jury that they must believe from the evidence that the union miners had banded themselves together and gone forth for the purpose of alarming, intimidating and disturbing others, or for the purpose of injuring or destroying property, before it was lawful for defendants to arrest or disperse them, as the question was not what they might believe the purpose of the miners to have been, but what the defendants as officers believed and had reasonable grounds to believe their purpose to be at the time of the attempted arrest.

Thirteenth—If the Deputy Sheriff, in good faith, believed and had reasonable grounds to believe, that deceased and his companions had banded themselves together and gone forth armed for the purpose of alarming, intimidating or injuring any person, he and his posse had the right without a warrant to arrest them and to use such force as was reasonably necessary to effect that purpose, and if deceased and those with him resisted arrest it was lawful for defendants to shoot them if necessary to make the arrest; and it was error in instructing the jury to make the right of defendants under the circumstances to use such force as reasonably appeared to be necessary to make the arrest depend upon the fact that deceased, or his companions had first assaulted them, as it was only in the event that defendants did not in good faith believe that deceased and his companions had gone forth armed for the purpose of intimidating or injuring some person or persons that they were placed in the position of private persons as to the right of self-defense.

REPUBLICANS NOT REPRESENTED AT THE OFFICIAL COUNT

Commissioners Believe They Will Finish Canvass To-night—Result Will Be Known Monday or Tuesday.

The official count of the votes cast in Tuesday's election was begun by the County Board of Election Commissioners yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. The work is going on in the basement of the Courthouse. Neither party is represented by counsel and no one was present yesterday except the tabulators and the commissioners. Practically no interest is being taken in the canvass on account of the overwhelming Democratic majority.

Alonzo Walker is the official stenographer. The tabulators are Charles Meriwether, F. F. Lea and Cal Kremer. The callers are James K. Shrader, Robert Lee Page, Robert Smith and Mason Barret.

The Commissioners, Messrs. Henry A. Bell, Harry M. Brennan and D. W. Fairleigh, believe that they can finish the canvass by to-night. If the count is completed then the official result will be announced Monday or Tuesday.

The fact that the Republicans are not represented is an indication that none of the defeated candidates has any idea of contesting the election of the Democrats.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The regular gymnasium classes are being better attended than at any previous season. Beginning with next month special classes in wrestling, fencing, tumbling, etc., will be organized. The physical work of the association has reached a high grade. The gymnasium is one of the most popular features of the association building.

The Bible classes of the association are all well under way and everything points to a most successful year's work in this line. Classes in various lines of study have been organized, and all who desire to obtain a better knowledge of the Bible will do well to enter one of these classes. Nonmembers as well as members are allowed to enter all the Bible classes.

Robert J. Burdette, the famous humorist, who is also a preacher of the gospel, will give a special talk to men at Music Hall to-morrow at 3 p. m. All who have ever heard Mr. Burdette will want to hear him again, and it is fully expected that the seating capacity of Music Hall will be taxed to its utmost. Admission to the service will be by ticket only, but tickets can be obtained without cost by application at the association building. Special music will also be provided to add to the interest of the service.

The Y. M. C. A. football team is one of the best teams in the State at the present time. Although the team was organized late in the season, it has practiced hard and is now playing high-class football. There are a great many football enthusiasts among the association membership that follow the games played by the team from week to week with much interest. This interest will undoubtedly increase until the climax is reached at the Thanksgiving game with Central University. The policy of the association team to play clean football at all times is highly commended by all lovers of this popular sport.

The association congress is one of the most successful organizations ever started within the association, and the limit of membership has been nearly reached. So great has the interest in this work become that in place of meeting only once in two weeks, as was first planned, the congress is now meeting every Friday night. Interesting debates on the popular questions of the day are in order at each meeting, and the rule of the congress is that every man shall take part. A joint debate with another association is now being planned to still further stimulate the important work of this organization. A very few more members can be accommodated if application is made at once.

Burdette To Lecture To-night.

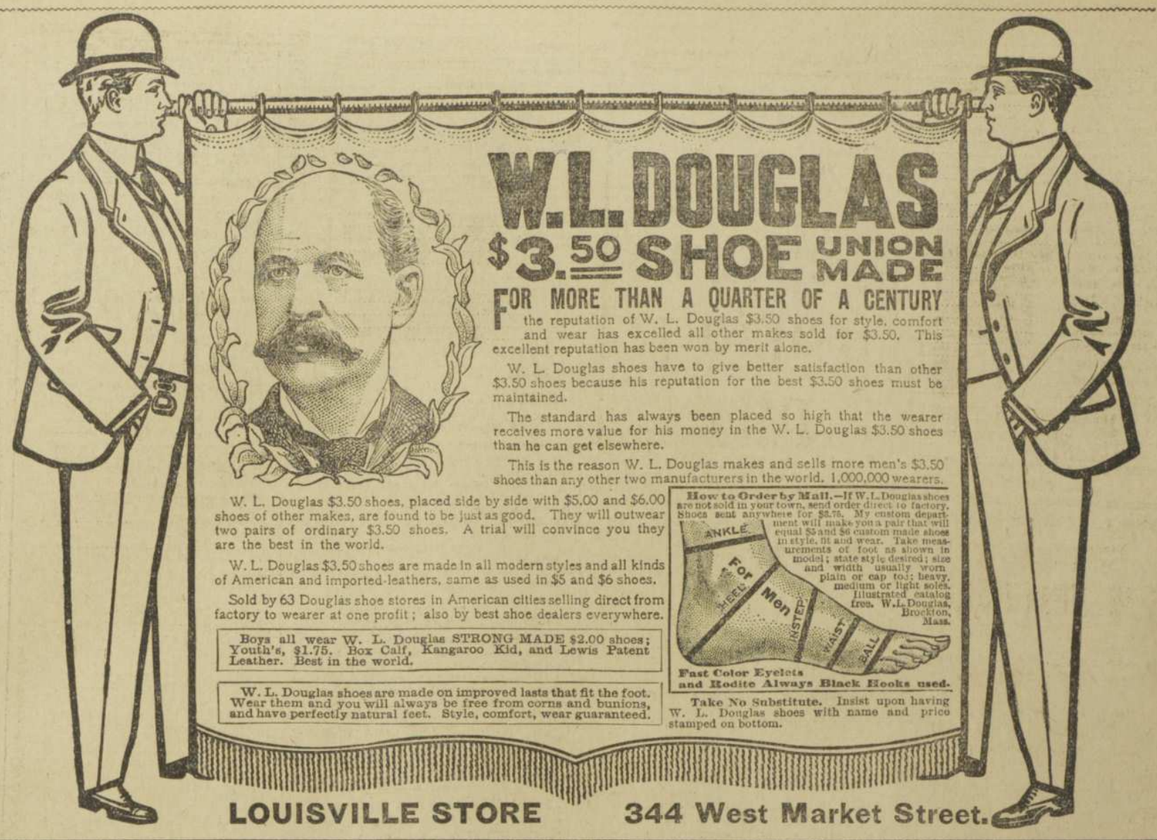

Robert J. Burdette, the famous humorist, will deliver his lecture, "Rainbow Chasers," to-night at 8 o'clock at the Scottish Rite Cathedral for the benefit of the memorial fund to the women of the South in the raising of which the John A. Broadus Camp, United Sons of Confederate Veterans, is taking an active part.

The camp at the reunion in Memphis pledged itself to do all in its power toward securing the fund, and the lecture to-night is in pursuance of this purpose.

Mr. Lyons' Health Improved.

PIANOS.

The Public is becoming better informed every day concerning TRUE PIANO VALUES.

Experience teaches that it is an utter impossibility to save money by buying inferior and unreliable pianos, no matter what advertising is done to push them or what juggling is done with the price. A piano, to have any value, must, first of all, be absolutely reliable and trustworthy; the next consideration is the integrity of the firm that sells it—is the guarantee a guarantee—and is the price the lowest for which that particular piano sells? A piano bought at Smith & Nixon Co.'s is fully guaranteed, and the guarantee is as good as a bond, and as lasting. We are sole representatives for the following pianos, renowned throughout the country as being absolutely reliable, trustworthy and high-grade instruments. A thorough inspection solicited:
